Crash victim held by police

EXCLUSIVE

By Matt Ford

A man wanted by police has been held in the wake of a spectacular car crash in central Benidorm.

The shocking incident was witnessed by Euro Weekly News reader Robert Ribbon, who was sitting in his car on Avenida Rincon de Loix.

"A 4x4 collided with a van on the rear corner, hit a motorbike and rider, and then smashed into a number of motorbikes which were parked up.

"It continued for around another 100 yards and hit a tree on the left hand side before

No Brexit disruption

Spanish minister interviewed by BBC

SPAIN'S foreign minister, Alfonso Dastis, has said British expats will be allowed to continue living in Spain even if Britain doesn't strike a Brexit deal with the European Union.

The senior government minister speaking on BBC One's Andrew Marr Show, said, "I do hope that there will be a deal.

"If there is no deal we will make sure that the lives of ordinary people who are in Spain, the UK people, is not disrupted.

"As you know, the relationship between the UK and Spain is a very close one in terms of economic relations and also social exchanges.

"Over 17 million Brits come to Spain every year and many of them live here or retire here and we want to keep it that way as much as possible."

Spain is host to the largest number of British citizens living in the EU (308,805) and just over a third are aged 65 and over, according to the Office for National Statistics.

Prime Minister Theresa May is continuing to negotiate withdrawal issues with the EU, including a financial settlement, expat's rights and Irish border issues.

BIG WORDS: Foreign Minister Alfonso Dastis on the Andrew Marr Show.

Spains Foreign Minister also responded to questions on Catalan independence saying, "This is a matter to be decided by all of the Spanish people," before denying that the government's move to strip autonomy from the region represents a coup.

"If anyone has attempted a coup, it is the Catalan regional government," he added. Meanwhile Donald Tusk, the president of the European Council, suggested that Britain could still choose to reverse Brexit. Tusk said that Britain's negotiations with the EU could finish with "no Brexit," if the UK government wanted.

"It is in fact up to London how this will end," he announced. "With a good deal, no deal or no Brexit."

A statement from the company said, "Following a review of our services, we will cease operating flights from Birmingham to Spain with the last services departing on Saturday, October 28.

SPANISH FACTS OF LIFE...34

Halloween has crept into the Spanish psyche in recent years, and is now the spooky event of the year

COUCH CRITIC A REVIEW OF THE WEEK'S TV THROUGH THE EYES OF A READER

Ravers raving

POLICE cut short an illegal three-day rave near Montnegre de Dalt near Jijona the morning after it started, when revellers were found to be carrying drugs including cocaine, speed and marihuana. Investigators learned of the event after a resident complained that a vehicle was blocking a rural road.

Rugby first

VILLAJOYOSA'S rugby ground will host a Test Match between Spain's national team and Brazil on November 25. This will be the first time that the Spanish side has played in La Vila and only the second time that it has visited Alicante Province.

All dried up

WILD mushrooms are disappearing from Alicante Province owing to several years of drought and repeated bouts of hot, dry Poniente wind. Recent rains should bring a crop within a month but only if night time temperatures drop and, preferably, there is more rain.

No support

VILLAJOYOSA Town Hall will not support the Tourist Tax currently being considered by the regional government. The Partido Popular's motion rejecting the tax was approved with the backing of Gent per La Vila while the PSOE and Ciudadanos abstained and Compromis and EU opposed it.

On the doorstep

THE regional government's Education department authorised the Adult Learning Centre in Callosa both to teach and also evaluate knowledge of Valenciano at Level A. Students will no longer need to go to the nearest large town to take the exam, said Edu-

LIKE other religious holidays including Christmas and Easter, Halloween has become more commercialised in Spain over the years and has moved away from its religious origins.

While 20 years ago trick-or-treaters were a rare occurrence, stores these days are packed with themed sweets and creepy costumes from September onwards.

Another reason Halloween has become more popular is that the next day, typically known as All Saints' Day, is a national holiday. Children and adults now take advantage of partying the night away in spooky costumes without worrying about going to work or school the next morning.

Many Spanish cities still hold their own unique celebrations around this time, however, which keep the holiday separate from the profit-oriented notion of Halloween made popular by the US.

One of the best places to visit at this time of the year is Cadiz. Although not actually linked to Halloween, on October 31 they celebrate the 'Fiesta de Tosantos'. Locals create over-the-top market stall displays depicting all the latest political and social scandals and hold concerts and street performances across the city.

A more sinister event is celebrated in the small Catalan village of Sant Feliu Sasserra. During the two-day 'Witch Festival,' residents pay tribute to the 23 women accused of witchcraft during the Spanish Inquisition and sentenced to death.

stalls, selling chestnuts, sweet wine and traditional Catalan 'panellet' cakes. In Castile and León, people commemorate the holiday by baking traditional pastries called 'Huesos de Santo' which they bring to the graves of loved ones.

Feelin' spooky

These days, Halloween is now closely associated with the Mexican holiday 'Dia de los Muertos' (Day of the Dead) on November 1. While Spain has traditionally celebrated 'Dia de los Santos' (All Saints' Day) on this day, the increased popularity of the Mexican festival means that people are beginning to combine traditions from the two.

It is becoming more common to see people perform traditional 'Day of the Dead' rituals such as decorating graves with sugar skulls and gifts.

A SPANISH man of 47 was detained in Hondon de las Nieves on drugs charges and fraudulent use of electricity.

The Guardia Civil also impounded 308 marihuana plants in what they said was a "sophisticated and original" plantation.

Officers from Aspe on patrol in the area suspected that someone was cultivating marihuana in the Hondon de Las Nieves area owing to the smell coming from an apparently abandoned house.

The ground floor was completely boardedup apart from a door and a window but although the building seemed to be deserted the Guardia Civil officers noticed cables connected illegally to a nearby electricity tower.

This, together with the smell, convinced them that marihuana was growing inside and they staked out the house for some time

When they finally entered, they were confronted with a small eight-square metre room but a search revealed a concealed door inside a wardrobe that led to three rooms filled with marihuana plants.

The house's occupant was arrested but later released with charges after questioning.

NEW STYLE: How the new terraces will look.

Line up for seafront terraces

By Linda Hall

DENIA seafront is to be cleared of cumbersome additions to bar and restaurant terraces to leave more space for pedestrians.

This will be dealt with at the next plenary meeting with modifications to the by-laws that control occupation of the public right-of-way.

The changes will apply to the terraces of restaurants on Raset, Bellavista, Les Drassanes and the Cervantes Esplanade, said Territory councillor Maria Josep Ripoll.

Bringing uniformity and a modern image to the area will make it attractive and more in harmony with the adjoining Fishing Quarter, she added. Business owners have until March 1 to adapt to the new style. The modified by-laws will be very precise with clear instructions.

Only beach umbrellas will be allowed on the Cervantes Esplanade although elsewhere owners can install pergolas, which should be white. Terraces can be enclosed by planters, which should be 80 centimetres high, with glass added to form a windbreak.

"The changes will not significantly alter the number of square metres that the terraces occupy but they will tidy them up," said Denia's Public Safety councillor Javier Scotto.

Time for a trim

PALM PRUNING: An Elche palmero swings into action.

By Linda Hall

ALBIR and Alfaz's 600 palm trees are being trimmed or lopped, according to size.

The annual operation is coordinated by the Environment and Technical Services departments and includes fumigation. The pruning is carried out by experienced palmeros from Elche but not only for aesthetic reasons, Technical Services councillor Oscar Perez said.

"This also reduces the risk of dry fronds or top-heavy crowns falling to the ground and endangering passers-by." Pruning also prevented the palms from obscuring streetlights or hindering passing coaches and buses, Perez explained.

Dates were another problem at this time of the year as many trees are heavy with this year's crop which, if uncollected, drop from the palms and make pavements slippery, he said

This annual attention to the trees also enables the town hall to inventory the palms on municipal property while revealing if they are affected by plagues of insects including the red weevils which harmed the region's trees five years ago. Setting the record straight

EVERY newspaper article has a backstory and a recent Euro Weekly News front page was no exception.

It referred to a young Briton detained recently in Alfaz in connection with several burglaries.

According to our sources, the 18-year-old had neither work nor a permanent address. A relative contacted the EWN offices to explain that this was not true and that he did have a home.

Neither did our article make clear that the boy had not escaped back to the UK, but left the country legally.

The relative admitted that the youth was arrested in the past but released after seven hours. Without wanting to make excuses this person also felt that the boy had been failed by the Spanish education, police and legal systems.

He had even gone to the Guardia Civil on several occasions with his lawyer, asking if they were looking for him only to be reassured that there was no problem when obviously there was.

A court case now awaits him but perhaps much of this could have been avoided if the police and Guardia Civil had taken action earlier, the relative pointed out.

OUR VIEW

Results of the poll in Italy

COINCIDENCE or not, referendums have been held in two formerly secessionist parts of Italy calling for greater autonomy from the Italian state.

Lombardy with Milan as its main city and Veneto with Venice as its most famous icon both saw votes exceeding 90 per cent calling for a larger percentage of tax payments to remain in the regions rather than see it be sent to Rome.

The turnouts were in excess of 60 per cent in each case and although the results are not binding on central government they are an example of how a legally undertaken referendum can alert government to the wishes of the people.

Interestingly, the two Italian regions are both in the north of the country and like Spain, there is some divide between the wishes, aspirations and expectations of those living in the north and the south.

Whilst it is possible that there will be similar votes in other parts of the European Union, it must be remembered that as recently as 1993, Czechoslovakia split amicably to form two independent republics which both went on to become members of the EU.

The Spanish situation is much more volatile but it is to be hoped that the breakdown in communications with Cataluña will be resolved using sense rather than violence from either side.

RINGING: Experts explain its importance.

By Linda Hall

PUPILS taking Forestry and Environmental studies at Callosa high school recently took part in tagging a small wryneck woodpecker.

These birds are a protected species and this was only the second time that a wryneck had been ringed in the River Algar area in the last 20 years.

The procedure was carried out at the River Algar ringing station which for the past 20 years has been maintained by SEO-Birdlife Alicante and the Xoriguer Ecology Group.

Toni Zaragozi and Toni Mulete showed the pupils. who were accompanied by two of their teachers, how a bird is scientifically ringed and explained to them why the procedure is so important. The group then went downriver to the mouth of the River Algar in Altea where they identified more than 15 types of river birds, a demonstration of the river's rich ecosystem.

A START has been made on improvements to the CV-767 that links the centre of Finestrat and La Cala.

During the first phase, the road will be widened so that there are two lanes in each direction between the Golf Bahia urbanisation and the 'Cabras' roundabout between Avenida America and Avenida Europa.

During the second phase, improvements will be made to the section of the CV-767 between Balcon de Finestrat urbanisation and the L'Alfarell residential complex. which will be levelled to improve visibility and traffic flow. This section of road will then be ready for future conversion from two to four lanes.

"We are satisfied to see work starting as this answers something we have been requesting for a long time," said Finestrat's mayor Juan Francisco Perez who expressed gratitude to the provincial council, the Diputacion, which will carrv out the work. The improvements. due to be finished by the end of the year, will not affect traffic although there will be a short diversion between Balcon de Finestrat and L'Alfarella. "This will make a difference of only two or three minutes to journeys," the mayor said.

This article is being re-run from previous editions as the message is fundamental to ensuring you are getting the right financial advice here in Spain.

Chorus has experienced an influx of people coming to see us to have their existing investments and pensions reviewed.

One such gentleman, we'll call him Mr Smith, had a feeling all was not right with his portfolio. Around 18 months ago, Mr Smith's advisor here in Spain had recommended he sell all the funds in his portfolio and buy a fantastic 'exclusive' fund his financial advisory's company now had access to. To gain access to such a special fund would cost Mr Smith 5%, but Mr Smith was assured it would be worth it.

18 months later and Mr Smith hadn't even covered that 5% entry charge, and despite strong markets his portfolio has gone down in value. So, what had happened?

One tool I use to research funds is a website called Trustnet. This is the World's largest independent analyst of funds, and always a good place to start if you want to do a little research yourself. This 'fantastic' fund Mr Smith had had his retirement pot put into was in fact number 295 out of 314 funds in that particular fund class... so in the worst 6% of funds available

Whilst the benchmark fund in that category had returned 45% over 5 years, this particular fund had only returned 14% over the same period. It also carried a risk factor around 20% higher than the average fund in this class, meaning the client had been taking 20% more risk to make less than a third of the returns. Even worse was that this fund was costing a whopping 2% a year, with the average fund cost in that category around 0.5%. I just couldn't understand why their financial advisor had recommended that fund!

"I just couldn't understand why their financial advisor had recommended that fund!"

By Sam Kelly, Managing Partner, Chorus Financial

After our meeting, I decided to call the Fund-house offering this fund to find out what possible reason Mr Smith's current advisor had for recommending such a fund. It turned out that all of the 5% entry fee had gone to Mr Smith's advisor, and that of the 2% annual fee, half was being paid as a hidden 'trail' to Mr Smith's advisor each year. This practice is illegal in the UK, but sadly still practiced by the majority of firms out here in Spain.

