Hash stash 'worth tens of millions' seized

by Matt Ford

A 61-year-old British expatriate has been held on suspicion of heading a drug smuggling plot on the Costa del Sol.

It comes after investigators revealed that he was planning to use a bogus export firm to send almost 10 tonnes of hashish stashed in domestic freezers from Spain to North Africa.

The drugs - worth tens of millions of Euros - were reportedly set to be distributed around the Middle East after arriving in Libyan capital Tripoli.

PALMONES RAID: The drugs were being packed into chest freezers (inset left), with almost 10 tonnes seized (inset right).

Five other men, including two Moroccans and three Spaniards, are also being quizzed by detectives.

Living the high life

THOUSANDS of hoteliers from across Spain will flock to the Costa del Sol after Malaga was chosen to host the biannual National Hotels Congress - the most important event of its type in the country - from May 31 to June 1.

Car smash

SEVEN people were hurt when a car careered into a bus in Malaga City centre, with an 84-year-old man hospitalised, after the vehicles collided at a roundabout on Calle Armengual de la Mota.

Oil gone

INVESTIGATORS have recovered 500 kilos of olives stolen from farms in the vicinity of Antequera, with a man and a child held in the village of Mollina on suspicion of selling the loot on to third parties.

A BRITISH expatriate woman who was raped, robbed and beaten after a night out on the Costa del Sol helped police track down her attacker after she found selfies he took on her stolen mobile phone.

After buying a new handset in the wake of her ordeal, images of a 22-year-old man posing with his friends appeared when she synchronised the device with Google Drive.

It comes after the victim, 23, was attacked while walking alone in the La Nogalera neighbourhood of central Torremolinos, having earlier enjoyed after work drinks with two friends.

She was approached by a 'young man' who punched her hard in the face, knocking her out, according to a police statement.

And when she came around she was naked from the waist down.

Her assailant was in the process of violating her and hit her repeatedly as she screamed at him to stop, but he gripped her hair tightly and threatened to kill her.

She eventually managed to break free with some of her clothes intact and asked a pedestrian for help.

But he mistook her for a drunk reveller, while no-one answered when she knocked on a friend's door.

Disorientated, she ran through the town centre, even crossing paths with the suspect again, before stumbling into a nearby health clinic.

RAPED, ROBBED AND BEATEN: The sickening attack took place in the La Nogalera neighbourhood in central Torremolinos.

Detectives found 'biological remains,' one of the victim's earrings and a few coins at the scene of the attack, but the clothes had been cleared away by dustbin men and could not be recovered.

Two witnesses said they had heard her calling for help, and one described seeing a man punching a woman in a doorway.

The alleged culprit is a 22-year-old squatter with six previous arrests to his name, including two for sexual assault.

He has been charged with rape and violent robbery and remanded in custody as investigators continue to probe the case.

New facility for migrants

THE Spanish government has revealed that it is to fund the installation of prefabricated 'modules' near the fish market in Malaga Port, to allow Red Cross workers better facilities to deal with the relentless stream of asylum seekers trying to cross the Mediterranean Sea from Africa to Spain.

Up in smoke

THREE tobacco smugglers carrying 6,757 packets of black market cigarettes have been held at Malaga Airport. The Egyptian and Syrian trio reportedly bought the contraband in Egypt and flew to the Costa del Sol via Athens and Rome after hiding it in nine suitcases.

Cash in fury

MARBELLA City Hall has sparked fresh outrage after announcing it is to privatise more services, adding the clearing of public spaces to a raft of contracts worth €50 million agreed by the conservative Popular Party came back into power at the end of last summer.

Something fishy

THE Spanish senate has urged the national government to approve an application for the 'espeto,' the classic sardine skewer that has become an emblem of the Costa del Sol, to be listed as an item of Intangible Cultural Heritage by UNESCO, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation.

Pusher men

TWO men have been arrested in the Los Boliches neighbourhood of Fuengirola after being caught in the act of selling drugs to a child. The pair were carrying €700 in cash and hashish, cannabis buds, magic mushrooms and a precision scale were seized during a raid on one of their homes.

Blooming gorgeous

THE BIG PICTURE Nº 2

IN THE PINK: Snow blankets the Sierra Nevada mountains in Granada as almond trees burst into flower on the lower slopes.

A MAGICAL display is taking place in the hills and mountains of Mediterranean Spain.

For a few weeks in January and February hundreds of thousands of almond trees erupt into blossom, with the countryside briefly transformed into a spectacular fairytale landscape of delicate pink and white hues.

Grown mostly in Andalucia, Aragon, Cataluña, Valencia, Murcia, and the Balearic Islands, almonds form an important part of the local diet, being used to prepare everything from soups and sauces to cakes, pastries, marzipan and nougat.

Almonds form part of the Prunus 'stone fruit' genus along with plums, cherries, peaches, nectarines and apricots.

Native to the Middle East and Northern Africa, the trees were domesticated around 3,000 BC and brought to Spain by the Moors.

And the country is now the world's second-largest producer of almonds after the United States.

More than 100 varieties are currently grown, but only five are produced on a commercial scale, with the marcona form - known as the queen of almonds - widely considered to be the best quality in the world.

It is an ancient festival of unknown origin.

Taking place in the hamlet of Navalacruz in the foothills of the Sierra de Gredos mountains, Avila, the Los Harramachos ritual is thought to be a pre-Roman call to protect livestock and children and boost fertility at the onset of spring.

During the event revellers dress in fearsome-looking costumes made from sacking, animal skins and natural materials, concealing their faces with animalistic masks.

And a number of different characters are involved in the annual celebration, which took place last Saturday.

The Harramachos themselves are brash, masked individuals with a frightening appearance, although they do not participate in the ritual itself.

The Heifer is the incarnation of evil and wears a set of cow antlers and a bell at the waist, with three black crosses painted on his face.

He chases women and lifts their skirts with his horns, before fighting and 'dying' in the village square.

El Vaquero carries chorizo, wine and bread, and traditionally rewarded children who rang small bells.

The mayor is the highest-ranking of the Fifts - boys who turned 18 during the previous year - and can be recognised by his black cloak and long stick that is used to leap the Chico River several times at a point of his choosing during a key part of the ceremony.

He temporarily becomes mayor of the village during the festival.

Strictly on beach duty

AFTER months of speculation they finally confirmed their romance on Valentine's Day.

And Spanish dancer Gorka Marquez, 27, and actress Gemma Atkinson, 33, are clearly head over heels after the pair posted a series of snaps after jetting to Tenerife for a blast of winter sun.

The loved-up couple were pictured enjoying a tanning session on the beach, with Gemma sporting a skimpy bikini and Gorka showcasing his rippling torso, after earlier uploading a video of themselves arm wrestling.

Although they had previously denied any romantic link, Gemma let the cat out of the bag on Valentine's Day as she posted a picture of them sat on a rock together with her head resting on his shoulder.

She captioned the shot: 'Here's to many more kid. Happy Valentine's Day @gorka_marquez.'

Their idyllic getaway came after the pair wrapped up the Strictly Come Dancing live tour.

The London-born beauty left little to the imagination after slipping into a barely-there swimsuit for a racy frolic in the shallows.

Life's a peach!

SHE'S never been shy of flaunting her surgically-enhanced assets on social media. And ex-Geordie Shore star Chantelle Connelly had even more to display after slipping into an orange thong to display the result of her new bum implants.

The 27-year-old jetted to Marbella on the Costa del Sol for the surgery, and captioned the saucy snap with a series of peach emojis.

THE West Bromwich Albion players who allegedly stole a taxi from a Barcelona McDonald's have been let off by Spanish police.

Jonny Evans, 30, Gareth Barry, 36, Jake Livermore, 28 and Boaz Myhill, 35, were expected to face community service or a fine, but a court in the Catalan capital shelved the case due to 'a lack of proof.'

The quartet reportedly broke a midnight curfew and returned drunk at 6am, leaving a set of taxi keys at reception before heading to bed. They were quizzed at a Local Police station and later released an apologetic statement via the club.

They had been staying in Cataluña for three days warm weather training ahead of an FA Cup fifth round game at home to Southampton, which they lost 2-1.

Drugs 'swap shop' purge

NATIONAL POLICE have dismantled an operation which involved the trading of drugs for stolen items in Marbella and seized heroin, cocaine, more than €250 in cash and nine knives, as well as arresting two people.

Bottle job

A 48-YEAR-OLD who allegedly threatened a salesperson with a broken bottle and robbed her while she was closing a shop in Malaga City has been arrested by Local Police.

Water idea

WATER company Acosol has confirmed it will provide a boat service to clean the coastal waters of the Costa del Sol for the second year running, with a total of 13 vessels to be used.

About time

MARBELLA Council has demanded that the Junta de Andalucía regional government keeps its word and completes the expansion of the Costa del Sol Hospital, with the project hanging in the air for the last seven years.

FLY BY NIGHTS: The gang were using ex-Serbian military aircraft to fly drugs into Spain.

Chopper gang and drug clan held Hel of a haul

A MAJOR police sting has toppled a gang who transported drugs from Morocco to Spain in two ex-Serbian military helicopters.

Investigators swooped to arrest 18 people in Malaga and Sevilla provinces, with the leader of the crime ring held alongside two pilots.

A probe was launched after one of the aircraft was found hidden on a farm in the Ronda mountains.

But after detectives seized the vehicle, the gang imported a replacement without submitting the relevant documentation.

The second helicopter was intercepted after it was spotted flying very low and without lights before landing on a private property in Cabezas de San Juan, Sevilla.

Three people were held but no drugs were found, with evidence suggesting that the trio ditched their cargo after realising that they were being trailed.

A search of a nearby building revealed a lorry used to transport the helicopter plus instruments used to carry out night flights, and the bust led to further raids on four homes plus an industrial unit in Osuna, Sevilla.

Elsewhere in Ronda, four family members aged between 20 and 37 were held for growing and selling cannabis plus illegally tapping into the municipal electric supply.

€200,000 The amount paid by a hospital in Madrid to the family of a woman who died of ovarian cancer that they failed to spot despite several operations.

British drugs kingpin caged

The unnamed British man was arrested in Estepona and is believed to be the mastermind behind the ploy.

Detectives in Fuengirola received an initial tip-off that a drugs gang was operating in the area, and a probe led them to the alleged leader, who recently travelled from the UK to Spain to set up an export company which he intended to use as a front.

They also discovered that he had bought an industrial packing machine from China, which he had shipped to Algeciras in Cadiz before transferring it to a rented industrial unit in Palmones, Los Barrios.

He and an accomplice then drove to Campillos, an hour and a half inland from Malaga, where they bought 150 'domestic appliances.'

These were sent from Algeciras to Tripoli inside a container in what investigators believe to have been a trial run to test security ahead of the huge drugs shipment.

Officers were able to identify several Moroccan gang members responsible for buying the drugs during this phase of the enquiry.

The gang then purchased a shipment of chest freezers which were delivered to the same Palmones address.

And as police swooped on the premises they caught two of the alleged smugglers packing hashish into the appliances before seizing 9,588 kilos of the cannabis resin.

The British suspect has reportedly been remanded in custody ahead of a court appearance.

Silver service

MARBELLA Council has revealed that advertising for the recent Davis Cup tennis tie between Spain and Great Britain raked in around €12 million for the city, with hotel occupancy higher than average for the time of year.

Lidl bit more

GERMAN discount supermarket chain Lidl is to plough €12 million into a huge new, two-storey supermarket in the Las Lagunas neighbourhood, Mijas, creating an estimated 50 jobs.

Cell shock

A MEXICAN prisoner, 25, facing an 18-year prison sentence for kidnapping and raping a woman in Malaga City committed suicide in Alhaurin de la Torre prison, shortly after being told the date of his trial.

Fire drama

FIREFIGHTERS saved six people after a fire broke out in their third floor shared flat in San Luis de Sabinillas, Manilva, with the property so badly damaged that they will be unable to return to live there.

Braking bad

FOUR men have been handed three-year prison sentences after badly beating a pedestrian who told them that the brakes on a car they were driving through Estepona 'sounded bad.'

€230m boost

THE Junta de Andalucía regional government has thrown its weight behind construction of a giant new hospital in Malaga City, with the €230 million project set to be complete by 2024.

A REVELLER who hurt himself while at a swingers' party with his wife is to be paid more than €12,500 in damages.

The victim had only been at the saucy event for half-an-hour when he 'stumbled or slipped' and plummeted down a flight of stairs, breaking his right leg.

He blamed the fall on 'poor lighting' at the venue, a 'voyeur's paradise' adults-only hotel in Malaga City centre, after spending a week in hospital in the wake of the accident.

In full swing

The couple had reportedly been skinny dipping in the pool before the man tripped as they headed towards a group sex playroom during the partner-swapping soiree.

In court the hotel's insurance company argued that the swimming pool, bar and staircase in the area where he fell were 'in perfect condition,' with floor lighting indicating the location and height of the four steps.

According to the defending lawyer the plaintiff "was in the pool and after consuming several mixed drinks slipped on one of the steps by mistake, or perhaps he did not dry his feet."

Party organisers claimed the couple had been at the bash 'for a couple of hours,' and the lighting was low 'because of the type of party it was, creating an intimate atmosphere and because some people walk around naked.'

But a witness said that the floor lighting was not switched on and that 'the only light was provided by candles,' leading the judge to award the victim €12,565.

Freed club owner thanks supporters

A RUSSIAN Costa del Sol football club owner has been freed after his family paid €750,000.

Marbella FC chief and multi-billionaire Alexander Grinberg was jailed in September over suspected ties with the Russian mafia as more than 100 police officers swooped to arrest 11 people.

The club was among three local businesses - including Aguas Sierra de Mijas and Dame de Noche golf club - implicated in a €30 million money laundering plot involving two rival gangs who are also accused of drug smuggling and human trafficking.

During a pre-arranged press conference, Grinberg said: "I have many feelings and words of thanks for our wonderful fans and citizens, the club employees, the players and coaching staff.

"I'm very grateful to the whole team... I have always valued working people and people have shown their love for the club and me during this difficult period."

He went on to add that he has "never, ever in my life, neither in Barcelona yet, so I will continue to work and manage here."

His release follows that of businessman Arnold Amoldovich Spivalovsky, also known as Arnold Tamm, who recently paid his own bail fee.

Tamm is allegedly among the top brass of the Solntsevskaya mafia clan and has close links to kingpin Semion Mogilevich, one of the world's most wanted men.

Wildlife trade pledge smacks of tokenism

SPAIN has announced it is to tackle the illegal wildlife trade. It is the country's first crack at confronting the issue, and comes after a gang of monkey traffickers were recently caged by Guardia Civil investigators.

Animal rights campaigners will be overjoyed at the news the country long-known as the gateway to Europe for poachers operating in Africa and the Americas is finally acting to address the problem. But will the government's measures make a difference?

The official plan speaks of increases in funds for awareness campaigns and the provision of alternative livelihoods for communities involved in poaching, but crucially, it does not have a specific budget.

Wildlife trafficking is among the most profitable criminal activities in the world, worth hundreds of millions of Euros per year. Demand is unlikely to be stemmed by an educational crusade, while it will surely be difficult if not impossible to convince local people profiting from the trade that they should seek new employment. Conservation biologists say that in reality, Spain will need to spend millions to make even a small change.

And based on previous pledges by a Spanish government which has a long history off flouting or simply ignoring environmental laws, the level of investment is likely to be lacking.

While this week's announcement has been widely cheered by animal lovers, including many readers of the Euro Weekly News website, time will tell whether it is simply a token gesture.

Now we want to hear your views.

Winter warmer

HIGH-FLYING Premier League side Liverpool have enjoyed a short break in Marbella.

The Merseysiders found themselves with a 10-day break following the return of the FA Cup after they were knocked out 3-2 by the Premier League's bottom side West Brom in the last round.

As a result, Jurgen Klopp jettied his side to the Costa del Sol for some warm weather training.

The side, who flew in straight after their Champions League fixture against Porto, undertook a number of activities during their stay in Marbella, which included travelling to and from training at the Marbella Football Centre on bikes.

During their stay, they were also treated to a first class buffet at their resort and seemed relaxed as they enjoyed their break in the sun, while Jurgen Klopp was also spotted visiting popular restaurant/bar La Sala in Puerto Banus.

Liverpool have hit a rich vein of form in recent weeks, thrashing Porto 5-0 in the Champions League and sit just two points behind second-placed Manchester United in the Premier League.

They return to Premier League action on Saturday as they host West Ham at Anfield.

Drought doubt

A DROUGHT decree drawn up by the Junta de Andalucía regional government to ensure that effects on the region's water supply are as small as possible will include some 'mini transfers.'

The plans, which are awaiting approval, include measures to take existing water in the interior of Andalucía and redirect it towards farms in areas likely to be the worst affected.

Jose Fiscal, the Junta's Environment minister, said drought management strategies had improved in the region which no longer needs water restrictions in its major cities. These were reportedly common around 20 years ago.

Rail link for new centre

A COMMERCIAL and leisure park planned for Torremolinos could have rail links similar to those created by a British firm at a centre in Zaragoza.

Intu, the company behind the proposed park, have floated the idea of using electric trains to transport visitors to and from it.

The firm believe Torremolinos' existing road network will not be able to cater for the rise in road traffic after it is finished.

The rail link, if it is built, will be like that at the British-built Puerto Venecia shopping centre in Zaragoza.

Joy for rural homeowners

Rental shakedown

JUST THE TICKET: Properties in rural locations such as Ojen can now apply for holiday rental licences.

by Nicole Erlich

BLINK, and you may have missed a change in the Andalusia holiday rental licence law that could have a big impact.

It is little more than two years since the introduction of the landmark holiday rental licence in Andalusia.

In that time, more than 26,000 properties have successfully been granted a holiday rental licence, according to the Department of Tourism.

But last week a small change to the law came into effect.

Tacked on the end of a government-issued decree regarding camping and campsites (Decreto 28/2018), under Article 40 - the very last section of the decree - the government issued a modification to the requirements relating to holiday rental properties, and specifically those inland.

The amendment to the law applies to properties located in the municipal area of a town or village with less than 20,000 inhabitants, allowing them to register for a holiday rental licence.

Previously, such properties would have had to comply with the regulations regarding rural holiday rental properties (Decreto 20/2002).

Homeowners, in rural locations, who previously did not meet the legal requirements to obtain either a rural holiday rental licence or a holiday rental licence can now apply for the holiday rental licence.

They can then immediately begin to promote their properties to potential guests and accept booking reservations for rentals.

Website Spain-Holiday.com forecast up to 40 per cent increase in their property portfolio in the region following the change in the law.

The website currently has more than 3,800 fully licensed rental properties on offer in Andalusia, including rural properties, that have passed stringent quality and security checks.

Commenting on the change in the law, Francisco Serrano, holiday rental industry analyst at Spain-Holiday.com said: "This seemingly minor amendment in the law regarding holiday rental properties in Andalusia is big news.

It allows homeowners everywhere in Andalusia to be able to apply for a holiday rental licence and legally rent out their properties even in rural locations, where properties previously didn't fall under the remit of the rural holiday rental law or the holiday rental licence law in Andalusia.

"Our previous homeowners who stopped renting out their properties for holiday lets when they could not obtain a licence are delighted with the news."

Madness on the motorway

A CONFUSED elderly driver has gone viral on social media.

It came after a hair-raising video of him driving at speed in the wrong direction on a busy dual carriageway was posted online.

Miraculously traffic, including heavy goods vehicles, travelling head-on towards him managed to dodge him and prevent a major accident.

Police received a number of calls from alarmed motorists who spotted the light-coloured van seemingly oblivious to the fact it was on the wrong side of the road.

He was eventually intercepted on the A-381 in Los Barrios, Cadiz, where the puzzled pensioner tested negative for alcohol and drugs.

The terrifying video was shot from a car travelling in the same direction - but on the correct carriageway.

Jailed coke kingpin's smuggle fail Strapped for cash

By Benjamin Park

NOTORIOUS druglord Jose Ramon Prado Bugallo has been caught attempting to smuggle €6,000 into prison.

Better known as 'Sito Miñanco,' the 62-year-old was arrested in Algeciras, Cadiz, earlier this month during a series of raids in Linares (Cadiz), Marbella, Sevilla, Madrid, Barcelona and Galicia that saw 36 others also held.

According to reports, the money was found by guards hidden in-between his clothes and personal belongings, including hygiene items, at the Alcala Prison where he is currently being held.

A similar situation occurred in 2001, when Miñanco was also caught attempting to enter prison with money hidden in some of his belongings.

At the time, he allegedly stated that it is 'fundamental' to have money during the first part of a prison sentence in order to impose himself and make his status clear to other inmates.

One of Spain's most infamous drug kingpins, Miñanco has spent most of the last 27 years behind bars for various drug trafficking crimes.

He was granted day release in April 2015 and had been working as a car park security guard, returning to Algeciras prison at night but investigators believed he continued to head a drugs cartel.

His arrest came after a ship, containing approximately 3.8 tonnes of cocaine worth an estimated €240 million, was intercepted en route to the Canary Islands from Colombia.

Miñanco is now set to face trial which begins on Tuesday, charged with laundering €10 million along with his wife and daughter.

Child drugs case probed

TWO men have been held on suspicion of offering drugs to young girls in exchange for sex.

Police launched a probe following a complaint by the mother of a teenager, who informed detectives that two girls had been admitted to hospital following drug overdoses.

According to reports, the girls, aged 13 and 18, were taken to the Costa del Sol hospital in a serious condition, with one on the verge of a cardiac arrest.

Both tested positive for cocaine, cannabis, benzodiazepines and methadone but were discharged two days later.

After interviewing the youngest girl and her mother, police found that the pair would allegedly buy and use drugs at a house in Estepona from a man they had met a month before.

Police were able to receive a search warrant for the property, where they found and seized almost a kilo of hashish, plus doses of methadone, trankimazin and a cannabis plant.

As a result, a 41-year-old man was arrested and charged with drug trafficking as well as corruption of people under the age of consent following claims that he would allegedly offer narcotics in exchange for sex.

A second man, aged 32, was also arrested on suspicion of having sexual relations with a girl below the age of consent after he reportedly slept with the youngest girl.