THE Puchades family. Benidorm developers since the 60's and 70's, announced details of their latest project.

Speaking in the town hall's Function Room, Virginia Puchades, representing her father Antonio Manuel Puchades, outlined plans for a cable car between Punta Llisera at the end of Benidorm's Levante beach and the top of Sierra Helada.

"The cliffs in this protected national park are the secondhighest in Europe and a cable car would eliminate the steep climb and make them accessible to all members of the public," Puchades said.

A walkway at the end of the Levante beach promenade would lead to Punta Llisera, integrating town and park, she said. From here the cable car would pass over the cliffs to Punta del Cavall, ending at a Ushaped glass-floored lookout with views over the bay.

Puchades also gave details of an Alicante University study on minimising the environmental impact and revealed that the family have contacted the Valencian Tourist Agency (AVT) with a rundown of their plans.

Bogus claims dry up

FALSE compensation claims from British tourists are "almost a thing of the past" according to local hoteliers' association, Hosbec.

Spurious complaints about meals and accommodation halted suddenly once hotels drew the attention of the British authorities to the problem, declared the association's president Toni Mayor in Benidorm recently.

"The British government took a firm line and also banned some of the intermediary companies," Mayor said

Recent prison terms in the UK for fraudulent tourist claims had also had a dissuasive effect, he added.

Can't put your finger on it

FOR the time being Benidorm's municipal employees will not use fingerprint scanners to clock in at work.

The system is already in use experimentally but the town hall was advised to delay its introduction to comply with official regulations. These require a month to elapse between putting the scheme into practice and its formal announcement in the Official Provincial Bulletin

The town hall has now decided to wait until the town fiestas next month before using the 25 scanners in municipal buildings to control employees' comings and goings.

Mussels could soon muscle in

THERE could soon be controls on boats entering the Pego-Oliva marsh on the Bullent and Racons rivers.

The national park's Board of Governors will limit the number of boats to prevent the entry of invasive species and, above all, zebra mussels.

Conservation Director Joseba Rodriguez said that boat owners were unaware that they could start a future plague as zebra mussels can attach themselves when they are too small to be noticed.

Any boat that has been on a river or reservoir where the mussels exist could bring them into the marsh, with "devastating" effect, Rodriguez said.

The Board of Governors is to create a Public Use Committee with members drawn from Pego Council, environmental experts and the tourist industry who will keep watch and control the pleasure craft.

For British expatriates, understanding domicile is an important element of estate planning. It is domicile, not residence, that determines your liability for UK inheritance tax. With rates at 40%, UK inheritance tax is one of the most expensive taxes facing British families – and living in Spain does not automatically protect you.

Determining domicile

Domicile is a complex and adhesive UK common law concept. The basic rule is that a person is domiciled in the country in which they have their permanent home – the country regarded as your 'homeland'. However, you can remain UKdomiciled even after living abroad for many years.

There are three types of domicile under English law: domicile of origin; domicile of dependence and domicile of choice.

While changing your domicile is possible, this needs to be a carefully considered and planned process as there are no set rules – much depends on your particular circumstances and intentions. If challenged by HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC), the onus is on you – or your family inheriting your assets – to prove you were non-UK domicile at the date of death.

Changing domicile

To acquire a domicile of choice you must be physically present and tax resident in your new country, intend to live there permanently, and not foresee a return to the UK. You need to sever as many ties as possible with the UK, as HMRC will look for any indication that you see Britain as your homeland and may return one day. Even stating in your will that you wish to be buried in the UK could work against you. Electing for UK succession law to apply over local 'forced heirship' rules could also be a tipping point in combination with other ties to the UK.

Do you know where you are domiciled? Are you sure?

Even if you adopt a domicile of choice outside the UK, it can take up to four years to shed a UK domicile for inheritance tax purposes. HMRC may treat you as UK-domiciled if you:

• were UK resident for 15* (previously 17) of the last 20 tax years (*due to change imminently and be backdated to April 2017)

• return to Britain for more than a year (if the UK is your domicile of origin and place of birth)

• move to a third country – until you can demonstrate you have established a new domicile of choice.

The effect of domicile on taxes

Anyone who is deemed UKdomiciled is liable to 40% inheritance tax on their worldwide assets above the individual tax-free allowance of £325,000 – which is transferable to your spouse or civil partner. By 2020, the phasing in of a new 'family home allowance' will add an extra £175,000 allowance per person, meaning a total potential threshold per couple of £1 million.

Non-UK domiciles are only liable to tax on assets situated in the UK.

The best approach

Domicile is a complex area of law, particularly for inheritance tax purposes. If you are looking to claim change of domicile, or if there is a significant amount of UK inheritance tax at stake, you should take expert advice specific to your circumstances. Whether or not you have UK domicile status, there are tax planning arrangements available to reduce your liabilities to inheritance and other taxes. An expert in this area will help you establish your domicile status, how inheritance tax interacts with Spanish succession tax, and what steps you can take to minimise taxes for your heirs.

Looking for healthcare peace of mind 24/7?

MOVING to Spain from the UK could be one of the best decisions you ever made - better weather, healthier food and easy beach access but one thing that isn't necessarily easier in Spain can be the bureaucracy and confusion involved in accessing healthcare.

Describing your symptoms in another language adds stress and confusion at a difficult time. The British-owned and run Altea Medical Centre offers access to English-speaking doctors and nurses 24 hours a day, seven days a week, giving you total peace of mind.

The clinic's English US-trained doctor is joined by two NHS A&E-trained nurses, alongside two community workers who visit the elderly or unwell in their own homes. Staff are available day and night with on-call help.

Another problem in Spain can be the lack of private health insurance on offer for those of a certain age or with pre-existing conditions, leaving you to face the alternative of long queues in a Spanish hospital or health centre.

The Altea Medical Centre offers their own healthcare packages, allowing those of any age and with any existing conditions access to its doctors and nurses. Packages start at only

ON CALL: Private ambulance service.

€480 a year for a well person and include up to five clinic visits a month. Packages for families, asthma sufferers, diabetes patients, weight loss and smoking cessation are also available.

Altea Medical Centre provides peace of mind for loved ones too, offering GPS personal alarms for dementia sufferers or those at risk of accident. When activated, these small wearable units send a signal for a doctor or nurse to call immediately. If required, someone is sent out to you straight away and relatives are informed.

The service costs just €35 a month, and the device itself costs €120, and includes a free monthly home visit to check on the alarm and your own well-being.

Specialists are also available without the need for referral, and the centre offers weekly specialist clinics, with cardiologists, plastic surgeons and gynaecologists taking appointments.

Call Altea Medical Centre on 965 845 711, email info@alteamedicalcentre.com or visit 9am-5pm Mon-Fri or Sat 9am-1pm at Mirador de la Galera 1, 03590, Altea, Alicante.

Research as well as compensation needed

THE Unio de Llauradors asked the public administrations to start paying promised compensation for trees affected by Xylella fastidiosa.

Rapid and realistic compensation should be paid for the plots of land where almond trees have been felled and destroyed to stop the spread of the deadly disease. This would encourage growers to report any suspicions that their trees could be affected by an outbreak of what is known as 'tree Ebola.'

The Unio also considered that the EU authorities could not remain indifferent to a matter of such vital importance to the future of tree crops.

"They need to establish, without delay, a special help package," a Unio spokesman said.

Since the infected trees the first detected on the Spanish mainland - were found in XYLELLA FASTIDIOSA: Area losing almond trees to deadly bug.

Guadalest in June, owners of affected plots in Guadalest, Benimantell and elsewhere in the Marina Baja and Marina Alta had heard nothing about compensation, he continued.

The head of the Generalitat's Agriculture department, Elena Cebrian, announced in Alicante that compensation would arrive by September, but growers were still waiting, the Unio said.

Meanwhile, it was vital to continue on other fronts, especially research, in order to combat the bacteria, the spokesman added.

Kept in the shadows in Benidorm

LOCALS, tourists and business owners in Benidorm have all complained about the poor lighting in some of the city's busiest areas.

The Avenida del Mediterraneo road is one of the worst affected, with pedestrians forced to walk in almost darkness along the side of the road, due to the dimness of the street lights. The lights are situated in the middle of the road, which makes them even less effective at lighting the pavement.

Local media sources claim there have already been several incidents which have seen pedestrians put in danger as a result of the limited lighting.

The Citizens of Benidorm organisation has complained to the authorities

DARK MATTER: Benidorm locals complain that the streets are poorly lit at night.

about the problem on multiple occasions, and has proposed changing the lights on the Avenida del Mediterraneo for ones that are more effective.

The city council has promised to improve street lights when they renovate the whole road, but no plans have so far been set in stone. Local media sources report that the cost to do so could be as much as €800,000 if they choose to move the street lamps from the centre of the road to the pavement.

The idea to increase the intensity of the bulbs has already been dismissed by the council as it could negatively impact drivers. It could also cause the town to fail to meet environmental regulations imposed by the European Union, which could result in a fine.

MIGRANT RESCUE: The Britannia.

Found all at sea

A BRITISH luxury cruise ship with 4,000 passengers on board has rescued 10 African migrants off the coast of Spain near Almeria.

The crew of the the P&O Cruises flagship Britannia spotted an inflatable dinghy carrying the migrants at 1am in the morning and immediately performed a U-turn and issued a man overboard announcement to the cruise passengers.

A Spanish coastguard

helicopter was sent to pull the migrants out of the water and they were given shelter, food, drink and medical care on board Britannia until a coastguard ship arrived and they were handed over to Spanish authorities.

Once on dry land they were attended to by the Spanish Red Cross.

The MV Britannia, named by HM The Queen in March 2015, resumed its normal cruise itinerary.

INTERNATIONAL SOLICITORS - BARRISTERS - TAX ADVISORS TOP Tips for Financial Investors in Spain

A financial investment is an asset that you put money into, with the hope that it will grow or appreciate into a larger sum of money.

ALWAYS REMEMBER THE FOLLOWING:

• Request and check the credentials of the product being offered - those that are registered with the 'Comisión Nacional del Mercado de Valores' (CNMV) are authorised.

- Ask for the information to be provided in writing and check that the firm is legal, especially when a financial product is offered to you online, by telephone or during an 'unexpected visit.'
- Do you have all of the details of the financial product in which you wish to invest?

• Make your investment decision based on facts.

- Speculation is a gamble.
- Ask for a contract. Ask about the fees and expenses – especially relating to maintenance and custody. Ask for regular information on the status of your investments. • Remember that when you make an investment you are compromising your savings.

- Past successes don't guarantee a future success.
- Be careful when it comes to security investments that offer a return higher than its market or whose performance is based on whether they are exempt from taxes or count on a tax advantage.

UK's most wanted! Police call for expats' help

UK police have appealed for the help of expats to help find fraudster Mark George Aklom, who might be back in Spain again.

Acklom, 44, is the subject of a European Arrest Warrant and was named as part of Operation Captura, an appeal launched and run by the National Crime Agency and Crimestoppers.

He's wanted by Avon and Somerset Constabulary for defrauding a woman he was in a relationship with out of £850,000. Acklom allegedly make a number of false representations after starting a romantic relationship with a woman from Bath in January 2012.

The victim stated that Acklom first claimed to work in the banking world in Switzerland and was very wealthy. He then went on to claim he worked for an intelligence agency.

Acklom arranged for the victim to live in one of the properties he claimed to own in Bath. He stated he had cash flow problems that were hindering renovation work, and the victim gave him numerous loans totalling £850,000.

It later transpired that Acklom did not own the property. The victim never received any of her money back.

Aklom has also used the names Mark Conway, Mark Desmond, Marc Ros Rodriguez, Kid Con, Marc Ros and Marc Long. Detective Inspector Adam Bunting, who is leading the efforts to find Acklom, said, "Mark Acklom is a convincing fraudster and we're working hard to locate him as soon as possible.

"We believe he'll be with his wife Maria Rodriguez and their two young daughters, who we know up until last year's appeal, were enrolled in El Limonar International School in the Murcia area of Spain.

"In the days following the appeal he removed his children from the school and together with his wife, he disappeared.

"We have significant concerns about the children's wellbeing given they were uprooted, with no notice, from their school, friends and family. It's highly likely Acklom will have placed his children in another fee-paying school.

The children are aged six and eight.

Since the Operation Captura appeal, a photograph was taken by a member of the public of Acklom in Geneva, Switzerland in May but he's not been sighted since.

Now police are issuing details of Acklom's wife for the first time, as they believe she may be assisting him but she isn't the subject of a European Arrest Warrant.

Maria Yolanda Ros Rodriguez, 47, is likely to be with Acklom and may be using the aliases Yolianda Ross, Maria Long, Mary Moss or another name entirely.

DI Bunting added, "Mark Acklom has links through property to Spain and there's been a positive sighting in Switzerland.

"We also have information linking him to Dublin and Italy, but he could be anywhere in Europe. It's possible he may have travelled outside the EU. He's described as 5ft 10ins, of medium build, with dark brown hair and green eyes.

"We're grateful for the ongoing support of the National Crime Agency and our law enforcement colleagues in Europe but we need the help of the media and the public in the UK and Europe to track him down."

If you have information about the whereabouts of Mark Acklom you can contact Avon and Somerset police via their website - quoting reference number 7429713

For those people calling from Spain there is a special Spanish 900 555 111 telephone number which will be answered in the UK by Crimestoppers' call agents and a translation service is available upon request.

People can also pass on information anonymously via the Crimestoppers number 0800 555 111 or through their Anonymous Online Form - reference: CS1610-15128.

A recent judgment by the European Court of Justice on the validity of multi-currency loans

WE at White Baos have helped and continue to help those affected by multi-currency mortgages in Spain, so that we can lodge a claim against the banks to nullify some of these contracts.

In a number of the cases studied, it appears that some banks did not duly inform consumers about the effects and potential risks of loans offered in a foreign currency, mostly Swiss Francs and Japanese Yen although there are others.

This lack of sufficient clear and truthful information means that there is a defect in the consent, ie if the consumer was properly informed about the risks of the product, potential costs, expenses, etc, they would not have contracted to that product, since these loans are extremely dangerous and risky because the value of the money to be paid back depends on the foreign exchange market which is often volatile, unstable and unpredictable.

In addition, all multi-currency mortgage loans signed in Spain that we have been able to review contain clauses that are not transparent, since the multicurrency clauses do not provide a clear and understandable explanation of the real risks of borrowing in a foreign currency.

In this regard, we would like to highlight the decision of the Court of Justice of the European Union (ECJ) of September 20, 2017 in Case C 186/16.

This judgment establishes that the European directive 93/13 requires that the multi-currency clauses are clear and understandable, which means that in this type of contract, the consumer must have had explained and be made to understand that the loan is in a foreign currency and should be repaid in that currency.

It makes it clear that the contract should be drafted in such a way that the borrower understood both the possibility of appreciation or depreciation of the foreign currency and its potential economic consequences, which in these contracts can be very significant.

In addition, it points out that any claim should assess whether at the time of signing the contract that the bank explained to the consumer at the time of signing the mortgage loan contract referenced to a foreign currency, the possible changes in the currency ex-

and clarity of the loan. Thus, multi-currency clauses must be transparent, to overcome the so-called transparency judgment, similar to what happens with the mortgage floor clauses, making it evident for borrowers to understand that the risks inherent in a multi-currency clause are very complicated for anyone who is not an expert in the foreign exchange market, unless the bank has made an effort to make the consumer understand the high risk of the product, which unfortunately has not happened, at least in the cases which we have been dealing with.

The information provided in this article is not intended to be legal advice, but merely conveys general information related to legal issues.

If you or someone you know has a problem with a foreign currency loan, or if you have any legal query please contact us and we will help you.

A JUDGE in Malaga has ruled that Craig Porter, 37, a chief suspect in the case of missing Agnese Klavina, can return to the UK for a month for the birth of his child in Liverpool.

Members of the Find Agnese Klavina campaign have said, "Sometimes you really have to worry about the Spanish justice system.

"We have just been notified that the Audencia (High Court) of Malaga has granted permission for Craig Porter to travel to Liverpool for the birth of his fourth child in spite of our opposition and a likely chance that he could use this opportunity to run away from justice

"We have just filed an appeal to this decision.

"How can someone who is currently being tried for making Agnese disappear, a crime that in our opinion is tantamount to murder be granted this kind of request?

"It beggars belief how the Spanish courts can allow this person to travel. He is bound to use this opportunity to escape from justice. "Shame on you Spain."

Porter and his pal Westley Capper, 39, were the last to see the 30year-old Latvian girl who went in Cartagena, but no body has been recovered.

Both men refused to testify during a hearing in Marbella in April 2015, but a court source confirmed, "The investigating judge has committed Westley Capper and Craig Porter to trial on a charge of aggravated unlawful detention and discharged another two suspects.

"Capper and Porter remain on bail but as part of their conditional release conditions, they have to sign on twice a month and are banned from leaving Spain.

The pair are also facing trial for killing a Bolivian mother in a hitand-run in San Pedro, Marbella.

In the early evening of May 9, Fatima Dorado Para, a 40-year-old Bolivian woman, was struck by a British-registered Bentley as she was crossing the road on a pedestrian crossing adjacent to the San Pedro Alcantara Boulevard.

The Bentley struck her, throwing her about 100 feet in the air, before speeding off without stopping.

Emergency services were called and Fatima was rushed to the Costa del Sol hospital but suffered heart failure and died.

Police found the damaged Bentlev about six kilometres away from the scene of accident, at Diana Park where the owner and his passenger were discovered drinking in an Indian restaurant.

Capper has been charged with negligent homicide, failure to stop and provide help to the victim, driving under the influence of alcohol, and possession of false documentation.

sold in markets across Spain. Last week officers from the Guardia Civil's Seprona branch found five bracelets at a medieval market in Soria while a dozen were found in Zaragoza during the annual Fiesta del Pilar celebrations.

SPANISH police are warning of highly toxic bracelets being

The intense red and black bracelets are made with abrin seeds which can cause hallucinations, vomiting and even death.

The seeds are also known as 'Indian liquorice' or 'ladybird seed' and potentially lethal.

No antidote exists for abrin. Just three micrograms of the toxin in the blood can lead to death.

The major symptoms of abrin poisoning depend on the route of exposure and the dose received, though many organs may be affected in severe cases.

Swallowing any amount of abrin can lead to severe symptoms as it attacks cells in the kidney, liver, adrenal glands and central nervous system.

The police warn the bracelets are even dangerous to touch as the toxin can be introduced into the body in small amounts through the skin.

Last July a score of bracelets, amulets and key rings were detected in a flea market in Llerena, Badajoz.

And in 2014 the Guardia Civil seized 184 pendants, 100 bracelets, 63 necklaces, 10 rosaries and 5,525 seeds for the manufacture of costume jewellery in Gran Canaria.

HOT TO TROT: Images of the women were circulated on social media.

AUTHORITIES in Spain are investigating the filming of two naked actresses cavorting in the back of a horse-drawn carriage in Sevilla at the weekend.

The two young women, a camera operator and director took to the streets in one of the busy, tourist areas in the centre of the city to the astonishment of passers-by.

Witnesses described how there were families with children in the area but the scenes were shot in a few minutes before the arrival of the police.

Images of the naked women in a horsedrawn carriage have since been widely circulated on social media.

Sevilla's city council are now trying to locate the people who took part in the filming and warn they could feel the full force of the law saying, "This illegal action could have more serious consequences if the presence of children in the area is confirmed at the time of the filming."

GUARDIA CIVIL investigators have arrested 21 people, seized goods worth €60,000, firearms and more than two tons of almonds.

There has been a major crime wave in the Valencian areas of Comarca de la Hoya de Buñol and Camp del Turia which saw more than 100 burglaries and had terrorised the entire community.

Of the 21 arrested, 11 of them were under the age of 18 so are considered minors and those detained were split between Bulgarian and Spanish nationals with seven women involved.

Those involved were part of a loose association which was involved with breaking and entering into properties, cultivation and sale of drugs, theft of almonds, theft of animals and electricity as well as keeping a hoard of weapons.

The head of the gang decided upon targets for the minors and carefully studied the coming and going of various business owners and residents so that they were often able to break into properties knowing that the owners were away. Among items recovered, many of which will be put on show to the public for identification, are mobile phones, tablets, televisions, laptops, ebooks, play stations and games cameras, computer equipment and other electrical equipment.

In addition, officers recovered bicycles, jewellery, watches, baby chairs, wheelchairs, weapons and forty-four sacks containing two thousand three hundred kilos of almonds.

FOR the third consecutive year Albir takes centre stage in the field of wellbeing.

From November 4-6 it hosts an international event drawing expert speakers and participants from Europe, the US and Canada.

This is co-founded and co-organised by local resident Sheela Masand, who has lived in Spain for more than 30 years. Her love for the Costa Blanca and her profession as a transformational coach has resulted in the VIVA event.

Stress and burnout can occur as a result of relationship struggles, business challenges, money worries, lack of confidence, anxiety or depression. Debut for young writer

THE first novel by Ainhoa Pastor Sempere, a young Alfaz writer, was presented recently at the Casa de Cultura.

Ainhoa began writing Los Mestizos. El comienzo (The Mestizos. The beginning) when she was 15 and the novel is the first part of a saga set in the imaginary world of Shioba. For several years the manuscript lay abandoned in a drawer, but has now been printed by the Valencian publishers, Red Paradise.

She has written since she was eight, Ainhoa said, and is passionate about terror, fantasy and science fiction that she brings to life on her web page www.uncrimennotanperfecto.com.

FOR the last couple of months, U3A members have been busy collecting plastic bottle tops for a nine-year-old boy who has multiple brain tumours.

Former minister's son asks for land

RAFAEL NAVARRO RUBIO SERRES, son of a former Franco minister, is claiming 1,000 square metres of Javea's seashore.

The minister, later Governor of the Bank of Spain, built the house at Punta de l'Arenal in the 60's. The villa occupies land which contains Roman remains and includes the publicly-owned maritime strip where building is prohibited. In 1981 the Minister of Public Works granted the family permission "free and permanent use" of the land and legalised the villa. The 1981 Coastal Law added an expiry date but the current government headed granted a further 75 years in 2014.

Rafael Navarro Rubio has cited the 1981 legalisation, together with a 1935 law ceding ownership of the coastline to the town halls. CONVEYANCING: buying, selling, planning permission, lettings... Mega safety

SAFE: Moscow gets top marks for treatment of women.

MOSCOW has been named the fourth safest 'megacity' for women. The Russian capital came behind only London, Paris and Tokyo in the safety stakes. Forced marriage, female genital mutilation and rape were considered by researchers. Russian cultural attitudes towards women's physical well-being were praised.

Super partners

TRADE between Russia and China shot up by 22 per cent this year. The twin economic giants are now on course to see trade hit €80 billion by Christmas. Russia has pivoted to China after EU sanctions affected trade with Europe. Arms and infrastructure are key to Chinese trade.

Volunteer heroes

A STATUE paying tribute to Russia's volunteer fighters who have battled Ukrainian forces since tensions erupted in 2014 was erected just 100km from the Ukrainian border. The seven-metre-tall statue is dedicated to 'The Heroes of Donbass,' referring to the war-torn city in east Ukraine.

Teen trouble

PARENTS and teachers of children participating in political protests may be punished under new laws. Teenagers have turned out en masse in support of opposition leader Alexei Navalny and his anti-corruption marches. Now the Kremlin's anti-extremist department is considering fining parents and teachers who let them protest.

Troll factory

A 'TROLL factory' was exposed in St Petersburg. An agency had 80 employees stoking racial tensions in America. They created millions of fake social media accounts to spread misinformation on Facebook during the 2016 presidential campaign. Job descriptions asked for 'fluent English and creative writing skills.'

Gen Putin

HALF of all Russian university students are excited to vote Putin at next year's presidential election. The president commands huge support among the so-called 'Putin generation.' Putin hasn't confirmed that he will run next year, but no other candidate commands even a fraction of his level of support.

Killer bears

BEARS have killed two people in Russia's far east. A scarcity of food has seen the wild animals approach humans with more frequency and boldness. This year alone 83 bears have been shot dead on Sakhalin Island for 'hostile behaviour,' three times the number killed in 2016.

Invest in Manhattan now

CROWDFUNDING for property whereby investors 'chip in' to purchase real estate has just taken a step forward with an American investment company offering in Spain. Prodigy Network in New York will accept Spanish customers who wish to commit $10,000 (€8,500) or more into the purchase of commercial and residential property in Manhattan which will be rented out.

Ouote of the Week

Giving away €42 a month

ALTHOUGH a large number of mobile phone owners in Spain tend to purchase their telephones outright, the opposite is almost the norm in the UK.

In many cases, arrangements are made whereby customers agree a higher contract price in order to pay for expensive phones over a period of 18 to 24 months.

This means that phone users are able to obtain the latest models with affordable monthly payments but in many cases, once the contracted period expires, some companies simply renew without deducting the extra charged for the phone.

Spanish companies are among the best options for building Jamaica to-gether. To tell you the truth, I see Spain as the ideal partner for Ja-maica, 'Spain's Ambassador to Jamaica Josep Maria Bosch Bessa.

Now, the British government accepts that a Citizen's Advice Bureau report that highlighted three companies - EE, Three and Vodafone - who act in this manner should be considered.

These companies have stated that their charges are fair, but the other major supplier O2 has made it clear that it separates the charges so that customers are totally aware of costs and can see the reduction once the phone has been paid for.