Marbella winter evenings in Nobu Restaurant

NOBU RESTAURANT, located in Puente Romano Marbella, is the place to be in the wintery Marbella.

It's centric position allows you to overlook the hottest and happening square 'La Plaza' on the coast, which attracts outgoing guests throughout the year.

Nobu Marbella menu includes all the mouthwatering signature dishes as Black Cod Miso, Yellowtail Sashimi with Jalapeño and Tiradito, aside plates inspired by Marbella itself.

In addition, Executive Chef Eleni Manouosu has created a special winter Omakase Menu; in translation from Japanese "I'll leave it up to you" and refers to chef's selection.

"I have chosen dishes that go well with these slight temperature changes we experience here by the Mediterranean. Salmon Karashi served next to oysters New Style are simple, but delicious with a citrusy dressing, Beef Tenderloin is superb for those cosy Nobu evenings, mixing citrus - based ponzu with spicy wasabi salsa. In addition Black Cod Miso, signature flavour that works for me every time," comments Eleni.

Nobu Restaurant, the first Nobu opened in Spain, includes also a trendy lounge from where to enjoy Nobu's signature cocktails, crafted by master Mixologists and sample its extensive sake menu.

Nobu Marbella serves dinner every day from 7.30pm - 1am. Nobu Lounge is open from 7.30pm and during weekends stays open till the late hours...

Monkey business

WILDLIFE TRADE: The primates are now safe.

ELEVEN people have been held for the unlawful trade of monkeys in the wake of a year-long Costa del Sol probe.

Five common marmosets and one red-handed tamarin, all from South America, worth an estimated €12,500 were recovered by agents from SEPRONA, the Guardia Civil's nature protection arm, with help from the Bioparc Fuengirola zoo and a Malaga vet.

Investigators unearthed a series of web sites offering the animals - which are illegal to own - run by individuals using false identities in Sevilla, Granada, Jaen and Alicante.

One of the suspects could also be charged for fraud after offering for sale a pair of non-existent marmosets for €3,000.

Another is a woman who has previous charges for wildlife trafficking and advertises herself as a spiritual medium online.

The animals have been transferred to an exotic animal rescue centre in Alicante.

The family - including Paris plus children Venezuela, seven, Prince John James, five, Prince Tyson Fury II, one, and newborn Valencia - were snapped strolling along the beachfront in the holiday hotspot.

It comes as the self-styled Gypsy King continues his warm weather training on the Costa del Sol ahead of a potential comeback later this year.

The towering Mancunian, who famously relinquished the WBA (Unified), WBO, and IBO world titles he claimed after beating Wladimir Klitschko in Germany, is now free to fight again after recently accepting a two-year backdated doping ban.

He tested positive for a banned substance in February 2015 but was not charged until June 2016, after he had defeated the now-retired Ukrainian fighter.

And he appears set to target the undefeated IBF and WBA champion Anthony Joshua after recently tweeting: 'As a sporting challenge I lay down the challenge for @anthonyfjoshua to fight me in my first fight back in over 2.5 years.'

'I'm the best heavyweight on the planet come prove I'm not? The ball is in your court don't let your fans down CHAMP.'

Footie sex rap

A 63-YEAR-OLD youth team football coach has been jailed for nine years for abusing three players on the Costa del Sol.

The man earned their trust by promising them a great future as a professional footballer.

The prosecution said he selected the weakest and most vulnerable and promised them a successful future in football, something they would only achieve if they did everything he told them.

He offered the players 'personalised training' to turn them into great players. He made the players sign a 'contract' where they hired him as a personal trainer and they had to 'obey, behave with loyalty and honesty' and keep it secret.

The contract said that if they did not they would have to give the coach €100 million compensation.

The court heard he gave the boys sports clothes and forced them to put them on without underwear.

He also sexually abused the players by touching them with the excuse of doing massages or stretches.

The offences began in 2008 with a 15-year-old boy until 2010.

His second victim was a 14-year-old-boy in 2011.

And the last one was a 15-year-old boy in 2013.

The man was convicted of three crimes of sexual abuse.

In addition to the nine years prison sentence he must pay €35,000 to two of the boys.

Costa kidnap trial

Brit pair could face 12-year sentence

by Matt Ford

TWO British men charged with the disappearance of a woman from a Costa del Sol nightclub are to stand trial 'within the next few weeks.'

It comes as lawyer Fernando Scornik Gerstein, prosecuting, reiterated earlier claims that the body of Latvian waitress Agnese Klavina 'was thrown into the sea, most likely off the coast of Murcia.'

The then-30-year-old vanished on September 6 2014 after leaving a trendy Marbella nightclub with expatriates Westley Capper, 39, and Craig Porter, 35, who could each face 12 years in prison if found guilty of abduction.

CCTV footage shows Ms Klavina being bundled into a car by the pair around 6am, and she has not been seen since.

A doorman from the club will also stand trial after the video revealed that he held the car door closed as she tried to escape.

The men have admitted leaving with her, but Porter claims to have fallen asleep as soon as he got into the car, while Capper said he had left her near her flat in San Pedro de Alcántara before contradicting himself during a reconstruction, leading a judge to describe his statement as 'improbable.'

But a lack of evidence saw Essex-born Capper, the privately-educated son of a multi-millionaire, and Liverpoolian Porter released from custody. After leaving the Marbella courtroom the men parked their car in a space reserved for disabled drivers as they enjoyed a celebratory drink.

Increasingly convinced that Ms Klavina was dead, investigators swooped on a yacht owned by Capper and moored at the Tomas Maestre marina in La Manga, Mar Menor. They found that just a few hours after the victim's disappearance, Capper and 'several other people' drove to Murcia to collect the boat before setting sail for Fuengirola, arriving on September 8.

A day later they moored up at La Duquesa in Manilva, and early on September 10, Capper, Porter and two unidentified individuals were captured on video as they dragged a heavy suitcase aboard.

On September 13 Capper and Porter set sail for Ibiza but ended up docking at La Manga after claiming that the vessel's engine had failed. Then on September 15 they returned to Marbella by car.

In May 2016 - just a month after being charged in the wake of an 18-month probe into Ms Klavina's disappearance - Capper was involved in a drunken hit-and-run in San Pedro de Alcántara.

Bolivian mother-of-three Fatima Dorada, 40, was killed after the UK-registered Bentley he was driving careered into her.

Capper and Porter - who was also in the vehicle - fled the scene and were held at an Indian restaurant where they had been drinking vodka and tonic. Both men tested positive for alcohol and cocaine, and Capper could receive an additional manslaughter sentence when a trial is scheduled.

He was remanded in custody before being released on bail three months later.

FRIENDS REUNITED: India was found by police in a cage with two other dogs.

by Joe Gerrard

INDIA the dog has been reunited with its owner after National Police investigators arrested a man who allegedly stole it from his neighbour's farm in Fuengirola.

Officers began their investigation after the owner of the pedigree Weimar, worth €2,000, reported it missing. The victim said the dog was very docile and had a lot of sentimental value for his family.

The accused reportedly climbed over the fence of the farm and took the hunting dog from inside before fleeing.

National Police investigating the theft located India 17 days after the alleged theft in January. The dog was found in a cage with two others at another farm in the neighbourhood. The other dogs were reportedly podencos (Spanish hunting dogs).

The accused reportedly told police the dog was his property throughout the investigation. He walked it and also took it to the business that he ran while he worked.

India underwent a veterinary examination which showed the dog was suffering from mild ear inflammation.

Mum held on abuse claim

A 17-YEAR-OLD and her 37-year-old mother who allegedly caused injuries to the girl's two-year-old child have been arrested by National Police.

The 17-year-old's daughter reportedly suffered four fractures in two weeks when she was admitted to Malaga's Maternal and Child Hospital.

Medical staff activated the protocol for possible mistreatment and negligence and the two-year-old was taken into her 22-year-old father's care.

Her mother had claimed her injuries were due to an accident in their home but after she was admitted to hospital several times police decided to arrest the accused.

Pension plot

A MAN and a woman who allegedly broke into the home of an elderly man and assaulted him so they could steal his pension money have been remanded in custody.

The couple, aged 49 and 42, knocked on the man's door and the woman forced her way inside the home in Estepona after he opened it.

The woman reportedly then began suffocating the man while her accomplice demanded he give them his money.

They fled without the money before the victim was found with his face bruised by a neighbour.

A COSTA DEL SOL politician has sparked outrage after being accused of using public money to pay for luxury meals and a €2,000 degree.

Margarita El Cid, vice-president of the conservative Popular Party in Malaga and leader of the Association of Western Costa del Sol Municipalities, allegedly misused funds from 2011-2014, when she served as party general secretary and was a Torremolinos councillor.

She is blamed for siphoning cash from bank accounts of both her party and the association, some of which was used to pay for a Master's degree in Public Leadership, Entrepreneurship and Public cash ripoff claim Corruption storm

Innovation from the Deusto private business school in Spanish capital Madrid.

An anonymous letter detailing the infractions was sent to current party general secretary Maria Dolores de Cospedal last October.

Funds from the Association of Western Costa del Sol Municipalities, which covers Benahavis, Benalmadena, Casares, Estepona, Fuengirola, Istan, Manilva, Marbella, Mijas, Ojen and Torremolinos, can only be used to pay for association business, which includes environmental and infrastructure projects, beach safety, and the promotion of tourism.

El Cid is also president of public water company Acosol, which is owned by the association.

But the letter claims that she made personal use of public money by using 'blank cheques' to pay for more than €6,000 worth of expensive meals on her days off plus another €7,000 of 'dubious expenses.'

She is also accused of failing to bank €29,000 intended for 'sociological services,' transferring €40,000 from the association to her Popular Party's provincial account, and signing off invoices worth almost €30,000 for non-approved public opinion surveys.

A party official said in response to the claims: "This party has no evidence to suggest the existence of any unjustified payments, all information related to economic management is available to municipal investigators and the association successfully passed a recent audit of its accounts."

AIR SCARE: The flight landed safely at Birmingham airport.

Plane drama

A TUI flight from Spain to the UK was diverted after the crew reported a 'technical issue' and 'adverse weather' affected its scheduled destination.

Flight TOM6711 from Malaga's Costa del Sol airport to Bristol eventually landed safely at Birmingham.

It is reported the Boeing 757-200 had an issue with the flaps on the approach to Bristol, which combined with 'adverse weather' resulted in the diversion to the Midlands airport where it was met by emergency crews.

If the flaps can't be deployed correctly the aircraft will land at a much higher speed than normal.

A spokesperson for TUI UK said: "We would like to apologise for the inconvenience to our customers on flight TOM6711 from Malaga to Bristol, which diverted to Birmingham as a result of a technical issue and adverse weather conditions in Bristol."

Child porn horror

A BELGIAN expatriate has been held at Malaga Airport on suspicion of distributing child pornography.

The 36-year-old was arrested as he returned from a trip to Thailand.

He is accused of distributing lewd images via an instant messaging application, and investigators found a folder containing photographs 'of a paedophilic nature' on his smartphone, according to a police statement.

Detectives were alerted after a Malaga resident last summer complained that he had received graphic material anonymously via the WhatsApp service, followed by a second report from Cadiz.

The source of the images was found to be a handset owned by a man from Brussels living in Marbella. And officers were waiting for the culprit as he returned from South East Asia.