It is also suggested that those over 65 are the least likely to change their contracts and are therefore at the greatest risk of paying too much.

As many expatriates in Spain still keep their UK numbers, it would be worth their while to check that they are not on expired contracts which can cost up to £38 $(\in 42)$ per month more than they should according to the research.

Catalan crisis could hurt property

MAJOR estate agents in Spain fear that what started out as a great year could see a property recession in Cataluña. Meeting at a symposium in Barcelona, they have called for the parliament to return to "legality" so that there is no loss of external investment in the province. The relocation of various companies outside of the province could see a glut of empty office property in the marketplace.

Making life easier

BARCELONA: One of Spain's busier container ports.

Imports increase but exports up more

EVEN though Spanish exports have increased by 9 per cent in the past eight months, the trade deficit now stands at €16.4 billion

This deficit increase is 49 per cent higher than the same period last year and imports have continued to rise to €198.7 billion.

To some extent this was to be expected as the recovery in the economy required an increase in purchase of raw materials which may be converted into consumer products for later export.

Despite the negative situation, Spain continues to be the ro.

following the crisis in Cataluña.

Romania and Spain

ROMANIA and Spain have entered into an in principle agreement to avoid double taxation following a visit from Foreign Minister Dastis.

Romanian Foreign Minister Teodor Meleşcanu described it as being of, "fiscal and economic relevance to the citizens and entrepreneurs of the two countries that will round up the legal framework for encouraging bilateral economic relations."

During the meeting, Mr Meleşcanu reconfirmed his government's strong support for the sovereignty and territorial integrity of Spain and expressed solidarity with Madrid, reminding Mr Dastis that Spain is and will remain a valuable strategic partner of Romania.

» BUSINESS EXTRA Energy scam

A WARNING has been issued alerting customers of energy company Endesa that bogus emails are being sent asking clients to give bank card information as direct debits had been rejected. Anyone who has responded with details should contact their bank urgently.

Not over

ALTHOUGH it seemed that the takeover of Spanish toll road operator Abertis by Italian company Atlantia was agreed, a surprise and financially better bid has been received from construction giant ACS. All activity is suspened whilst the National Securities Market Commission considers the situation.

Large firms reduce waste MANY WILL BEAT THE EU 2030 DEADLINE

A LARGE number of major companies are now committed to significantly reduce the amount of waste they generate and to conserve energy and resources.

As a recent report suggested that 64 per cent of Spanish consumers polled were looking for greater clarity in packaging description and the European Commission is introducing strict targets for reduction in waste, Spanish companies are enthusiastically looking at their procedures. Landfills are a major environmental problem within the EU and although household waste is often not properly sorted for recycling, these companies which include Procter and Gamble (P&G), Nestle and Pascual are taking major steps to reduce their negative affect upon the environment.

One obvious area where those involved in the production of food and drink is to ensure that there is no spillage - which would result in rejection and end up as possible landfill - by improving their production lines and such investment also means in the long run that they will save money by producing more saleable products.

The Grupo Pascual has streamlined its Barcelona milk packaging factory so that it sends nothing to landfill and any waste liquid is recycled. It expects that all of its factories will significantly reduce waste by 2020 and will follow a 3R rule (reduce, reuse and recycle) to achieve this.

Already half of the 10 production units operated by Nestle in Spain are able to boast that they send nothing to landfill and they too are committed to make all of their factories environmentally friendly by 2020.

Unilever was able to declare its entire factory base around the world as free of waste in 2015 and discovered that it was able to make savings

GRAND OPENING: New Nestle factory. of €200 million, so has now turned its attention to its global office network. More than 50 per cent of P&G factories are already producing zero waste and this group has also set 2020 as its target for all factories worldwide to join in the Spanish success which has already seen the elimination of all landfill. As these major manufacturers lead the way in ensuring that their production produces as little waste as possible, so it is expected that other smaller businesses and consumers will start to play their part in making the world a less dangerous place.

THE CATALAN CRISIS AFFECTS THE ENTIRE COUNTRY National economy suffers

WHILST a great deal has understandably been made about the political problems facing the Madrid government, managing the financial fall out of article 155 is another thing.

Already the Catalan economy is facing a potentially disastrous downturn with a number of major companies moving their head offices out of the province, but according to Prime Minister Rajoy, at least 1,300 small and medium size businesses have already moved with a further 3,000 considering the possibility.

Fear of potential public disruption with protests, especially in Barcelona appears to have frightened a number of potential foreign visitors off and bookings have already fallen by 30 per cent which will directly affect hotels with the possible knock on effect of lay-offs of staff.

This reduction in the number of visitors has seen a similar loss of income for many retail outlets as well as bars and restaurants in city centres, which to a great extent rely upon tourists spending, with even taxis feeling the pinch.

Investment in the province is most certainly down, with companies considering whether investment or even the granting of loans to Catalan companies is a wise move at this pivotal time and indeed some operations have already indicated that they will put Spain as a whole on hold.

Car sales continue to appear to be buoyant at the moment, but that is because dealers have already placed orders with manufacturers, but the harsh reality is that the number of advance orders being placed could have fallen by at least 20 per cent.

If Spain wants to hit its GDP forecasts and please the European Union, it needs a vibrant and economically strong Cataluña back in place, otherwise it will face a number of very unpleasant consequences.

Already the government is having to increase rates of interest paid when issuing bonds which means that it is costing considerably more to borrow money on the international market and with the European Central Bank looking likely to cut back on the amount it is spending on buying euro bonds, another interest hike could be on the cards.

Several years of economic growth meant that the international credit ratings companies such as Standard & Poor's and Moody's were considered likely to upgrade Spain's rating but this is now unlikely until what they consider a positive conclusion with Cataluña independence is reached.

Stock markets still strong

MANY Stock Exchanges around the world have seen significant increases in share value except for Spain, although even there the Catalan problem has not seen huge drops.

The convincing re-election of Japanese leader Shinzo Abe saw the Nikkei index raise to its highest level in 21 years and Wall Street saw record levels last Friday, based on an expectation of tax cuts and the suggestion that Janet Yellen may be reappointed as head of the Federal Reserve.

European markets were fairly static and slightly worried about the Spanish situation and possible problems with other European separatists, but most analysts consider this to be unlikely and say the Catalan crisis will be contained within Spain.

More jitters over Cataluña

THE Starwood Capital Finances Europe which has recently loaned €46 million for the building of a new hotel in Barcelona has expressed concern at the situation in Cataluña.

With a further €61 million advanced to two other developments in other parts of Spain, it has announced that it will divert investment to other parts of the EU until the current crisis is resolved.

It isn't just Spain which is being watched closely by the company which is also nervous over Brexit and the results of the German election but with €53 billion in funds being managed, the group intends to ensure that customer's funds are safeguarded as much as possible.

British banks split in two

AS British banks with assets in excess of £25 billion (€28 billion) split their businesses in two in order to protect retail customer's deposits, Santander takes a different stance.

Large retail banks around the world accept customer deposits and manage commercial accounts, whilst at the same time speculating in the international market.

The British government has given high street banks until 2019 to split their operations so that each stands alone with their own staff and accounts in order to try to ensure that the debacle of 2008 is never repeated.

With Brexit around the corner, there is the risk that some banks may consider taking the opportunity to relocate their speculative and high value customer business outside of the UK, although so far both Barclays and HSBC seem likely to keep the bulk of business within the UK.

Spanish bank Santander however is taking a different stance and has announced that its higher risk activities - thought to be worth £40 billion (€45 billion) - will be transferred to Banco Santander, the Spanish parent of the group.

Largest trade partner

A RECENT visit by King Felipe VI to Saudi Arabia underlined the importance of trade links which in 2016 were worth €5.5 billion to Spain.

Whilst his visit was primarily aimed at ensuring that the Kingdom purchased five Avante warships, trade talks have continued and the recently appointed Spanish Ambassador Alvaro Iranzo Gutierrez made it clear that his government was not only happy to be involved with ongoing trade but supported Saudi Vision 2030.

"We fully support the Vision 2030. Our companies are ready to contribute and help it develop in all areas, such as the development of renewable energies and state-of-the-art infrastructure. Spain hopes to contribute to unleash the potential of Saudi youth using professional training centres across the country," he told the Riyadh Daily newspaper.

There are currently 120 Spanish companies who have combined with Saudi partners to set up offices in Saudi Arabia and the rail link between Mecca and Medina, whilst having some problems has been hailed as a successful innovation managed by a consortium of Spanish companies.

Other large infrastructure projects related to water, electricity and renewable energies are also under way, while Spanish brands such as Zara with 34 stores and discount store Lefties are well represented in the Kingdom's shopping centres.

One potential new market for SEAT and other Spanish produced vehicles will be Saudi women, now that they are officially allowed to drive.

An observation on society's poison

LEAPY LEE SAYS IT

WHY is it that people who speak out against minorities are vilified and attacked by all and sundry, but minorities seem to be at liberty to declare their own views with impunity and no interference from the authorities whatsoever?

The recent sacking of Magistrate Richard Page is a case in point. This Christian judge stated publicly that he believed children were better off with both male and female parents than those of the same sex.

To cut a long story short, because of the ensuing outcry and protests from gay and lesbian groups, the ultimate outcome of this statement of belief resulted in him getting the sack. You can rest assured, if this had been someone in his position who had stated that they believed children were better off with same sex parents, they would have been hailed as heroes of free speech and most probably promoted.

Why is there a war against majority factions in the world today? Why are people in prominent positions and leading media organisations bending over backwards to appease and grovel to minorities, while treating those who make up the majorities of the human race as some kind of pariahs who should be not only ashamed of their positions but penalised for actually believing what the bulk of the human race agrees with?

While we're on this tack, why should success be frowned on and wealth accrued by legitimate hard work be considered unfair to those who haven't managed, for one reason or another, to attain higher levels of life satisfaction achieved by others? Well I'll tell you, in my opinion there are two main reasons for all this inequality bleating and bitter furore that is poisoning our societies today. Insecurity, and envy.

Insecurity in their own beliefs, and envy for what others possess, be it normality, success, or merely a comfortable existence. The greatest weapon disgruntled minority whingers can lay their hands on, is the power to cause as much disruption to those of us who are happy or satisfied with our lot as they possibly can. If we continue to appease those who are inclined to blame everyone else for their problems, we will create so much unrest that today's minorities will become the majorities of tomorrow, which is of course the main intention of most of them anyway.

Just as a final observation and knowing full well that one should never wish another human being any harm, did it not give a certain sense of warm serves 'em rightness to read the final days of Abu Sa'eed were apparently spent in the torture chambers of the very people he went to fight with? Bet he wished a thousand times he had stayed in the country that nurtured him! Let's hope more of these traitors also suffered the same miserable end.

Thanks for all those letters of support. Fair warmed the 'cockles.' Nice to know you're there.

TECH FOR THE TIMID

That's inkredible

PRINTERS come in two main flavours: laser and inkjet.

Lasers are the workhorses of the printing world: generally monochrome, more expensive to buy than inkjets but cheaper to run if you're a serial printer.

Inkjets are cheap as chips until you start buying the replacement ink cartridges. And they print ever so pretty in colour, at a price.

That's a pain you can ease slightly by buying generic cartridges online or from your local shop, and despite the manufacturers' quality warnings, I've never yet encountered one which printed any worse than the branded one, or which 'ruined' a printer.

(And don't even think of refilling your cartridges by hand, as some of us used to do. Accompanied by frequent embarrassment when visitors would remark on the profusion of used syringes lying around the home...)

Now is the printer of our discontent

TERENCE KENNEDY shares his love-hate relationship with the most treacherous of computer devices, the printer.

EVER wondered why your printer won't let you produce a black and white document because it's 'out of magenta ink'?

Is it a good idea to let your printer know you're in a hurry, because it can smell the fear?

And if we had a 3D printer, could we then print out our own 3D printers?

You'd think after more than three decades, Messrs Hewlett-Packard, Epson, Canon, Brother and co. could finally get it right - but 'printer rage' is now so common that an idle search on Google produces more than three million hits.

Paper jams, empty cartridges, upright A4 printed in landscape, worthy but misguided attempts to save the forests by printing double-sided: these are all facets of our troubled interactions with technology.

The irony is that not too long ago, pundits like me were confidently predicting the paperless society, yet today in the developed world we each consume an astonishing 200 kilos of paper a year. And in 15 years the planet's paper consumption has actually grown 77 per cent.

As for the printers themselves, at the current rate they'll soon be given away free with the comflakes.

That's because they use the Gillette business model, so-called from the days when that company sold the razor for next to nothing, but made its fortune on the blades we then had to buy for it (one of the reasons I stopped shaving; call it a matter of principle but more probably sheer laziness).

I recall staying up all night years ago trying to persuade my clunky bubblejet to print a British pound symbol. Or wrestling with it for hours PRINTERS: What happened to the paperless society?