Two laptop computers, a memory card and 18 discs containing image files were seized during a later raid on his home.

It's a fare cop

Taxi meter fare fiddle probed

Credit: Twitter / @EmergenciasSev

ON THE TAKE: Meters may have been tampered with.

POLICE in Spain are investigating several taxi drivers who, it is alleged, have fiddled their meters to overcharge their customers.

Local Police officers in Sevilla in Andalusia, southern Spain, have also raided a workshop where it is claimed the electronic system was installed. Pressing a button, the electronic device allowed the taxi driver to manipulate the final price of the passengers' journeys on the official meter.

The button was located below the gear lever out of sight of the customer. When drivers changed gear they could easily press the button that bumped up the price on the meter.

The city council in Sevilla that licenses the taxis issued a statement saying it believed the fraud only affected a 'small group.'

A taxi drivers' spokesman said, "It is not a massive fraud, but confined to a small group."

Speed trap warning

POLICE in Spain have revealed the exact speeds that will activate roadside radar cameras that will snap you if you're a Speedy Gonzales.

It's a question that has perplexed drivers for a long time but now the traffic police have posted the information on Twitter to clear up any misunderstanding.

The Guardia Civil has confirmed, on Twitter, that up to 100 km/h, it is allowable to exceed the limit by seven km/h but from 101 km/h, you must add 7 per cent to the actual speed recorded.

Therefore, if the speed limit is 50 km/h, 80 km/h or 100 km/h the radar will trigger at 57 km/h, 87 km/h and 107 km/h.

However, from 101 km/h upwards the leeway is 7 per cent of the actual speed you're doing, so if the speed limit is 110 km/h, the devices will be triggered at 117.7 km/h.

And, in the same way, you'll be fined if you're caught doing more than 128.4 km/h in a 120 km/h limit.

The Guardia Civil has also used the occasion to remind drivers 'the road is not a racetrack.'

For the ale of it

IF you've been keeping things bottled up and need to escape for a barrel of laughs a new beer spa in Spain might just be what you need.

Spain's first-ever spa for beer-lovers has opened in Granada and you could find yourself in over your head if you immerse yourself in the frothy liquid.

According to Beer Spa, the benefits are many and claim the beer bath relaxes muscle tension, prevents ageing of skin, reduces stress and helps eliminate toxins from the body.

The baths of beer contain hot water to which yeast, hops, malt and cinnamon are added and it only takes 20 minutes submerged in the barrel for the ingredients to act on the skin.

As well as the beer baths, you will find body treatments including massages and a barley bed where you can relax on a bed of fresh barley which the skin absorbs.

There are already plans in the pipeline to open other beer spas in Spain.

Revamped driving test to be unveiled

NEW drivers taking their test in Spain will have to attend compulsory classes.

It comes as the Spanish government puts the final touches to a raft of traffic law amendments expected to be approved 'within days,' according to reports.

Director of the Directorate General of Traffic (DGT), Gregorio Serrano, confirmed that an official announcement is expected shortly.

"It is clear that we must change the way we examine and introduce new material, such as videos, which include real life traffic situations and not just answering a, b or c," he said while addressing Spanish Congress.

Under the new rules, learner drivers will not be able to sit the theory test without attending a series of mandatory lessons.

According to the DGT, 'many' students show up to take the exam without any preparation, causing test centres to 'collapse.'

And some of the new questions will involve writing down solutions to potential traffic issues, rather than picking a traditional multiple choice answer.

New subjects introduced via the classes will include driving at night and the safe use of satellite navigation, plus risk assessment while at the wheel.

The DGT also plans to unveil a new system of sanctions for drug and alcohol offenders, making it more difficult for them to recover their licences.

More than 193,000 driving tests were cancelled last year in the wake of a slew of strikes by driving instructors locked in an ongoing pay dispute with the DGT.

The new rules - including previously announced changes to the ITV technical inspection - are set to be applied from May 20.

Job market boom

Unemployment falls to 2009 levels

THE number of people seeking work in Spain stood at almost 3.5 million at the end of January, according to government data.

Spending on unemployment reached more than €17 billion in 2017, the lowest amount since 2007.

The amount of those enrolled with the Public Employment Service was at its lowest level since 2009, around the time the last economic crisis began. The Spanish government spent 44 per cent less on unemployment benefits than it did almost 10 years ago, according to the Ministry of Employment.

Differences in spending were reportedly down in part to the number of people eligible to claim unemployment benefits falling. Around 58.6 per cent of those out of work received state subsidies last year compared to 80 per cent in 2009.

The number of those claiming benefits that have had to request additional state help was more than half (56 per cent) in 2017, compared to 30 per cent in 2009. This was reportedly due to those who have been long-term unemployed exhausting their contributory benefits which means they had to request a government subsidy.

People claiming unemployment benefits spend less time receiving payments on average than they have done in previous years, which is another factor in spending being lower. Claimants spent an average of 15.1 months receiving state help, compared to 15.8 in 2009 and 17.9 in 2013.

UN visit to probe human rights

OFFICIALS from a United Nations body are set to visit Spain to examine the human rights situation of people with African heritage.

The delegation of the Working Group of Experts on People of African Descent plan to visit Madrid, Barcelona, Almeria and Ceuta.

They are set to meet with communities, government representatives, civil society groups and people working on race relations issues during the visit.

Sabelo Gumedze, the head of the Working Group, said he and his colleagues would be assessing the human rights situation of Spain's African-descended population.

"We will collect information on any form of racism, racial discrimination, xenophobia, afrophobia and related intolerance," he said.

Gumedze, along with Marie-Evelyne Patrus-Barry and Ricardo Sunga are set to study measures to prevent racism and help protect the victims of it. They also plan to examine protection, integration and inclusion measures for migrants and refugees.

The group will present its findings to the UN's Human Rights Council next September. They are also set to promote the International Decade for People of African Descent (2015-2024), a UN initiative to promote African culture and descendants.

The top beach in the UK is in Bournemouth in Dorset which features in 14th place in the Top 25 in the world list.

Benefit-cheating gran avoids jail

SWINDLING great-grandmother, Sally Folan, who claimed almost £40,000 in job seeker's allowance while secretly owning a €120,000 Spanish holiday property has narrowly avoided a jail sentence.

The 63-year-old, from Worthing, rented out her home in Spain while claiming benefits in the UK.

Judge Jeremy Gold QC sentenced her to eight months in prison, suspended for two years, at Hove Crown Court and ordered Folan to carry out 100 hours of unpaid community work.

Folan will face another court appearance to make arrangements to pay the money back. She has already started paying £50 a month.

The court heard that, in 2002, Folan and her husband sold their home in the UK and bought the house of their dreams in El Puerto De Mazarron in Murcia, Spain for €120,000.

However, following the 2007 credit crunch, the value of their house plummeted, work dried up for builder Noel and the couple were forced to make ends meet by selling goods at car boot sales.

Eventually, things became so bad that they were forced to return to the UK where Folan put in a claim for job seeker's allowance benefits - but she kept quiet about the property they owned and rented out in Spain.

Martha Walsh, prosecuting, said that for more than three years from February 2013 Folan fraudulently claimed £39,462.60 before she was found out.

Justice at last

by Matt Ford

AFTER a decade of agony Helen and Len Prior have finally received a payout for their illegally demolished home.

"Now this is over, we just want to try and recover our lives, we have lost 10 years that no amount of money can ever replace," Helen said.

It comes as the couple, both in their early 70's, were paid a settlement of almost €236,000 by Vera Council.

Helen thanked lawyers Victor Martinez and Jose Contreras for their "hard work over the last 10 years," but pointed out that the payout is "very poor" since it does not even cover the original €350,000 cost of their home.

"The house was legal and demolished for political reasons, we were scapegoats," she said. "I was awarded €1,500 for 'moral damages' and my husband €7,500 for 10 years of suffering, ridiculous.

"In any other EU country the amount would have been much higher," she added.

The Priors' story made international headlines after their home was bulldozed over 'planning irregularities,' although the couple insist the build was legal after the town hall granted them a municipal construction licence in 2002.

But their two-storey dream villa was pulled down in 2008 and they were forced to live in a garage for four-and-a-half years, with the demolition order later annulled by the Constitutional Court.

In 2016 they won a court battle entitling them to €425,185 in compensation, but the Andalusian High Court of Justice later ruled that they should receive just over half that amount.

They had initially requested €800,000 which included a €200,000 emotional damages claim, but the latter was reduced to less than €10,000.

Gerardo Vazquez, lawyer and spokesperson for the Abusos Urbanísticos Almanzora No (AUAN) campaign group, which has been helping the Priors through their ordeal, said: "As a spokesperson for AUAN, I am very happy for the Priors.

"I hope that you can at least continue with your lives more peacefully.

"With the good humour that has characterised them during the last 10 years that their struggle has lasted, they have shown great tenacity and resistance and are an example to all of us.

"I give all my love and admiration to the Priors."

And Helen added that at least "our case has helped others.

"We have supported AUAN and fought to change the laws to protect the innocent and those that bought property in good faith."

Politicians from the local Popular Party have called for a public apology to the Priors via social media.

Car crash horror

A BRITISH woman, aged about 60 years old, has died after a multi-vehicle smash on the holiday island of Tenerife in Spain's Canary Islands, according to the regional government.

Three other people were injured in the three-vehicle pileup on the TF-46 in Guia de Isora.

After the accident one vehicle caught fire.

Firemen released four people who were trapped in two of the cars.

And one woman died at the scene.

An air ambulance airlifted another with a serious head injury to hospital. A man with 'moderate head trauma,' was transferred in a life support ambulance to Hospiten Sur.

Another person, with a hip injury, was transferred to the Costa Adeje Hospital by ambulance.

Guard Civil traffic officers are investigating the sequence of events that led up to the fatal crash.

Diabetes aware

THE Diabetic Support Group invites all to its next meeting.

Their Nurse will be there with the usual group, so hopefully you will be able to attend. Remember these meetings are for your benefit.

They also have Angels Nursing Group, who will be organising blood pressure checks. The guest speaker will be Dr King of Oasis Dental Clinic, who will give a talk on dentistry and its importance for diabetics.

They are now in the process of producing a new edition of the 'Diabetes Aware' Booklet, and they are looking for sponsorship. Any help you can give for possible sponsors would be greatly appreciated.

The meeting takes place tomorrow (Friday) at Hogar in Calle Paloma, Fuengirola, with coffee at 10.30am for an 11am start.

THIRTY members of the Costa Press Club and invited guests attended the association's February meeting held in Restaurante El Gusto in La Cala de Mijas.

The speaker was Juan Antonio O'Donnell Gallego, honorary chief inspector of the National Police force and former chief of the Press Office in Malaga, who gave an interesting talk about the daily work of Media Relations Officers and the procedure for keeping the media informed about cases considered to be of public interest.

The guest speaker, who has now retired, shared some of his personal experiences and impressions, based on over 40 years of service.

He put the part played by Communications into context, and explained in detail the sort of work undertaken by press officers, saying that in addition to reporting on current cases, they actively participate in the preventive work done

The journalists present at the meeting showed particular interest in the role of social media in present day policing, and in restrictions to the publication of images of police officers on active service.