A weekly look - and not entirely impartial reaction to the Spanish political scene

AS usual Spain takes a beating in the European press.

Despite applying the Constitution's Article 155 and booting out the Catalan president and his government, Spain's president Mariano Rajoy emphasised that Cataluña's autonomy had not been removed.

The region would not be governed from Madrid and there would be elections within six months.

So the next morning the Observer observed that Cataluña had been stripped of its autonomy and would be governed from Madrid.

The Mail on Sunday showed thousands with placards calling for Freedom without explaining that they demanded the release of recently- remanded Jordi Cuixart and Jordi Sanchez, the leaders of two pro-secession associations.

Rajoy has a gift for striking wrong notes and words like 'disobedience' don't sound good in translation. But this time it was just what most Spaniards wanted to hear.

Meanwhile Christmas, the cava season, is coming and old habits die hard, so it's a given the names on the bottles will still belong to Codorniu and Freixenet. But when glasses are raised in the Palacio de la Generalitat Catalana, who will be holding them?

It doesn't add up

MISTAKES have been made in Madrid, especially since 2012 when

Blowing bubbles Getting the answer right

JUAN JOSE IBARRETXE was the Basque region's president from 2004 until 2009. During his term as lehendakari he decided to declare independence, hoping to put an end to ETA's separatist terrorism.

His independence proposal was approved by the Basque government but later defeated by the PSOE and PP in the national parliament in Madrid. Undeterred, Ibarretxe planned a referendum on "the right to decide" which was challenged by Jose Luis Rodriguez's government. The Constitutional Tribunal declared it illegal and Ibarretxe accepted the sentence. End of story.

Cataluña could have followed the same route but always rejected this option because politicians knew they wouldn't get the result they were hoping for. Because the Catalan secessionists are only ever going to take "yes" for an answer. former regional president Artur Mas started believing his own independence fantasies.

But Carles Puigdemont makes graver errors with his stirring to-thebarricades addresses. He refers to Catalans and Cataluña, bemoaning a Madrid-enforced end to democracy.

But Puigdemont speaks for the Junts pel Si coalition shared between his own PDeCat and the ERC which is shored by the CUP.

Between them they have a majority of seats in the Parlament, but not voters on the street. And the majority who did not vote for them are those who most fear an end to democracy.

As per usual

ON October 12, Spain's National Day, when all was closed, 80 town halls remained open in Cataluña.

Such dedication to independence! Civil servants and municipal employees are as envied as they are criticised for their cushy jobs and working on a national holiday is uncharacteristic.

Admitted, it was more a question of opening their doors in most town halls, rather than attending the public. Business as usual in other words.

What is the flu?

INFLUENZA, commonly known as the 'flu', is an extremely contagious respiratory illness caused by influenza A or B viruses. Flu appears most frequently in winter and early spring. The flu virus attacks the body by spreading through the upper and/or lower respiratory tract.

A severe case of flu can lead to lifethreatening illnesses such as pneumonia.

What's the difference between a cold and flu?

The common cold and flu are both contagious viral infections of the respiratory tract. Although the symptoms can be similar, flu is much worse. A cold may drag you down a bit, but the flu can make you shudder at the very thought of getting out of bed.

Congestion, sore throat, and sneezing are common with colds. Both cold and flu bring coughing, headache, and chest discomfort. With the flu, though, you are likely to run a high fever for several days and have body aches, fatigue, and weakness. Symptoms of the flu also tend to come on abruptly. Usually, complications from colds are relatively minor, but a severe case of flu can lead to a lifethreatening illness such as pneumonia. Remember: Antibi- otics only treat bacterial infections.

Two antiviral medications are available to treat flu. But there are no medications that specifically defeat the common cold. Antibiotics may be helpful only if there is a secondary bacterial infection. INFLUENZA: Will have you feeling much worse than a cold.

AT Globelink, we've seen customer travel habits evolve over the last 20 years. You are now more adventurous; travel more often; for longer periods of time; and keep on travelling, whatever age you are! We like to think we stay ahead with what we offer, and this year is no exception.

From October 1, you can now get a lot more for your money, so keep reading and find out what's new and how this could benefit you, or your family and friends.

• Improved Cover for the Same Price!

We know that holidays can cost a lot and things can go wrong once they're booked. That's why we've increased the Cancellation and Curtailment cover and Delayed Departure Abandonment cover on all Comprehensive and Annual Multi-Trip policies to £6,000 per person. Our budget

AL products - Economy, Regular and Globetrekker - also have improved cover with £2,000 for Cancellation and Curtailment and Missed

Departure cover of £500.

• More Pre-Existing Medical Conditions covered as standard

The older we get, the more likely we are to have a pre-existing medical condition. We now cover 50 different pre-existing medical conditions at no extra charge. This includes arthritis, breast/prostate cancer, diabetes, hypertension, osteoporosis and more.

• Annual Multi-Trip Cover for Travellers up to age 79

The over 75's are young at heart and enjoying their senior years exploring the world. We are delighted to offer Annual Multi-Trip cover up to age 79. Each trip duration can be up to 60 days, depending on where you go.

• Longer Trip Durations for 71-74 Years

You told us that you are enjoy-

What's new this autumn?

GLOBELINK: Offering you a lot more for your money.

ing longer breaks abroad, so we now offer trip durations of 45 and 60 days on Annual Multi-Trip policies, so you don't need to hurry back from those relaxing breaks and visits to family and friends.

• Winter Sports up to age 70 and Free Winter Sports on Annual Policies

Over 65 and struggling to find winter sports travel insurance? Get Winter Sports cover up to aged 70 with Globelink. You also get 17 days cover free if you buy an Annual Multi-Trip policy with a 45+ day trip duration (for ages 66-70, geographical limit - Europe).

• Wider Range of Adventure Activities

From archery to zip lining, we've got you covered. Globelink are now including more adventure activities than ever before.

• Already Travelling and forgotten to buy Travel Insurance?

Sometimes travel insurance is the last thing on your mind when preparing for a trip. We get lots of requests from customers, often calling for their young-adult children who have forgotten to buy insurance. That's why we offer 'Already Travelling' insurance, so you can get cover even if you are already away.

Come and join the solar energy revolution in Javea

SOLAR IN SPAIN will be hosting a public seminar on Wednesday November 8 at the Inn on the Green bowling club in Javea. There will be information available on how you can generate your own free electricity and use that electricity to lower your electricity bills.

Solar in Spain staff will be on hand to answer all your questions regarding solar electricity, wood pellet heating systems, solar pool heating and solar water heating.

Electricity bills have increased by an average of over 100 per cent over the past five years and the cost is likely to increase by similar amounts over the next few years. Here, Fidelma Matthews from Solar in Spain answers the main questions that people tend to ask about solar electricity systems:

• Do I need permission from Iberdrola to install a solar electricity system in my property?

Yes you do. This is very important and must not be overlooked. Permis-sions need to be obtained before the installation takes place. Every grid-connected electricity system needs authorisation from both Iberdrola and the Department of Industria. Iberdrola is currently issuing fines of up to €30,000 for unauthorised installations. Solar in Spain completes all the paperwork for its clients and is one of the few companies that actually ensures that their installations comply fully with the law.

• What is the life expectancy of a solar grid-connected electricity system?

A well designed, good quality solar system will last for over 30 years. Both the solar panels and the inverters used by Solar in Spain are guaranteed for 25 years.

• Does solar energy only work on sunny days?

No. Solar electricity panels don't need direct sunshine to work - they can still generate electricity on cloudy days. The stronger the sunshine however, the more electricity is produced. • What happens to the electricity that is produced but not used?

Iberdrola will now buy any solar electricity that is sent back to the grid. Solar in Spain will complete all the necessary paperwork on your behalf.

• Are solar electricity systems expensive?

A solar electricity system can pay for itself within four to six years. The Return on Investment is much higher than you will receive from any bank or building society and it is totally secure, there is no risk. In addition, every time Iberdrola increase their prices in the future your solar investment improves!

• Do I have to pay a solar tax to the Government if I install a system?

No. You may have read about a solar tax that exists here in Spain. All our domestic solar installations that are less than 10kw in size are exempt from this tax. The tax is intended for larger, commercial installations.

• Are there Government grants available for solar systems?

Yes, there are, its great news. Grants for solar electricity systems have just been introduced and staff will discuss this in more detail on November 8.

• Where can I find out more information?

Solar in Spain has been in business on the Costa Blanca for over 16 years.

Their office and showroom is in the Pedreguer Industrial Estate, just off the N332. They can also be contacted on 962 854 488 or by email at info@solarinspain.com. Their website: www.solarinspain.com Doors will open for the energy seminar on Wednesday November 8 at 10am, where coffee will be served. The event will run from 10.30am to 12.00pm and is free to attend. Places are limited so we would ask that you pre-register by calling 962 854 488 or by email to info@solarinspain.com.

The future isn't

looking bright, it's

As the people voted

be done

But talking on the telly

news has all been

overdone

Whether it's a rotten

deal, the time has come to run

As long as I can stay in Spain and

Bye bye Britain, bye bye, it's

I'll pop back every now and then

Brexit is in motion and the time is

So bye bye Britain, with a sigh, it's

John Sharples,

La Cala de Mijas

live here in the sun

time to say goodbye

to say a sunny hi

almost nigh

time to say goodbye.

turning dark and grey

out then Brexit must

Time to clamp down on sex trade

BREXIT: A rotten deal?

Getting out of Europe isn't easy

The whole thing is a bloody mess,

They need to get it sorted quick,

David spat his dummy out and left

Europe says deserting ship means

Boris says we're paying nought,

it's ruining the pound

it all to May

Britain has to pay

there is no chance, no way

we have found

the talks go round and round

SIR

Reading an article in your issue number 1684, I would like to raise a point. A few years ago, a Nigerian prostitute mugger was arrested, spat in the face of the police and was sentenced to be banned from Magaluf. She moved to Palma Nova.

Now two women have forced a 17year-old Nigerian into prostitution, but why are they still here and not deported?

Magaluf has always been a party resort but recently the drug and sex trade has taken over. Yes, there was recently a big drug bust but nothing significant in the sex trade Magaluf is what it is - a party town for the young. But you need the tourist industry, so get rid of the sex and drugs and party people will still come!

It's up to the local government and the courts to do the right thing. It's called common sense. But no government officers ever address the serious issues. Why? Ronald Lutschan, Puerto Pollensa

HAVE YOUR SAY

Brassed off with Brexit?

I KNOW that it's important cos my life is here in Spain

But all this talk of Brexit has become a tiresome pain It's spouted daily on the news, it's just been on again I wish it wasn't happening, I wish we could remain

The vote was o'er a year ago and people voted out

The info we were given full of fantasy and doubt Money for the NHS did Boris

Johnson shout And Theresa May who voted in is now supporting out So here we are, no wiser, as we fumble on the ground

All letters by email or post should carry the writer's address, NIE and contact number though only the name and town will be published.

Jean Michelle and Karen will on October 31 be closing their doors for the last time. We loval customers wish them a long, active and happy retirement but we will miss our favourite restaurant, El Perro Negro, and Altea will have lost a gem.

Badly educated

THE swivel-eyed version of Catalan history that has been peddled to school children in the region over the last four decades has only served to educate them in racism and hatred while being told that we are tolerant. We are clearly moving towards a fascist society within which only independence is 'acceptable.'

David Penva, Barcelona

Bawdy Brown

YOUR TV Couch Critic wisely mentions that some of the scrit of Mrs Brown's Boys (BBC 1) is best referred to adult humour. Within the concept of the show, it's acceptable, but I guess my Great Aunt perhaps wouldn't agree!

What your excellent critic might not be aware of is that all Brendan O'Carroll's 'Adlibs' are in fact scripted and timed, but certainly none the worse for that!

Robert W Barnes, Campoverde

Gone south!

COLUMNIST David Noon in his article on bullfighting (Issue 1685) stated Gabriel Garcia Marquez is American when in fact he is Colombian.

Philip Rigg (by email)

Editor's note: Oooops. The original submitted for publication stated SOUTH American.

Catalan protesters punish banks

They want to have the right to decide about their future but deny the companies / banks the same right. Hypocrisy. Paula Neumeier

Brit expats can stay in Spain post-Brexit

Sounds a bit of the relationship we had with the Spanish people before we joined EU. Michael Childs

Oh, that's very magnanimous of him! Considering the millions of Brits living and holidaying here pays his wages... they should be begging us to stay. Steve Walsh

Undoubtedly the Spanish would want to do the right thing, but they will have to act as agreed amongst the EU27. And, if the UK doesn't treat EU nationals in the UK properly, then it is possible the EU would retaliate. Graham Clark

800 Brits accused of holiday sickness scams

Hope they get them all and the companies behind it all. Bloody digraceful another black mark against us Brits. They don't deserve to holiday again - should confiscate their passports. Lilian Vela Rubio

So anyone who has a genuine claim will face the 'Spanish Inquisition' because of the pure greed of the scammers! Ray Moody

Get the companies that are creating the scam as well. Alexander Ongley

Cataluña 'will not accept' Spain's plan

They insult 47 million Spaniards with their acts ... the Spanish and European democracy will triumph ... the independentistas will end up in jail. Carlos Games

STEPHEN LEWIS, the Managing Director of LPL, created the idea of an effective and successful collection company back in 1979, having started his business career in the Food Industry working in both wholesale and retail distribution for the European wide SPAR organisation.

It was during his time in the Food industry, working as a Food Technology graduate in Odense, Denmark, that Stephen gained an appreciation of payment habits of buyers and sellers both in manufacturing and retail distribution in the UK, Europe and worldwide.

Having formed LPL with a dedicated team, some still with him over the many years of successful trading, LPL progressed to serve business and commerce in general throughout the UK and overseas.

During subsequent years Stephen joined the Board of the governing body for debt collection in the UK, The Credit Services Association, becoming their youngest president, serving from 1999 to 2002. Thereafter, Stephen became Head of Training for a further 10 years, teaching specialist debt collection courses to students at Manchester Business School, Warwick University and

Some years ago, due to a personal involvement in the Spanish property market Stephen realised that help was needed by communities to recover management fees owed by non-Spanish residents. The story has unfolded to over 10 years of successful collection for hundreds of communities that use LPL to collect these overdue fees. Stephen continues to play an active role in all departments within LPL but takes particular interest in the Spanish department so that his wealth of collection knowledge can translate to successful collections for LPL clients.

Roman baths in Casares

IF you have a nose for history then a visit to the Baños de la Hedionda (Casares, Malaga) might be a good idea.

That is if you also have a nose that can ignore the smell of sulphur in the baths which date back to Roman times and are said to be where the devil breathed out after being expelled from heaven.

These sulphurous springs are difficult to reach but are still accessible to the public if somewhat tatty as they have been partly vandalised over the past few years.

History records that Roman legionaries on the side of Julius Caesar visited the area in 61AD prior to one of the major battles with the troops of Pompey and those suffering from the skin complaint Scabies were said to have recovered after bathing in the waters.

Although it is not confirmed that Caesar himself was a visitor, work was undertaken in the baths over the centuries by the Romans, Moors and Spanish, and the area next to the Rio Manilva has been declared an area of local cultural interest.

Have I Got News for You (BBC1, Friday) has returned to our screens for an unbelievable 54th series.

If you can stand it, watch, turn the sound down and wait ... you will quickly realise you could be watching any of the shows from the previous 53 screenings.

I realise it is not strictly true (or Strictly Come Dancing for that matter) for you can roughly date the series being shown by gauging the amount of make-up Ian Hislop has been plastered with, combined with how bored he looks.

The more make-up and bored looking, the more recent the series.

Even with a random mix of rotating hosts. I wonder if they have considered Max Headroom. Do vou remember him? This tried, tested and now past-it format is surely due for the refresh treatment; to illustrate, years ago I was in the audience (there was free wine, warm and nasty, but free) and I'm sure they still use the same audience shot in the opening sequence.

Just look for a blonde haired male,

Focus on Auntie Beeb, and she won't like it

For the second of three swipes at the Beeb, there are reports of a new look for Ouestion Time (BBC1, Thursday).

This is another offering following the same format; correctly balanced panel and specially invited angry though slightly ignorant - audience member primed to ask the one question which will make them a hero or an idiot, depending on choice.

In a digital age, surely there is a more gripping way to probe the panel and involve a wider pool than 'the lady in the sweater, yes you madam.'

While we all love a Dimbleby and I subscribe to the notion every casa (home) should have one, part of any refresh must include a new host, just not anyone who has sat in the middle chair for Have I Got News For You.

Mind you that's cutting it down.

My final nudge, not a swipe, is that someone at Broadcasting House should axe Crimewatch (BBC1, was monthly, then bi-monthly, now not at all).

In an age of BBC refresh this is one show which should stay, get a makeover and grab viewers once more with reconstructions, serious looking members of HM Constabulary and an anchor from a US news network.

The

daytime spin-off, Crimewatch Roadshow will continue, just don't confuse it with the one about antiques.

Away from the Beeb if you haven't caught up with Bad Habits, Holy Orders (Channel 5, Thursday) give it a look. The Daughters of Divine Charity (they are the Nuns in this piece) fling open their convent doors and invite five ladies in.

Young, glamourous, and addicted to social media, body image and themselves, it seems their lives and views of themselves are going change without phones, selfies and make-up.

So keep watching, just to see what's in it for the Nuns.

Finally Modern Family (Sky1, Fridays) series nine is launching us into weekends with fresh stories about the everyday family who are anything but everyday, doing ordinary things, in an anything but ordinary way.

> Enjoy. Critique: J S Mojacar, Almeria.

I just can't remember!

Mike Senker In my opinion

Views of a Grumpy Old Man

HAVE you noticed that all the fun of getting old is slowly disappearing? Things like little aches and pains appear, we have pills for this, creams for that, something to help you sleep then something else to get you going in the morning.

I have an injection in the morning and another one at night. The first one is insulin and the other one is something that stops me getting hungry so I don't eat too much and therefore take less of the insulin I use in the morning.

And of course with advancing years there is the memory loss. I just got a message from a friend of mine that I had lunch with yesterday asking me the name of the video I suggested he watched on YouTube as he can't remember. I text him back saying I couldn't remember either and could he give me a clue and, of course, neither of us have any idea what we were talking about. So that was the end of that conversation.

My memory for this sort of thing now is getting worse and worse. This was further proved last night when we had some friends round and, as the evening progressed, we were chatting about all different topics and as we were talking all of us had our phones and had to keep Googling so many things like names of actors, names of songs, singers, film titles etc. It was a constant search fest.

That in turn got me wondering - do all these search engines help or hinder? I mean if we didn't have them the whole evening would be us not being able to recall anything or would it? Are we relying on the fact that we have Google to just quickly reference everything? If we didn't would we try that little bit harder?

The strange thing is I can remember poker hands that I've been beaten by or won with for weeks and rattle them off to anybody who wants to listen (there's not many!) Yet I don't know my wife's or daughter's telephone number off by heart any more. Why? Well I don't have to, do I? I just pick up my phone and press their name. Yet I can remember my home telephone number from when I was six years old.

There was something else I was going to write about but I can't remember what it was now. I'll get back to you if I do.

Each number in the Code Breaker grid represents a different letter of the alphabet. In this week's puzzle, 2 represents G and 5 represents N, so fill in G every time the figure 2 appears and N every time the figure 5 appears. Now, using your knowledge of the English language, work out which letters should go in the missing squares. As you discover the letters, fill in other squares with the same number in the main grid and the control grid.

HEARD about the country pub in North Yorkshire voted best restaurant in the world by TripAdvisor? My first thought was great! Hopefully, a no-nonsense country restaurant serving no-nonsense food that excluded one of my restaurant bugbears: taster menus (convenient and lucrative for the restaurant but only half the items of which many of us really like). But no! It has a taster menu that'll set you back £95 (including a £50 deposit).

And my other bugbears since you ask? Serving food on bits of wood, roof slates, shovels, drinks in jam jars, chips in mugs, tin cans, dog bowls and shoes. You didn't know some restaurants serve food in shoes? Count vourselves lucky!

Then, there's the 'concept.' Explained by hipster waiters who breathlessly tell you the salad leaves were foraged from the central reservation of the M25, or the salmon handsmoked in a skip in Stornoway.

And are restaurant staff instructed to wait until they see you fill your mouth with some especially trying, invariably leafy, mouthful before they ask the 'How's everything?' question, making an intelligible answer impossible? Some restaurants are worse than others, waiters hovering around watching, one after another coming to ask.

Well, here's my TripAdvisor five-star advice for hipster waiters: shut up asking how's everything every five minutes... please.

But the thing I detest most is pictures of food outside restaurants. Holidaying in Greece way back, the custom was so widespread that I took a stand: never to enter restaurants where photos of spaghetti bolognese, bangers and mash or whatever else was displayed outside. If you don't know what spag-bol looks like, you've only yourself to blame for what you end up with!

Another rule is to avoid (like the plague) restaurants where waiters are desperately trying to lure you in. They're nowhere to be seen when your order arrives - that lacks any resemblance to the photo of spag-bol. For me, it's Nora's Law and it's never let me down.

Finally, heard about the new restaurant on the moon? Fabulous food but no atmosphere ...

THURSDAY THOUGHTS By Graham Braben, Albox

Enjoying your life DO you ever stop and wonder to yourself, has the world lost its marbles? I'm sure you do it many times, I did it only last week.

We keep being told how little money there is for this, that and the other thing that may be lifesaving, then we see a story about what I'm about to tell you and you think, there's more sense in an episode of Popeye than there is out in the world in general.

Just recently the Glasgow Science Centre launched a chocolate teacake into space. Over 30,000 people watched the whole thing live on the internet. Yes, you read it right, huge numbers of people took time out of their busy day to watch... a flying teacake. Can you imagine asking your boss for time off to go and watch a biscuit being launched into space? I'm quite sure you can guess what the response would be.

Maybe I've got it wrong here. Could it be that in years to come, people will remember exactly where they were on that momentous day when the first teacake hurtled into space?

But it's not just teacakes. Even though it could have ended in tragedy, I had to do a double take at a story earlier this month about a man who swallowed a live fish, whole. As far as I can see there is no reason I can fathom for trying to swallow a fish. As it turned out it was an accident - the man was trying to kiss the fish when it shot out of his hands and went down his throat. Fortunately, paramedics were called and they managed to save the man - though the unfortunate fish didn't fare too well.

The point I'm trying to make is that, really, there's often no point to things so we should just carry on in blind ignorance, and enjoy life as much as we can.

Recharge, relax, repeat

AS a leading hearing-aid specialist in the Costa Blanca region, Apple Hearing & Healthcare is proud to introduce the recent breakthrough in the rechargeable hearing aid battery solutions. With this technology, you can:

• Enjoy continuous, stable and uninterrupted power throughout the day

• Avoid the hassle of disposable batteries.

· Recharge your batteries while you sleep.

• Replace your batteries once a year at your annual checkup. One pair of ZPower batteries equals 200 disposables.

If you wear hearing aids, you know how important batteries are to their performance. You also know the inconvenience it can be to buy hearing aid batteries, always having to ensure you have spares with you, or having to change them in the middle of an event or conversation.

With ZPower, you no longer need to worry about running out of power or replacing hearing aid batteries mid-activity. You can relax, knowing you will have continuous, stable and uninterrrupted hearing aid use throughout your day.

Your hearing aids are small and their batteries are even smaller.

Even with perfect vision and steady hands, the process of getting batteries out of their packaging, removing the tabs, and inserting them in the hearing aid can be challenging.

With ZPower, you potentially only change batteries once a year.

That's because, once inserted into your MuseTM micro RIC 312t hearing aids, they recharge by placing the entire hearing aid on the ZPower charger. After three-four hours of charging, your hearing aids are completely charged and ready to deliver up to 22 hours of use.

No need to fuss, worry or stop what you're doing because your hearing aids are running low on power.

SOMETIMES, even after dieting and exercising. the flesh around the tummy just won't shift. Once stretched, muscle and skin do not easily return to their original shape, especially as we get older and skin begins to lose its elasticity. At Medcare we can offer both non-surgical and surgical methods to help you.

Tummy Tuck (Abdomonoplasty)

In many cases, where there is extra flesh, especially around the lower abdomen, a tummy tuck can offer a solution. During abdomonopasty, the excess fat and skin are removed and abdominal muscles are tightened, creating a tighter, flatter stomach. As an added benefit, stretch marks may be reduced, or even eliminated, as they are taken away with any excess folds of skin.

Liposuction

Liposuction, or Liposculpture, is a surgical technique used to remove fat deposits and reshape specific areas of the body or face.

Some patients who think they need a Tummy Tuck can actually benefit from Liposuction instead. It is much less invasive and on the right candidate, can offer great results. Best results are achieved on people of a normal weight who have tried diet and exercise but find that they still have problem areas where fat pockets remain. Liposuction will also give a better result where skin still has elasticity.

Aqualyx

The alternative to Liposuction is Aqualyx® -

EXILIS TREATMENT: Highly popular and non-invasive.

The 'Fat Dissolver'. Aqualyx is an injectable gelbased solution developed for the non-surgical reduction of localised fat under the skin. Aqualyx can be used to reduce undesirable fat on almost any part of the body, but is most popular for fat pockets around the chin, love handles, thighs, saddle bags, abdomen. underarms and buttocks. It is also good for treating pseudo-gynocomastia in men (man boobs).

When Aqualyx® is injected into the problem area it liquefies the fat cells, destroying them permanently, releasing the lipids that are then eliminated naturally through the lymphatic system. Put more simply, Aqualyx® breaks down the wall of the fat cell, releasing liquid fat, which the body then treats as waste and dispels.