Going for gold

THIS month St Andrew's Chaplaincy will be celebrating 50 years on the Costa del Sol. They started meeting in people's houses and the congregation gradually increased until a church was purchased and a part-time priest employed.

They now have worship centres in Calahonda, Benalmadena, Los Boliches and Alhaurin.

They have various activities planned including a special tea party in Reserva el Higueron and a visit from Bishop David on Sunday.

A special concert is to be held in Benalmadena on March 9. In remembrance of Roy Alan who was an exceptional musician and character.

A group of artists will be performing and the proceeds will go to Cudeca and Lux Mundi.

PUPPY LOVE: Carlos and pupils loading the food into the ADANA van.

ADANA, the Estepona dog rescue and rehoming charity, is always keen to take its message of responsible care for pets to young people, so the ADANA team was delighted to be able to visit the pupils of the Victor de la Serna School in Estepona to collect an enormous quantity of dog food, blankets and old clothing to keep the puppies and young dogs warm on cold nights.

All of this had been collected by the pupils themselves.

ADANA Board member Reg Winkworth and Administrator Carlos Delgado went to the school to pick up the van load of donated items and thanked the pupils for their kindness to animals in need.

Carlos invited the pupils to visit the ADANA shelter and it is hoped that the pupils will be able to come and see how their efforts have helped the charity's work of caring for dogs in need.

Triple A dog of the week

PEPE: Social butterfly.

PEPE was found in Naguales in 2016. He is a lovely, gentle little dog, who is only 40 cm tall.

Pepe is super sociable with all other dogs and he loves to be with people too. He is very calm when cuddled or caressed and this is why he is part of a special Triple A therapy programme visiting people in nursing homes.

He brings them great pleasure. He deserves a good home for all his good work. Could you give him one? For more information contact: 952 771 586.

Age Concern roundup

TICKETS are still available for the charity concert in aid of Age Concern, Estepona and Manilva, being arranged by Clarice Williams with her choir The Good Vibrations Singing Sessions on Tuesday March 6.

Clarice is an opera singer with over 20 years of experience. This year Clarice will be part of a 3 Divas tour of south east England, headlining at the OK Pride opening week, singing in the opera Zanetto by Mascagni in Estepona and singing in a Classical Christmas Tour in early December.

The venue is the Huber Plataforma de Arte which is in Calle San Antonio, Estepona. The concert starts at 7.30pm and will last about one hour with a varied programme.

Tickets are €10 a head. Refreshments will be available, and a raffle will be run.

The group is a mixed ability, multicultural, multi-genre singing group, which meets in Estepona. The emphasis is on learning to sing in a variety of styles and harmonies in a fun environment, expressing oneself through song and connecting to a lyric.

You can reserve seats in advance by contacting Tony on 654 179 279 or 608 458 555 or by leaving your details on 951 318 234, but it is a small venue so early booking is advised.

Time for lunch

THERE is still time to give us a call and tell us that you are coming to the menu del dia lunch arranged for this Monday at Bar Hermanos Infantes (which is in Avenida Analucia, Estepona next to the new CENYT Dental Centre).

The lunch is to bring volunteers, friends and supporters of Age Concern together over a relaxed meal. The meal starts at 1.30pm prompt. The cost is €9 for friends and volunteers, €11 for all other guests.

Menu choices are to be made on the day from the menu and one drink is included. To let us know that you are coming call the office on 951 318 234 or Tony on 608 458 555.

Open for business

THE Age Concern shop is in Calle Zaragoza, Estepona and is open Monday to Friday from 10am to 1.30pm plus the first Saturday in the month.

The road works in Estepona have now started in Calle Zaragoza, but access to the shop has been maintained.

If you want donations collected, please call 951 318 234 and speak to the Duty Manager.

Crypto cash sweeteners

THE Spanish government is eager to attract companies using blockchain technology.

Conservative lawmaker Teodoro Garcia Egea has been tasked with preparing legislation to smooth potential deals, including possible tax breaks. "The level of digitalisation for companies is key," he said. "We hope to get the legislation ready this year."

According to Mr Garcia, it is in the country's interest to attract such firms as a driver for industries including finance, health and education.

Sub crash trial goes on

By Matt Ford

A SENIOR British naval officer who cost the UK €2.4 million after crashing a nuclear submarine near Spain has pleaded guilty in court.

Commander Justin Codd, 45, was in charge of the €1.2 billion HMS Ambush when it collided with the tanker MV Andreas off Gibraltar.

The submarine was taken out of service for three months after suffering damage to its conning tower.

Commander Codd was leading a training course when the incident occurred, as the group practised observing shipping movement while controlling the craft at periscope depth.

Captain John Atwill, prosecuting, said that the commander did not carry out observations himself, relying on those of the trainees, who focused on a nearby yacht and failed to spot the tanker. He added: "Commander Codd's decision to focus on teaching, not safety, compounded the error carried out by the students."

Captain Sean Moore, defending, said: "This is a failure that will live with him for the rest of his life."

"No officer becomes teacher of the Submarine Command Course because they are good enough, they must be the best the submarine service has to offer.

"Perisher is widely acknowledged as the toughest command course in the world."

Judge Advocate Robert Hill said while sentencing: "You have, save for this incident, an exemplary record. It was more in the nature of a momentary aberration than a careless attitude."

The case will reportedly affect Commander Codd's 'career progress' and €88,000 annual salary.

A licence to print money

SPAIN wants to print money at a new location. And the government is pushing ahead with plans to build a new 'money factory,' after printing firm IMBISA - 80 per cent owned by the Bank of Spain - agreed contracts worth around €2 million.

More than half the cash will be handed to Spanish consultancy firm Everis for 'strategic design of information systems, with the remainder awarded to El Corte Ingles, best known for its chain of department stores, for 'development of new computer applications.'

Quote of the Week

"The EU does not abandon those who face a tragedy." EU Policy Commissioner Corina Crețu announces Spain is to receive €32m in EU aid to help repair the damage caused by last year's devastating wildfires in the Galicia region.

GREAT BARCA BEKO-OFF: The firm has sponsored the club since 2014.

€19m shirt deal for Turkish firm

FC BARCELONA has extended a sponsorship deal with a budget washing machine brand.

Turkish domestic appliance maker Beko has revealed it is to pay €19 million per season for the next three years after sealing a new deal with the Catalan club.

In return, the company's logo will continue to appear on the first team training strip plus the left sleeve of the official club shirt.

Having been a relatively small sponsor since 2014, Beko now becomes one of the historic club's most important backers.

A new deal with American sportswear behemoth Nike - FC Barcelona's most important patron - is reportedly set to land the club €100 million per year for shirt sponsorship plus a further €60 million for managing its dedicated stores.

» BUSINESS EXTRA

The future is bright

SPAIN is set to be the second country to receive French telecommunication giant Orange's mobile banking service, with a full rollout planned for 2019 after the product dubbed Orange Bank launched in France last November.

Pension pain

SPANISH pensioners will lose an average of €350 of purchasing power per month over the course of their retirement as a result of the latest government reforms, according to consultancy firm Analysts Financieros Internacionales [International Financial Analysts].

Tasty profit

FOOD group Campofrio - headquartered in Madrid but owned by Mexican multinationals since 2013 - has revealed net sales shot through the €2 billion barrier in 2017, as the firm's Spanish sales soared by 22 per cent to €68.3 million.

Spanish misery goes on SPAIN has retained its position as the world's eighth most miserable economy. The country scored 17.3 on US technology firm Bloomberg's annual Misery Index, which ranks economies according to their rates of inflation and unemployment.

The company said in a statement: "The Bloomberg Misery Index relies on the age-old concept that low inflation and unemployment generally illustrate how good an economy's residents should feel."

The league table was topped by Venezuela with a massive score of 1872, followed by South Africa (33.1), Argentina (27.1), Egypt (26.4), Greece and Turkey (20.6) and Ukraine (17.8) ahead of Spain, with Brazil (15.8) and Saudi Arabia (14.7) completing the top 10.

STATE-OWNED FIRM TO DESIGN WARSHIPS

SPAIN appears set to build new warships for the United States (US).

The news comes after the US government confirmed that it has chosen Spanish state-owned shipbuilding company Navantia to head the conceptual design of its massive multi-billion Euro frigate programme.

And the decision places the shipbuilder - the fifth biggest in Europe - at the head of the queue to construct the boats on behalf of the US Navy.

The programme, dubbed FFG(X), will see the first of the frigates completed by 2020, with a second due in 2021, after which the Navy will buy two per year until reaching a total of 20 at a cost of 'no more than $950 million (€767 million) each,' according to a US Department of Defence report.

This timeframe does not allow for development of a completely new design, therefore the Navy has requested that the FFG(X) be based on an existing 'parent' ship, with the Australian Hobart-class destroyer, itself based on Navantia's F100/Alvaro de Bazan-class frigate, having been selected.

Having beaten off competition from four other firms, Navantia will now work alongside partner General Dynamics Bath Iron Works, a shipyard located on the Kennebec River in Bath, Maine, to design the frigates.

The US has ordered a warship that can keep pace with aircraft carriers, and the FFG(X) programme will equip the Navy with "sufficient capacity to achieve the objective of maritime security control and operations, as well as provide support to naval combat groups," Navantia said in a statement.

The frigates will be equipped with guided missiles and will have the capacity to destroy enemy ships over the horizon, detect submarines, defend convoys, employ electronic warfare systems, and defend against swarming small boat attacks.

ART OF WAR: The new frigates will be based on Navantia's existing F100 blueprint.

The F100-class design has seen Navantia contracted to the world's largest warship programmes, including the Australian and Canadian fleets.

It last year agreed to work with Bath Iron Works on US military projects in a reverse of a relationship which began more than 40 years ago, when the American company helped provide technology to build ships for the Spanish Navy's Santa Maria-class fleet.

Spanish oil company inks €1.2bn 'mega deal'

SPANISH oil and gas firm Cepsa has announced a €1.2 billion mega deal with the United Arab Emirates.

The 40-year agreement will see the multinational bag a 20 per cent stake in the Umm Lulu and Satah al-Razboot (also known as SARB) offshore oilfields from the Abu Dhabi National Oil Company.

It is the biggest contract inked by the company since its €1.76 billion acquisition of South East Asian exploration and production company Coastal Energy in 2013.

Cepsa was bought by Abu Dhabi's International Petroleum Investment Company (IPIC) in a €267 million 2011 takeover.

IPIC was in 2016 merged with Mubadala Development Company PJSC, an investment vehicle owned by the Abu Dhabi government and classed as a National Wealth Fund.

FAST FOOD AND BREAKFASTS ON RISE

Grub's up for restaurants

SPANISH diners are visiting more bars and restaurants than ever.

Sales in the catering sector increased by 2.5 per cent in 2017, with overall revenue topping €36 million, according to American market research company the NPD Group.

It is the third consecutive year that the industry has demonstrated positive growth, with the number of visits climbing by 1.3 per cent, or 98 million.

Each customer also spent an additional 1 per cent, an average of €4.88.

NPD Group Executive Director Vicente Montesinos said: "The improvement in an economic context has favoured recovery in terms of traffic, while the increase in visits and a growing average expenditure allowed the market to exceed €36 million in sales for the first time since 2011."

But the market has not yet recovered to pre-financial crisis levels, with the number of visits and expenditure both below the totals for 2005-2007.