Medcare_

AQUALYX TREATMENT: Alternative fat removal.

Exilis

Non-invasive, and with no down time, Exilis is ideal for patients who already have achieved good results from diet and exercise but struggle with small areas of fat. Using a combination of ultrasound and radio frequency, Exilis delivers safe thermal energy which kills fat cells. Fat drains into the lymphatic system and is expelled from the body, you literally pee out your excess fat.

The thermal energy also stimulates collagen and tightens skin. The fact that Exilis works in both fat reduction and skin tightening, as well as being noninvasive makes it a highly popular and effective treatment.

Exilis can be used on the face, jawline, abdomen, buttocks, back and arms.

Clinica Benissa

Results shown above are from courses of Exilis and Aqualyx treatment.

Pushing the limit

A NEW study has found that white men who do excessive amounts of exercise each week are almost twice as likely to suffer from heart disease as those who work out moderately.

A study by the University of Illinois in Chicago analysed the exercise habits of over 3,000 people over 25 years and discovered that white men who exercised for more than seven hours per week were more likely to suffer from serious cardiac problems.

However, the researchers didn't find that the outcome applied to men from other ethnicities.

According to Public Health England, heart disease claims more men's lives in the UK than any other illness.

The study discovered that white men who exercised excessively were more likely to build up plaque in their arteries which can lead to severe heart problems such as heart disease.

FIT FACT: Health experts recommend that we should do everything in moderation, including exercise.

This suggested that too much exercise could put excessive stress on the arteries.

The results surprised the researchers, who expected those who did the most exercise to be less likely to develop these illnesses. Deepika Laddu, the co-author of the study, revealed that more research needed to be done to investigate why this was the case and why there was such a difference in the results from white participants and those of other ethnicities.

However, Laddu stressed that the study did not suggest that people should stop exercising altogether, but that they should limit workouts to the recommended 150 minutes a week.

While any form of exercise is considered crucial to keeping your heart healthy, there are some workouts that could be more beneficial than others. Swimming, weight training and cycling have all been shown to help prevent illnesses such as heart disease and boost overall health.

Sciatica and how to deal with it

SPECIALIST: Doctor Luis Perez Belmonte.

What are the symptoms or signs of it? The main symptoms that produce pain usually originate in the lower back. This can affect the legs and produce muscle contractures and the inability to move.

When should I talk to my physician?

Whenever you begin to feel symptoms that may suggest something's wrong in the previously mentioned areas you should consult a health care professional. First, talk to your family doctor but if that's not enough you will need to consult a specialist.

What causes it?

It's usually caused by problems in the intervertebral discs which bring about herniated discs, inflammation of the tendons and muscles and dislocation of the back bones, typically via arthritis and mainly in the elderly.

How do I treat it?

The first things needed are rest, dry heat, painkillers, anti-inflammatories and muscle relaxants. Physiotherapy exercises are also helpful in lessening the pain derived from this illness. In very advanced cases when pain cannot be managed, surgical intervention may be required.

OPTIONAL INTRO: The term sciatica describes a set of symptoms that are characterised by leg pain (and possibly tingling, numbness or weakness) starting at the bottom of the back and going through the buttocks and the greater sciatic nerve down the back of each leg. Sciatica is a symptom of another underlying health problem. It is not a disease in itself.

SNACK HAPPY: Cereal makes a healthy alternative to crisps or chocolate.

Cereal fillers

MORE than 50 per cent of Millennials (aged 23-40) have admitted to eating cereal as a snack at home, compared with just 32 per cent of Baby Boomers (aged 53-71), according to Mintel research.

Experiencing a growth in popularity over recent decades, cereal is no longer the boring, flavourless food it once was and nearly 75 per cent of cereal consumers agree that it makes a great snack.

It became clear the trend had even caught on in Spain when the first 'cereal cafe' was opened in Madrid last year, offering over 170 varieties to choose from.

Many cereals are packed with vitamins and minerals, and are low in calories so makes a better option than many snacking products on supermarket shelves. Several types also boast a high amount of fibre so can even help with your digestion.

A study published in the 'Journal of the American Dietetics Association' found that those who snacked healthily often consumed a higher amount of fruits, vegetables and fibre, which is vital for helping to prevent the development of certain illnesses.

If no pain, there's no gain

A RECENT study by Zensa Skincare found that the most painful beauty treatment out there is bikini waxing. After surveying more than 1,000 men and women, researchers found that waxing topped the list, getting a ranking of nearly 3.9 out of 5. Tattoos came in second around 3.5, followed by waxing of other body parts and electrolysis. When researchers asked participants to compare the treatment with other painful experiences, waxing dropped to sixth place; with giving birth taking prime position.

Low Back Pain: Did you really try everything?

The bulk of our patient base consists of people with a long history of low back pain. People often suffer from these kinds of complaints for many years and are progressively getting worse. The majority of these patients already have had all kinds of scans, examinations and therapy and more and often have heard that they have to live with the complaint, that there is no identifiable cause or the pain is caused by "old age" and that they must just start exercising.

Finding the cause of low back pain is often difficult, but certainly not impossible. The cause of back pain is often searched on a local level, while the cause of this common complaint is often located in a completely different area of the body like the pelvis, knees and feet. Furthermore, the cause of low back pain is almost always caused by several components, including bad posture.

The usual methods used to diagnose the cause of low back pain are not sufficient. X-ray images and scans are used to diagnose a problem without even touching or examining the spine. On these recordings all the anatomical structures are clearly visible and also any defects therein. This does not mean that these abnormalities are the cause of the complaints.

People without any back pain can have slipped discs, decreased intervertebral disc height and arthritis as well. To give an example: 45% of all people who have undergone a hernia operation have the same symptoms after surgery as before. This is not just because the operation failed, but because the hernia was not the cause of the original complaint. Local low back pain which doesn't radiate into the leg is seldom caused by a herniated or slipped disc..... Extensive research of the SI joints (joints of the pelvis) and joints in the back (facet joints) notes that 80% of the examined persons had back pain due to the inflammatory changes present in these joints. Whenever there has been injected an anti inflammatory drug into the CAUSE of the pain (the joints), the pain disappears.

This means that 80 % of the low back pains are caused by strain in these joints. This method of diagnosis (which is NOT a treatment method) is unfortunately hardly ever used in regular hospitals. This is regrettable, especially since these two frequent inflammatory reactions do not show on any X-ray or scan.... Clearly injecting these joints cannot be used as a therapy, because it only covers the pain, but doesn't treat the cause of the problem.

Our clinic is specialised in detecting the real cause of low back pain with special tests. Our diagnostic techniques are developed to examine the SI and back (facet) joints. Our main goal is not only to discover the inflamed joint, but to get to the cause of the problem which might be in a different part of the body. These two types of low back pain which are the most common causes of low back pain can be very successfully treated in our clinic.

Also when you have an ongoing problem for years and have been to every doctor!! Our approach is unique and very different!! You certainly do not have to live with these complaints.

Research suggests that the body needs at least 10mg of Vitamin D to function properly, which can help to boost health and ward off diseases.

Spending too much time in the sun can be dangerous to your skin health, however, with around an hour a day

Pills of sunshine

being the recommended maximum, depending on how strong the sun is. Fortunately, you can also get your daily dose of vitamin D by eating certain foods or taking supplements.

If it doesn't receive the recommended daily dose, your body is at risk of developing soft or fragile bones. It has also been proven to have many other health benefits, such as fighting illness and disease. According to research by the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition, it can help reduce your likelihood of getting flu and could also reduce your chances of developing heart disease.

Studies have also suggested that people with a vitamin D deficiency are at more risk of feeling anxious or depressed. On one occasion, scientists discovered that patients suffering from depression noticed an improvement in their symptoms after taking vitamin D supplements.

While taking a supplement is an easy way to ensure you're getting enough of the vitamin, it also helps to include more vitamin D rich food in your diet.

Lions say thank you for help

ONCE again the Teulada-Moraira Lions are organising their regular Halloween Party at the Plaza de la Iglesia in Moraira next Tuesday.

Starting at 6pm, it's free and child friendly as a thank you for all of the support that the charity receives from local residents each year.

There will be plenty for the children including fancy dress, face painting, games and music.

Halloween Night with Teulada-Moraira Lions always attracts large numbers of children and adults alike so why not abandon your inhibitions, climb into a scary costume and go visit - you will be guaranteed a warm if a possibly slightly spooky welcome.

Three cheers for German beers

SAID to be Spain's oldest German Beer Festival, the Calpe Oktoberfest runs nightly until Sunday November 5 (except for All Saint's Day next Wednesday).

Now in its 30th year, entry after 6pm at the Festival tent located on the Avenida Juan Carlos I, behind the Tennis Club is free to enter but all food and drink must be paid for.

There will be German music, traditional costume, food, many steins holding a litre of beer and

а

great choice of different German drinks. Each night sees different types of entertainment but always with the > emphasis on the great beer. With more than 10,000 people expected to attend, it should be an event to remember and don't forget to stand every time the drinking song Ein Prosit is sung.

On air again

WITH the summer break, September fiestas and the October long weekend over, Radio Altea has recommenced its usual programme schedule.

All of the previous season's programmes are back, including the 4-5pm Thursday English-language spot, Altea Alive, with Kate Ferry and her occasional guest, Euro Weekly News columnist Cassandra Nash.

Radio Altea now collaborates with the Valencian Network of Radio Broadcaster, revealed Communications and New Technologies councillor Pere Barber.

This enables Radio Altea to benefit from the programmes of other radio stations, while exporting its own programmes.

"We produce all our own programmes," Barber said, "but extra material from the Valencian network will enable us to extend our current timetables."

Barber also said that Radio Altea's two computer systems for Studios 1 and 2 have been renewed. "They have been operating 24 hours a day, 365 days a year for more than 10 years and are of vital importance as they provide continuity when the station is unmanned."

A black grape variety widely grown to make medium to full bodied reds and often referred to as Spain's noble grape, the Tempranillo name is derived from 'temprano,' which is Spanish for early. This refers to the fact that it ripens several weeks earlier than most Spanish red grapes.

Grown in Spain since Phoenician times more than 2,000 years ago, although native to the north the grape is found throughout the globe from Argentina to

La Dolce Vita

THE Teulada-Moraira Auditorium will host a night of Italian baroque music performed by the Valencia Classical Chamber Orchestra, Soloists and Choir on October 29.

The programme will feature some of the most revered pieces from the baroque era, including compositions by Giovanni Battista Pergolesi and Antonio Vivaldi.

Pergolesi's 'Stabat Mater' is considered one of the most important pieces of religious music of all time. Released in 1736, the same year the talented composer passed away when he was just 26 years old, the work achieved great fame in Europe and continues to be popular among classical music aficionados today.

The evening will also showcase an interpretation of Tomaso Albinoni's 'Adagio en Sol Menor.' It has continued to be one of the most popular, and controversial, Baroque scores since Remo Giazotto, a 20th century musicologist, rearranged a copy of the original score he found in the Dresden Library over 60 years ago.

Antonio Vivaldi will also be featured in the performance with his 'Gloria RV 589,' better known simply as the 'Gloria' due to its immense popularity.

SOPRANO: Julia Farres-Llonguers hitting the high notes.

As well as being one of the composer's most famous compositions, the piece is representative of the late Italian baroque style. The performance will feature the voices of Julia Farres-Llonguers and Sandra Fernandez, and the music will be directed by Oscar Creus.

THE price of houses in Spain has increased 16 per cent since the end of 2014, according to a report by the Bank of Spain.

This is a significant improvement following the 37 per cent drop the market experienced after the 2007 financial crisis.

Investment in Spanish property has also grown about 1.5 per cent each year between 2014 and 2017, which has been put down to higher employment rates and rising disposable incomes.

According to the same report, there has also been a gradual increase in sales of Spanish property during this time period, with deals by international investors up a whopping 17 per cent. This also means the number of homes still left on the market is starting to go down.

The Bank of Spain also revealed that there is a clear upward trend in mortgage stability. Given that the International Monetary Fund estimated that Spain's GDP growth will surpass 2.5 per cent by the end of 2017, making it the fastest growing economy in Europe, it would seem the country's recent financial stability is increasing investor confidence.

BBVA, Spain's second biggest bank, estimated that half a million properties would be sold in 2017, and figures at the six-month mark suggested that target would easily be met.

There are still several regions in Spain that stand-out in the recent property boom; however, including the Costa del Sol, Mallorca and the Costa Blanca. In fact, there has been a 43 per cent increase in real estate agencies in Malaga Province since 2013 as a result of the surge in demand.

Nearly 30,000 property sales were recorded in the region from June 2016 to June 2017, marking an increase of almost 10 per cent from the previous 12-month period, according to data from the Registrar's Association.

The good news does not stop there as the country's prime property hotspots are expected to continue to increase in value this year, according to a report by global real estate consultants Knight Frank.