The annual average number of visits per individual during that period was

FOOD FOR THOUGHT: Spaniards are eating out more but increasingly prefer burgers and pizza, says NPD's Vicente Montesinos (inset).

180, while the average for 2017 was 158.

And the latest statistics show that eateries serving products quickly are the main driver behind the growth, with fast food restaurants, tapas bars and coffee shops representing 86 per cent of the increase.

There is also a trend away from traditional Spanish fare, with American-style hamburger and Italian restaurants outstripping their rivals.

Chains also eclipsed independently-owned businesses in terms of both the number of visits and the amount of money spent, accounting for 23 per cent of the overall catering market.

Breakfast and lunchtime demonstrated the greatest increases in diners during the week, while the number of people eating out at weekends also shot up.

Mr Montesinos added: "At the beginning of the [financial] crisis the first thing that was hit were breakfasts eaten outside the home, because unemployment increased and labour mobility decreased.

"Then, around two million people lost their jobs in 2009 and the lunch industry was hit.

"But with the economic recovery we are seeing more jobs and an increase in the number of people eating out, including breakfast, lunch and dinner."

Minister to tour London

SPAIN has moved to quash Brexit fears.

Speaking to the national congress, Development Minister Iñigo de la Serna revealed that Spain continues to view the UK as one of 11 key construction and infrastructure markets despite voting to leave the EU.

The official went on to confirm that he has a trip to London lined up later this month, during which he will offer support to Spanish companies competing for major UK infrastructure contracts, including construction of the HS2 high speed train and expansion of Heathrow Airport.

The whistle-stop tour will see the official hold a series of key business meetings plus bilateral talks with his UK government peers, before he visits some existing Spanish-led projects.

FLORIDA AND BALI CHEAPER THAN SPAIN Long-haul savings sky high SPANISH hoteliers may have shot themselves in the foot.

Rising room prices, plus a weak United States dollar and competition from the Middle East mean it can now be cheaper to spend two weeks in far flung locations including Thailand, Dubai and Florida.

It comes after several years of record-breaking tourist figures, with 82 million holidaymakers choosing Spain in 2017.

But research by price comparison website TravelSupermarket has revealed that in 2018 various long-haul destinations are considerably more cost-effective than the Costa del Sol, Balearic and Canary Islands.

For example, over the upcoming May half-term, a week in a four-star Abu Dhabi hotel costs around €350 per person, compared with €620 in Menorca and €475 in Tenerife.

A similar break in Dubai - based on a seven-night stay for a family of four flying from London Gatwick on the last weekend in May - is priced at €350, while Florida costs €420.

In summer, Pattaya in Thailand and the Indonesian paradise of Bali are up to 20 per cent cheaper than Ibiza or Menorca, according to TravelSupermarket's Emma Coulthurst.

"People may think their holiday budget can only stretch to short haul and they can't afford long haul, so don't consider it. "But the reality is, long-haul destinations can offer incredible value this summer... it is really worth doing your research and comparing both to see what else you can get for your money.

"But, be realistic on weather. Florida, for example, is also coming up cheaper this July and August and offering some incredible deals - but the weather at that time of year is incredibly hot and humid."

US holiday firms have slashed prices by up to 35 per cent due to the so-called 'Trump slump,' with travellers less-inclined to visit the country in the wake of his appointment.

Ms Coulthurst added: "Brits have always been one of the US's biggest markets and Florida, particularly Orlando, can't afford for us not to go there."

Abu Dhabi and Dubai have also made cuts of around 10 per cent, while Spanish hotel prices have increased by around 8 per cent since 2016.

It is however cheaper to eat and hire a car in Spain.

More than 20 million British holidaymakers visited Spain last year, the most of any country, but 2018 forecasts predict a fall in numbers.

The 2016 Spanish boom came in the wake of terrorist attacks in Turkey, Egypt, and Tunisia, although travel agent Thomas Cook recently announced that it will fly to the latter this year.

De Guindos fears raised in Brussels

HE appears set to be named vice-president of the European Central Bank.

But the European Parliament has raised concerns over the appointment of Spain's Finance Minister, Luis de Guindos, to the coveted role.

In government office since 2011, the conservative politician announced he will step down 'in the coming days' after Ireland's Philip Lane - his sole rival - pulled out of the race.

He has been slated to replace Portugal's Vitor Constancio for months, although it was Lane who most impressed senior members of the parliament's monetary and finance committee during a non-binding, closed-door hearing with the two candidates in Brussels.

He had little support from ministers, however, while De Guindos has been backed by influential countries including France and Germany. A final decision is expected in March.

Losing mental capacity whilst living abroad

by Stone King

Charlotte Macdonald

Contact me at international@stoneking.co.uk

MANY UK expatriates living in Spain own properties in the UK and have pensions and investments in the UK. They rely on their UK assets to maintain their lifestyles (and those of their families) in Spain. If they can no longer manage their affairs in the UK due to a loss of mental capacity, it can cause many difficulties.

“ You can choose a person or people, who you trust, to act for you when you are no longer able. ”

The best way to avoid the legal and practical difficulties that can occur with the loss of mental capacity is to plan for it in advance by drawing up a document called a 'Lasting Power of Attorney' ('LPA').

| An LPA must be made while you have full mental capacity.

What is an LPA?

An LPA is a legal document that enables you to appoint one or more attorneys to act for you when you are no longer able to act for yourself.

Your attorney can be a professional, such as a solicitor or a family member or friend.

There are two types of LPA: 'Health and Welfare' or 'Property and Financial Affairs'

An LPA must be made while you have full mental capacity. It is therefore important to make one while you are in good health.

Why should you get an LPA?

You can choose a person or people, who you trust, to act for you when you are no longer able.

If you lose your mental capacity and do not have an LPA, then your family (or the authorities) will have no choice but to make an application to the Court of Protection to appoint a 'deputy' to look after your affairs, which can be time consuming and costly.

Will my LPA be recognised in Spain?

Unfortunately there is no international type of LPA which is guaranteed to work in both the UK and Spain.

The advice we give to our clients at Stone King, is that if you have assets in both Spain and the UK, your only safe option is to appoint attorneys in both jurisdictions.

LEAPY LEE SAYS IT
OTHERS THINK IT

THESE latest revelations of paedophilia and 'sex for aid' in OXFAM didn't surprise me one bit.

Frankly I also consider it merely the tip of the iceberg. I believe that just about all organisations that deal with children are positively riddled with these low life predators. After all, if I were a junkie I would go where the drugs are. If my habit was gambling I would seek out gambling joints.

It stands to reason that those who feel the need to prey on youngsters, go where they can find children. OXFAM. UNICEF. Football scouting. Church and teaching organisations. Dr Barnardo's homes. Children's hospitals and so on, all are vulnerable to the infiltration of these evil beings who destroy young lives before they have barely begun.

A recent report by an ex-UN official stated that UN aid workers, may not only have raped up to 60,000 people over the last 10 years, but are estimated to employ some 3,300 paedophiles in their worldwide operation.

One terribly sad result of these alarming, seemingly never-ending revelations, is that decent men and women, who sincerely want to help and care for the young, are shying away and entering other professions, simply because they don't want to be regarded with suspicion by their peers. Even stating publicly that you love children can attract a 'funny' look in some circumstances. If this unacceptable situation is allowed to continue unchecked, sooner or later the majority of children's charity workers will all be sex abusers and paedophiles.

So where do you start? Well first of all there needs to be a worldwide easily accessible data centre, which holds a record of every worker who has been sacked for abuse of any kind.

This would ensure that these people at least could never get into any other organisation that involved children. Secondly, those at the very top need to be thoroughly vetted. After all it stands to reason, if they are rife with such large numbers of offenders, some could quite easily be in board and management positions.

This would also explain the fact that there have been numbers of occasions where whistleblowers have been sacked, with their accusations stifled and pushed under the carpet.

Far from being vilified, these caring people need to be given every encouragement and complete anonymity while a thorough investigation of their accusations is conducted by an independent body set up by respective governments. I also believe the finances of these big charity companies should be more carefully looked into. It seems to me many of those 'at the top' seem to be living far too comfortably - for comfort - if you get my drift.

Well that's my three penneth, for what it's worth. All I know is something must be done and as quickly as possible. After all it is the children who are suffering at the hands of these monsters, and above all they must retain priority.

Thanks for all your wonderful mails after last week's piece. Fair warmed the ol' boy's cockles. Keep 'em coming, and whatever ya do.

*Always.
Keep the faith,*

Platinum class service with a smile

FLYING is a trying time at the best of times but when you have to drop off your car at Malaga airport it used to be even worse.

Platinum Car Parking offers an easy and reliable airport parking solution and have been established for more than five years. This family run-business offers short, medium and long term car parking services tailored to your needs at affordable prices.

They are proud of the fact that they are one of the biggest privately owned British companies at Malaga airport. They believe that they stand out for the quality of personal service they offer to those travelling through the airport.

Unlike many others offering car parking, they provide a collection and return service at departures so there is no hassle in having to find the parking facilities and wait for a courtesy shuttle to take you to the terminal.

Simply drive up to departures terminal two and a professional and friendly member of staff will be waiting for you. After a small amount of paperwork you will be free to catch your flight and your vehicle will be safely stored at one of their secure parking locations with indoor and outdoor parking available.

Upon your return, your flight will be monitored and once you have landed, head upstairs from the arrivals level to the departures level and a representative will be waiting with your vehicle for you as near as possible to the Tobacos Shop opposite terminal two.

PERSONAL SERVICE: The team will be waiting at departures for you.

The Platinum Parking team wear distinctive red uniforms with the company name emblazoned in white. There is no mistaking the company you are entrusting your vehicle with and all staff are not only experienced, but are trained to be courteous and helpful at what can be a stressful time at Malaga airport due to the increasingly high levels of traffic and increased flights.

You can drop your car off secure in the knowledge that it will be safe and what's more Platinum Parking can also offer a range of additional services such as carrying out your vehicle's ITV test as well as body work or mechanical repairs, so it will all be ready and waiting for you upon your return.

Long term and annual contracts are available for clients and the 23-32 day special parking offer for just €65 is always a popular choice for clients and most have nothing but compliments to give about Platinum Car Parking:

CAR CARE: Your vehicle will be safely looked after and any work can be carried out whilst you are away.

If you are a regular traveller, then there are some exceptional long term parking options and you can decide whether you want your car stored outside or under cover and with some contracts your car will receive an external wash. Bookings and quotes can be obtained online via www.carparkingatmalagaairport.es or by calling 952 066 667.

GLOBELINK INTERNATIONAL

christina@globelink.co.uk

WE know that age doesn't slow down your appetite for travel to new, exciting destinations. We know that it's the mature generation taking holidays by storm and travelling more often and further afield than ever before.

An impressive 85 per cent of over 65's travel more than twice annually. And why not! With time and enthusiasm to discover the world, whether visiting family, friends, or taking a life time trip, there is no holding back this sea of change as holidays escalate up our 'essentials list' the older we get.

Older travellers tend to be more security and health conscious, yet it's sometimes increasingly difficult to get travel insurance the older you get, especially for the over 80's.

At Globelink we like to think we work hard to develop and improve products in line with customer's feedback, particularly as we really appreciate how loyal you are, with a whopping 68 per cent of you repeat buying from us.

We believe that age shouldn't be a blocker when arranging Travel Insurance, that's why we're excited about Globelink's latest new product - Single Trip Travel Insurance for 85-89 year olds.

Thanks to the support of our insurance partner at Lloyds, we've introduced comprehensive cover for this older age band, so spread the word to look further for a quality policy if you're aged up to 89.

We will also soon be offering long term Single Trip cover for up to 10 months for people aged up to 79 years, so there's no need to cut short those exotic adventures, or trips to family and friends.

Did you know that all our policies include Cruise Cover as standard, with no extra charge? Fourteen per cent of holidaymakers plan on taking a cruise this year and there's more choice than ever, especially river cruises, so avoid paying insurance hidden extras by choosing Globelink.

We know the older you get, the more likely you might have a medical condition, so we've doubled the number of Pre-Existing Medical Conditions covered as standard, including gastric reflux, diabetes, hypertension and more.

If you are an unashamed regular traveller taking two+ trips a year, check out Globelink Annual Multi-Trip Cover available for people up to 79 years with longer trip durations than even before.

Thinking about taking a Winter Sports break to enjoy some of the best snow Europe has seen for years? We'll get you covered for Winter Sports up to 70 years. Winter Sports Cover is free on our Annual Policies if you are up to 65 years and buy our '45-day trip duration' option, or you get free Winter Sports cover within Europe on our Annual Multi Trip 45+ policies if aged between 66-70 years.

Stay young at heart and enjoy your senior years exploring the world. For quality Travel Insurance that gives you essential peace of mind visit

Lap of luxury

Costa is class act for high end sales

LOCATION, LOCATION, LOCATION: The Costa del Sol is leading the luxury property drive.

By Kat Ashton

THE purchase of Spanish homes by foreign buyers is skyrocketing.

And the real estate market has recovered faster since the financial crisis than most of the country's other industries.

The Spanish Mediterranean coast remains among the top destinations for those on the hunt for luxury homes, complete with pristine golf courses and, above all, sea views.

According to the latest data published by Spanish notaries, there were more than 50,000 purchases by foreign investors in the first half of 2017, marking a 13.4 per cent year-on-year increase.

Almost 20 per cent of these sales were focused on the Costa del Sol.

And while Spanish housing market figures have shown a consistent improvement since 2014, they have boomed in recent months.

The Costa del Sol remains one of the preferred destinations year after year for foreign buyers looking for a luxury home on the Spanish coast.

Sea views are reportedly among the top priority for these buyers, closely followed by distance to the nearest golf course and their own swimming pool, according to a new report by a leading estate agent.

The agency claims that these buyers are looking for properties built using the latest materials and technology, but are also energy efficient. Smart homes are the latest trend among foreign upmarket buyers, which combine state-of-the-art technology with energy saving features.

However, foreign buyers reportedly prefer a house further away from the coast, so long as they have a good pool, are closer to the golf course and still have great views of the sea, while homes sought by Spanish buyers tend to be closer to the beachfront.

The typical "foreigner looking for a house on the Costa del Sol is usually Nordic or British, who buys the property as a holiday home first and often ends up spending his retirement there," explained the agency.

Tiny mobile homes making their mark

THE trend is yet to hit Spain, but the popularity of the Tiny House movement is sweeping across the US, and other countries are taking notice.

People are embracing a vision about mobile homes that takes in a lifestyle immersed in nature, but that can be near urban areas or even in a green area in the middle of a city.

For many it has been a day-dream to escape the stress and frantic pace of urban life, with an energy saving home that you can take where you want, with less expenses and less chores.

But the Tiny House social movement was born out of this vision, and to promote the reduction of built-up urban sprawls.

The case was there to be made that it is not necessary to live in houses of more than 200 square metres, in which owners spend a third of their income over many years on the mortgage.

The Tiny Houses do not usually exceed 20 or 30 square metres, and have all the comforts of a normal home, with a bathroom, heating, appliances, but combined with a stylish minimalism.

Those who are curious about the concept can even start with a rental arrangement, or a weekend getaway.

Real estate sales go through the roof

MALAGA is the fourth most popular province in the country to buy a home, according to the National Institute of Statistics.

BUILDING CONFIDENCE: Malaga Province is enjoying a real estate boom.

It is surpassed only by the two flagship cities, Madrid and Barcelona, and by Alicante.

Between January and November 2017 a total of 27,941 homes were sold in Malaga, representing a growth of 13.1 per cent over the previous year.

The data confirms the view that the real estate sector is enjoying its strongest period in recent years, with November alone posting the best figures since 2007.

Malaga alone counts for a third of all sales in the Andalusian region, owing to its popularity with foreign buyers.

The scale of Malaga's real estate performance can be seen in the fact that the January-November period saw it sell twice as many homes than both Galicia and the Basque Country.

Casa Zeta Jones: the new self-styled interior designer

WITH five luxury homes to choose from, including a €40 million, 11-bedroom villa in Mallorca, it's little surprise that Catherine Zeta Jones has developed an interest in home decor.

The Welsh-born mother of two, 48, Hollywood actress and wife of screen legend Michael Douglas, 73, is not shy about showing off her efforts either.

Although her new film, Cocaine Godmother, in which she plays Colombian drug baron Griselda Blanco, recently aired, her acting career has been on the quiet side of late.

But after launching her Casa Zeta Jones homeware range with QVC in August last year, and regularly sharing her renovation projects on social media, it looks as though the Oscar-winning star is taking a new career direction.

The couple's largest home is an €11.29 million property in Bedford, upstate New York, complete with stables, as well as eight bedrooms and 13 bathrooms.

FINE DINING: Catherine's feminine flourishes offset the dark wooden pieces.

It boasts shiny black granite floors that require daily polishing by the staff, and there is an array of antiques including an art deco butterfly wing piano worth more than €34,000.

Catherine adds a touch of softness and colour to imposing, dark wood dining tables by decorating them with arrangements of fresh roses, telling fans: "Wish you could smell these fragrant blooms."

Even at mealtimes, the ornately carved breakfast bar in the tiled kitchen, which boasts two cookers and a quirky arrangement of framed spoons, is laid with matching China with fresh flowers on the napkin rings.

Visitors who are lucky enough to be invited over can relax in the luxury guest house, which has been remodelled by Catherine, who is clearly relishing her new direction.

Record-breaking year for hotel investment

HOTEL investment in Spain reached record levels in 2017.

According to a report by the Insights on the Hotel Investment Market in Spain 2017, a record €3.9 billion was spent in 2017, beating the previous record of €2.6 billion set in 2015.

A total of 182 hotels changed hands last year, in comparison to 147 sold the previous year, while the average price per room also rose to an estimated €119,000.

Most of the recorded investment came in the resort sector, which saw a 69 per cent increase and outperformed the urban sector, which still rose by 31 per cent.

Investment was also more widely distributed in Spain last year.

Malaga accounted for 15 per cent of the country's total with 18 hotel sales, totalling €516 million, while the Canary Islands were the country's top investor destination seeing €939 million invested, contributing 27 per cent of Spain's total.

International investment continued to play a major role in the country's market growth, with overseas investment reportedly accounting for more than 60 per cent of investments at €2.3 billion.

Looking ahead to this year, real estate consultancy Irea's hotel division expects hotel investments to remain high in 2018, but the uncertainty caused due to the unrest in Cataluña may prevent the investment in Spain from reaching last year's totals.

Miguel Vazquez, partner of Irea's hotel unit, told Property Magazine International: "As in 2017, this year has started with a considerable number of deals in the latter stages of negotiation, which, if completed, could produce €600 million of investment in the first quarter of 2018."

RECORD YEAR: Madrid's Metropolis hotel.

Log into a unique floating hotel

ARTICBATH is Sweden's upcoming floating hotel on the Lule River, and is literally an escape from everyday life.

Located in the Scandinavian north, the area is a glacial haven of snow-tipped forests, world-class fishing, amazing wildlife and the Northern Lights.

The resort is from the team behind the region's acclaimed Treehotel - the quirky brainchild of owners Britta and Kent Lindvall.

ArcticBath will offer a similar mix of luxury and nature, inspired by the stunning Swedish surroundings.

"You don't have to copy things made elsewhere, it's not interesting," says architect Bertil Harstrom. "I think the interesting things come from your own history and your background."

The unique design is inspired by Swedish log-shipping traditions which Harstrom recalled from his childhood.

"It was a symbol for that era and so I chose to build this idea around the connection to the forests," he said.

The resulting circular structure is a striking combination of man-made and natural influences.

ArcticBath is home to six rooms alongside saunas, a cold plunge pool, spa treatment rooms, a restaurant and a bar.

During winter, the resort will be frozen into the ice, and obviously floating in the river in the warmer months.

After the success of Treehotel, locals in the nearby village of Harads have been very encouraging about the project.

ArcticBath is due to open in late 2018.

PRICE RISE: An increase in demand and a shortage of supply has pushed up prices for property in Marbella and elsewhere in Malaga Province.

Shortage of land in Malaga leading to rising prices

MALAGA PROVINCE is among Madrid and the Balearic Islands in experiencing a lack of suitable land for building new homes, according to a report.

The shortage of directly buildable land has begun to impact on an already scarce supply of houses which, along with increasing demand, is causing prices to rise.

Prices in Marbella have risen particularly significantly due to these factors, according to the Appraisal Society's data from January.

House market activity has also increased in Sevilla, Malaga and Granada. Markets in Cordoba, Jaen and Almeria are reportedly more stable in contrast.

Nationally, land prices in the Basque Country have reportedly remained stable, although residential values have risen.

There was vacant land available for development in Aragon, but building is expected to remain concentrated around its main urban centres. Much of the free land there is more suited to industrial use.

The picture in Cataluña was more varied, with activity in the land market focused around Barcelona, but not growing in areas such as Lerida and Tarragona. This is reportedly down to ongoing political uncertainty with the region's independence crisis still ongoing.

The markets of Madrid and Valencia are reportedly experiencing strong levels of growth. In Alicante and Murcia prices have remained stable in part due to the availability of land.

In the Balearic Islands prices have continued to rise, fuelled by an increase in demand particularly in coastal areas.

The markets of Castilla-La Mancha and Castilla Leon have not seen much recent development despite the availability of land, although prices have risen.

Moving home from Spain? Make your money go further

If the sun is setting on your time in Spain and you need to transfer savings or the proceeds of a property sale back to the UK, it's important to consider your currency options.

Picking the best time to transfer your funds and having the support of a specialist provider can leave you thousands better off. Intrigued? Read on to discover the key things you should be looking out for...

1. Exchange rate volatility

Exchange rates are the value of one currency relative to another, and they can move in reaction to all manner of economic, political, social and even environmental stimuli.

The EUR/GBP exchange rate, for example, has shifted significantly over the last few years.

Back in 2016 the EUR/GBP exchange rate was around £0.75 - meaning one euro was worth 75 pence. But then Brexit happened. The UK's unexpected vote to leave the EU sent the pound reeling, and the broad-based weakness in Sterling helped the EUR/GBP exchange rate jump as high as £0.92 - 17 pence stronger.