Mark Harvey, head of European Sales at Knight Frank revealed that enquiries for Spanish homes are up 150 per cent year-on-year. He credited the strengthening euro as one of the reasons why international investors were keen to invest their money in the Spain market.

The study also revealed which nationalities monopolised the key property hotspots. Madrid's main investors were from Venezuela, Mexico and Switzerland while s popular among those from Barcelona was popular among those from France, Turkey and the US.

In Marbella, the main foreign investors tended to be from Germany, Morocco, Russia and Scandinavia while in Mallorca the market belonged to the Brits, the Belgian and the Dutch.

The predicted increase in prices also looks promising to those looking to make an investment on a Spanish home, as a property in an 'indemand' location is likely to bring high returns.

Currencies Direct

Sending money back to the UK? Let's stretch those euros.

If your time in Spain is coming to an end and you need to transfer your savings back to the UK, or if you need to send money home to meet ongoing expenses, you'll want to make the most of every cent.

Take control of your currency transfers

As an expat, you've no doubt had to deal with currency transfers in the past - but you might not have had access to the most suitable services. Getting more for your money when moving it abroad (or sending it home) is simple with the right support and the best tools.

Leading currency transfer providers like Currencies Direct have spent decades working with expats and know exactly which services are most suited to their needs. If you're moving money back from Spain, what transfer options should you be aware of?

Spot Transfer

Making an immediate overseas payment at the going market rate is known as a spot transfer. It can be beneficial if the market is currently in your favour and you have the money ready to send.

Forward Contract

If the markets are in a favourable position, but you haven't sold your Spanish property yet or aren't quite ready to send money back to the UK, you can use a forward contract to 'freeze' the EUR/GBP exchange rate for up to a year. You can then transfer your funds at the rate you've fixed when you want to, allowing you to budget effectively and protecting you from negative shifts in the currency market.

Market Orders

Market orders allow you to target a specific exchange rate, or protect yourself from losing out should the market worsen while you hold out for a better rate.

A limit order targets an exchange rate higher than the current market rate, automatically transferring your funds when it's hit.

A stop-loss order allows you to set a minimum exchange rate at which you would be happy to send your funds, automatically transferring the money should the market weaken to that level. You can even combine both order types to create a target range in which you're happy to trade. The orders are set up to automatically cancel each other out once one is triggered.

What else do you need to know?

As the last couple of years have shown, exchange rates are really volatile things. Even when there aren't major events like the German election and Catalonian referendum to contend with, euro exchange rates can move by as much as 5% in a matter of weeks.

Mistiming your currency transfer and choosing to move your money home from Spain when the euro is weaker could have a significant impact on how many pounds you receive - so it's important to stay on top of the latest market movements.

Subscribing to receive regular market updates from your currency broker is one of the easiest ways to keep track of what exchange rates are up to. With Currencies Direct you can even set up a Rate Alert and get an instant email or text when your target rate is achieved.

Maximise your money when moving it home from Spain by looking into your currency transfer options today.

Sweeten up your garden with sugar cane

LOVE YOUR CAR?

GRAEME TYRRELL

BRIGHT sunny spots in the Mediterranean garden are often a challenge to find plants hardy enough to tolerate the intense heat and sun and yet be strong enough to resist the cold winter months with shorter day length.

An interesting alternative to the more common species for these zones that requires minimal maintenance and provides a wonderful food source is sugar cane, (Saccharum officinarum).

Sugar cane has been grown commercially in Spain for hundreds of years, especially along the Mediterranean coast, but production declined when it was found to be more economical to grow in the New World after Christopher Columbus took plants there to grow on the tropical islands off Central America.

For the home gardener it is a great alternative to bamboo as it is less invasive and gives the option of extracting the wonderful sugar cane juice.

The sugar cane plant grows and looks similar to bamboo as it is of the grass family of plants,

Poaceae. With stalks of cane growing up to four metres high and with a width of five centimetres, it has wonderful flowering tassels at the top of the canes that are often called arrows, due to the flowers form appearing as an arrow head.

GREEN FINGERS: Growing and flowering sugar cane.

The tassels wave in the wind giving a gentle relaxing rhythm reminiscent of the waves in the sea. The leaves are long, a very distinct shade of green and rustle in the wind. The canes can be used like bamboo for making supports in the garden, or other structures.

www.euroweeklynews.com

The juice from the mature canes is used to make crystallised sugar, molasses and syrups.

Sugar is controversial for its health benefits as the refined sugar made from the juice has chemicals including added sulphur, which makes it acidic in nature, but the natural juice is deliciously sweet and alkaline has many positive health benefits. It is recognised in Ayervedic and other traditional medicines as therapeutic.

Extracting the juice requires a strong press to remove cleanly but alternatives are to boil down the inner core of the canes to make a syrup, or use a powerful blender or juicer.

In India it is a common refreshment with lime juice and ginger, added from street venders all over the country using what looks like a washing machine wringer to crush and extract the juice.

The plants are easy to grow from the stalks, by planting a piece from a strong healthy plant about 30 - 40 centimetres long with three or four joints which the plant will grow from. Growing from seed can give very variable results as the sugar cane can cross with other Poaceae species and may not be true to the parent plant. It takes two to three years for the emerging canes to be mature enough to produce the juice that can be extracted and be tall and thick enough to harvest as canes.

They are best grown in a position in full sun all year but protected from the cold if only growing a few as an ornament feature.

WHILE tulips are most associated with Holland, they actually originate from Southern Europe and Central Asia, so make the perfect addition to

Tulip mania

While tulip bulbs seem quite delicate on first appearance, they are actually fairly hard and easy to grow. When choosing your bulbs, look for ones that are firm when you squeeze them, with an intact outer skin. They also need to be a reasonable size to be able to flower in their first year.

The best time to plant tulip bulbs is in October or November, as they tend to flourish in cooler weather. However, if you live in an area where the temperature doesn't tend to drop too low, keep the bulbs in the fridge for a few weeks before planting, usually four is enough. You can either plant tulips in individual holes or one big hole, but make sure you leave around 15cm between each bulb and plant them twice as deep as the bulb is high.

Tulips thrive in sunny spots, and won't flower well unless they receive enough natural light. Also make sure they're planted in soil with good drainage, but you can also plant them in pots or raised beds to better control their water supply.

MANY times in a week I am informed that a dog only understands German, French, Spanish, or English.

I find that many owners and some trainers have a misguided perception of what a dog really is and entertain false expectations of their pet. Most think their pet is a small hairy person based on the assumption that a dog's level of understanding is equal to their own.

It is vital to keep in mind that dogs do not have the capacity to intercept human language, behaviour or emotions.

Understanding dogs

How intelligent is a dog?

admin@housesitmatch.com Tel. 0044(0) 777 214 2742

www.housesitmatch.com

Dogs are capable of linking two ideas together, but cannot link actions, which are separated to another time. If for example a dog makes a mess during your absence there is no point in telling the dog off or getting annoyed; the dog's brain cannot link the action. Many will say 'He knows he has done wrong', he does not, the brain is not formulated this way.

A dog's brain is much smaller than man's, in particular the cerebrum - the portion of the brain associated with intellectual function, emotion and personality. Dogs cannot understand our human language. It is far more important to use sound patterns, intonation and facial and body language as a form of communication.

A dog wants to please and all learning should be based on a positive reinforcement of reward. Owners should keep in mind that a large part of a dog's brain is occupied with sensory activity, particularly the interpretation of scent.

CHASING INSTINCT: Can be managed.

Instinct is something either there or not there.

Dog's natural instinct plays a vital role and often it is difficult to understand why so few dog owners can differentiate between instinct and intelligence. Instinct is an urge from within which makes a dog act in certain ways and has no connection with intelligence.

Dog's first instinct is to survive, when a pup is born he squirms

Doggy sick day

By Kat Ashton

AN Italian woman was granted sick pay for taking time off to care for her sick dog. The woman, an academic from Rome's La Sapienza University, won the landmark court case where she argued that taking time off to care for sick pets should be legally allowed.

The woman claimed that she should be compensated for the two days she took off to care for her 12-year-old English setter, who had recently undergone surgery. The dog-lover had some help from one of the biggest animal rights groups in Europe, the Italian Anti-Vivisection League (LAV), whose president Gianluca Felicetti declared that the court win was "a significant step forward that recognised that animals that are not kept for financial gain or their working ability are effectively members of the family".

The woman's lawyers argued that her employers should have allowed her leave on the grounds that it was an absence related to 'serious or family personal reasons'.

Understanding both sides of the story

LOVE travel? House-sitting is a great way to exchange vour services for free accommodation, while we are always looking for pet owners who need help to meet suitable checked sitters.

Sometimes people ask if I really understand what is required in house and pet-sitting. Yes I tell them because as a home and pet owner I have had house-sitters in my bership (please note the dis-about you and your pets. And about until he finds a teat and then sucks it. No intelligence or learning by any association plays a part in the process.

The maternal instinct tells the female to clean up the foetal membrane and stir the puppy into action by licking it. The female is not taught, as she has not seen another female do this. Most instincts provide pleasure to the dog, and because it associates the action with pleasure, the instinct grows stronger with usage.

Instinct can be strengthened, weakened or diverted, it cannot be put there and it cannot be taken away. It might lie dormant, but once developed it can never be weakened.

A dog with an obsession for chasing balls or chewing socks can be controlled by training and by providing other outlets for his energy. The same if a young dog is corrected the first time he chases a car he may give up the idea, but if he is allowed to chase cars the hunting instinct becomes stronger, and in no time it will be very difficult, even impossible to cure the habit.

Instinct also covers survival, hunting, guarding, and the pack.

ENJOYING a lovely view while house-sitting.

Destiny awaits Alonso in 2018

SPAIN'S two-times F1 world champion Fernando Alonso is looking ahead to 2018 - with the Gods mapping out his future: better times are coming.

"I believe things happen because they have to happen," said Alonso, who is competing in the F1 2017 Grand Prix in Mexico on Sunday October 29.

Alonso's last F1 win was the 2013 Spanish Grand Prix at the Circuit de Cataluña, Barcelona. It was Alonso's 32nd Grand Prix victory.

Looking ahead to 2018, Alonso - whose odds to win in Malaysia on October 1 were an astonishing 400-1 - said: "Next year there are minimum changes of regulations."

Renault will be supplying Alonso's current team McLaren's engines in 2018, and he said: "I think the rate of development this year has been very high - because of new regulations - and there will be extra development over the winter."

Alonso, who has approaching 100 podiums, finishing first on 32 occasions, sees his fall from the top of F1 as fate: "All the things that happen - in a race, in a championship, or in your life - are for a reason," he said.

"Better times are coming - I prefer to think that way," said Alonso, who tipped Lewis Hamilton for the 2017 F1 title, ahead of Sebastian Vettel.

Alonso, who has competed against both Hamilton and Vettel for world titles, revealed he punched a fist into a wall in frustration after the 2017 Singapore GP.

Alonso, who went out of the race at the first corner, said: "It was frustration. That podium could have been one of the biggest things of my career and we missed it."

Alonso, who ended Michael Schumacher's reign at the top, moved to McLaren, had spells with Renault and Ferrari, and clocked up 17 victories, with three championship runner-up titles.

Oviedo born Alonso, aged 36, secured his first F1 race drive with Minardi, prior to joining Renault as a test driver in 2002, becoming a race driver in 2003.

In 2005, aged 22, Alonso made history by becoming the youngest ever pole-sitter in Malaysia, and the youngest winner, with maiden victory in Hungary.

In 2007 Alonso moved to McLaren, alongside Hamilton, returning to Renault in 2008 gaining victories at the inaugural F1 night race in Singapore - followed by a race win in Japan.

In 2010 Alonso took just one podium, in Singapore. A move to Ferrari followed, to partner Felipe Massa, a season that saw Alonso gain five wins finishing behind new world champion Sebastian Vettel.

Alonso's second season with Ferrari saw victory at Silverstone - followed by nine podiums - finishing fourth overall.

In 2012 Alonso won the Malaysian GP, and victory in front of a home crowd in Valencia saw Alonso head the drivers' standings, only to be thwarted by Vettel, who won a third F1 title.

Alonso achieved wins in China and Spain in 2013 along with seven podium standings - but Vettel was crowned F1 Champion, yet again.

In 2014, despite Alonso's two podium finishes, the team failed to win for the first time since 1993, leading to Alonso returning to McLaren.

In a woeful 2015 campaign Alonso scored points - in just two races - ending the season with a paltry 11 points.

Alonso, who was lucky when he avoided serious injury following a crash at Melbourne's Albert Park in 2016, said: "I want to be competitive next year, back on the podiums. I want to be back in victory - fighting for the world championship. I remain optimistic."

Despite no F1 wins during the 2017 season - and no podium placings, Alonso is undeterred: "I think positive - always.

"What has happened this year is because destiny wanted that - it is taking care of our luck for better opportunities."