17 pence might not sound like much (it couldn't even buy you half a Mars Bar these days) but the exchange rate shift meant that people making larger currency transfers from the Eurozone to the UK were thousands better off than they would have been pre-vote.

Although the EUR/GBP exchange rate has since eased away from its post-referendum highs, it's still substantially stronger than it was a couple of years ago - making now a good time to transfer money back to Britain.

However, exchange rates can move by as much as 5% in a matter of weeks, so it's worth keeping an eye on what the currency market's up to if you want to transfer your funds at the best time.

If you aren't sure where to find the latest currency news, sign up to receive market updates from a leading currency broker and they'll send the information you need to know right to your inbox.

The type of provider you use can also make a massive difference to how much you receive, with currency specialists tending to offer far more competitive exchange rates than banks.

2. Transfer charges

While currency providers like Currencies Direct will manage your currency transfers fee-free, many other providers (and most high-street banks) will charge for the service.

The fee will vary, but no matter how much it is, it's still money you don't need to spend. Make sure you check how much a provider charges before using them to move your funds back home.

3. Transfer options

When it comes to transferring currency overseas, there are a number of different options to choose from...

If you need to make an immediate transfer, a spot contract allows you to move the money quickly at the current exchange rate.

Meanwhile, if you don't need to move money at the moment but you're worried the exchange rate might change in the future, you can use a forward contract to lock in the rate for up to a year.

You can even use a stop loss order to set a worst-case rate, or use a limit order to target a rate higher than the current market level.

Currencies Direct offers all these options, and their teams of currency experts will be able to talk through your requirements and help you pick the best solution for you.

Currencies Direct also have a relationship with CaixaBank that means anyone selling a property in Spain can deposit the banker's draft in their euro account without incurring all the usual fees.

At Currencies Direct, we've helped over 210,000 customers save on their currency transfers since 1996. Just pop into your local Currencies Direct branch or give us a call to find out more about how you can save money on your currency transfers.

Spain's innovative energy saving method

SEVERAL contemporary buildings in Spain are using a new technique in order to save energy.

According to Andrew Michler, author of 'The Hyperlocalisation of Architecture,' who calls the technique 'the architecture of wrapping,' by adding an outer layer beyond the glass to control solar exposure, certain Spanish buildings use minimal energy to keep residents at ease.

In turn, this then allows architects to ensure that an adequate amount of natural light is available in order to reduce the need for energy-intensive artificial lighting.

There are several examples of this technique being used on unique buildings all across Spain.

Inside the E8 office building in Vitoria Gasteiz, large facets of glass draw the reflection of the sky down to earth, which gives an effect as if the building is almost disappearing.

Its 'second skin' provides solar control and wind protection which reduces the building's overall energy use.

ENERGY SAVING:
 Fuencarral Police Station in Madrid.

FUTURISTIC:
 The E8 building in Vitoria.

Similarly, inside the Comisaria Fuencarral Police Station in Madrid, there are very few opaque surfaces except for interview rooms and private offices.

The building's second skin reflects ambient light during the day which protects the structure from excess heat.

And a similar model is being used on a planned future project, the Ferrer Research and Development Centre in Barcelona.

The centre is reportedly specifically designed to create biodiversity, with one wood wall that plays host to trees and shade.

While one wall has trees and shade, another collects solar energy, but also has vertical shading in the colours and patterns of butterflies while its fourth wall is covered in greenery.

THIS brand new house in Spain took just five hours to assemble.

The minimalist modern home in Valdes, a small town in Asturias, northwest of Madrid, reportedly took less than four months to build in a factory but was assembled in five hours in total on site.

Designed by Studio Baragaño, the 'Montaña house' is described as a stylish mix between a traditional home and more modern houses found throughout the area.

The house, built in wood and raised on pillars typical of many homes in the Iberian Peninsula, was constructed in a factory in Madrid and was later transported to Valde, where it was embellished by a local artisan with a traditional slate roof.

It has two levels, with common living spaces occupying most of the bottom level while bedrooms accommodate the second floor.

The designers reportedly drew inspiration from the architectural style of the traditional residential structure found in the region.

The central element to the house, which is now a residence for a British landscaper and his family, includes a metal staircase and has a fireplace suspended from the living room.

Polycarbonate panels separate the rooms upstairs, which allow natural light to penetrate all of the upstairs spaces which adds warmth to the minimalist feel.

New housing numbers increase by more than 60 per cent

THE number of new home plans processed in Malaga Province stood at 4,895 last year, an increase of 61 per cent compared to 2016, according to figures.

House building levels in 2017 were at their biggest since 2008-9 and the rate of the increase has tripled from 24 per cent in 2016, according to the College of Architects.

Francisco Sarabia, of the College, said the data suggested that the construction industry had recovered from the economic crisis which began around 10 years ago.

He added that despite the positive trends triumphalism should be avoided as the rate at which new homes were being built is yet to return to pre-crash levels.

"In 2007, 45,000 homes in Malaga were approved for construction," he said.

The rate of home building should return to normal levels, around 20,000 to 25,000 new houses being approved per year, in about four to five years, he added.

The number of completed new homes doubled to 2,583 in 2017, the most finished since 2012 when 2,755 were built.

More than 800 projects consisting of a total 4,895 homes and budgets adding up to €825 million were processed in the province, according to data from the College.

Almost 1,150 of these were single family homes, 3,625 were multi-family and

NEW BUILDS: The number of new home projects submitted was the highest it has been since 2008-9.

125 were houses under official protection.

Mijas led in the building of new single-family homes at 175 units, followed by Mar-bella with 133. Malaga led in multi-family projects at 1,036, coming ahead of Estepona at 690, Mijas at 240 and Fuengirola at 250.

THERE is a great deal to be said for purchasing new property from a company that has a huge amount of experience and speaks your language - Taylor Wimpey Spain fits that bill. It is now one of the largest house builders in the UK, founded in 2007 from the merger of George Wimpey and Taylor Woodrow and is a major player in the FTSE 100 with annual turnover in excess of €4 billion.

Now celebrating its Diamond Anniversary, the forerunner to Taylor Wimpey started building in Spain in 1958 and the fact that it has been able to continue to trade for 60 years despite the various problems with the economy speaks volumes for the strength and character of the company.

Although the head office is based in Palma de Mallorca, the company has branch offices in both Alicante and Marbella.

Horizon Golf, is Taylor Wimpey Spain's second development at La Cala Resort, in the valley of Mijas and is located within the complex's famous Campo Asia golf course.

The new Horizon Golf complex has panoramic views over the golf course and La Cala de Mijas.

It consists of 55 ample terraced homes, with three bedrooms, two bathrooms and a cloakroom in a private gated development with gardens and communal swimming pools.

All homes have a basement, a spacious main floor, large terraces and solarium of over 50m² with panoramic views.

The development and the golf are perfectly integrated within a natural environment with spectacular scenery. Horizon Golf features luxury finishes, fully equipped furnished kitchens and installed air conditioning, designer bathrooms, bedrooms with motorised blinds, and secure, fully lined wardrobes.

This is a development which offers the most modern living accommodation with solar panels, thermal and acoustic insulation, natural ventilation and access to all of the facilities at La Cala Golf Resort.

Everything you would expect is included in the price of purchase, but money can't buy the beautiful weather and spectacular views of the golf course, the coast and the mountains.

This is a quality build as would be expected from Taylor Wimpey which meets all European construction standards and will boast an energy certificate type B.

The whole area is delightful and if even if you are not a golfer, you have easy access to Malaga City and the airport, great beaches, the growing town of Fuengirola on the coast, some exceptional restaurants in the town La Cala itself and an expatriate friendly council which even has a special foreigners department to look after its numerous foreign residents.

The legendary city of Marbella is a relatively short drive away and it only takes just over an hour to get to the trendy port of Sotogrande and from there Gibraltar is just a short hop away.

This is an area of Spain that has been developed but still maintains much of its charm, especially up in the mountains where the charming Mijas Pueblo waits to welcome visitors.

For more details of the great opportunities that await buyers of these new properties and others in the area including La Cala, Benahavis, Elviria, Malaga and Marbella, or even in other parts of Spain visit the website at <https://taylorwimpeyspain.com>.

The successful way of finding & buying property in the Costa del Sol!

Discount Property Center was born in Marbella as a Management and Real Estate Company in the Costa del Sol in 2011, and today we have consolidated in our environment managing and advising in the purchase of its property to hundreds of clients with a unique aim: contribute to their satisfaction, and maximise the value of their real estate investments.

Our offices are located in the heart of Nueva Andalucía, Marbella, in the modern Centro Plaza, within walking distance of the international Puerto Banus and its famous marina.

A spacious, comfortable and visible office to improve the service and attention to our customers, as well as to offer a wide range of real estate coverage in this highly demanded area.

Our mission is to help all our clients to make the most appropriate decision in their real estate operations: facilitating the purchase or sale, in the shortest time possible, at the best market price, legally protecting the assets of all parties, with transparency and professionalism.

To accomplish this, we have a large team of 15 professionals with extensive experience in the real estate sector both on the Costa del Sol and international, covering all departments of the company: administration, telemarketing, marketing and sales, thus covering all of our customers' needs.

■ Transparency: Report what products, goods or services are available, at what price, in what place, and under what conditions, to increase the client's knowledge of the products or services that they are trying to demand.

■ Respect: Correct and considerate attitude towards all persons, a client, collaborator or supplier.

■ Integrity and Honesty: Act in accordance with our principles, making the good prevail before all of us and our customers and collaborators.

■ Professionalism and Responsibility: Satisfying the needs of our clients by offering quality work, promoting at the same time the development of our company and of the people.

Our vision is to be a leading real estate and service group in the Costa del Sol, in continuous growth and expansion of the business, which is distinguished by providing excellent quality of service to its customers, with personalised services based on trust and confidence, maximising the value of our clients' real estate investments and the total satisfaction of their needs.

We constantly renew and expand our services in line with the latest news and market demands, always adapted to the needs of our customers, with constant training and with the necessary tools for its sole objective management: to contribute to the satisfaction of our customers.

Discount Property Center Marbella has developed with great success on the Costa del Sol one of our favourite tasks: the intermediation and sale of exclusive real estate developments.

In this particular case our clients have been the Investment Funds, who have placed their trust in our company for external advice and sale of these exclusives: it was to give professional advice and guarantee of optimal result and without negative consequences.

Home is where the island is

THE rich and famous looking to expand their property portfolio can now buy their own island by surfing the web.

More than 2,650 islands have been sold on the Vladi Private Islands website, and Pumpkin Key, near Miami, Florida, is available to buy for an eye watering £70 million (€79 million).

The exclusive private island in the Florida Keys has one main home, built in 1985, which has three bedrooms and bathrooms, and has the highest price tag on the site.

It also has its own private club, an airstrip for private jets and is just a 10-minute journey to Miami's South Beach.

Meanwhile, a 64 acre island off the coast of Shetland, Scotland is also available to buy and comes with planning permission for a pier and a two-acre loch.

LINGA FRANCA:
 The Scottish island is on the market for just €282,000

Other spectacular islands up for sale include a similarly sized island in Fiji, known as the Remote Resort, which has been listed for €2.9 million (€3.27 million).

Last year the average London home sold for £481,000 (€542,000), making the Scottish island of Linga, on the market for £250,000 (€282,000) almost half the price.

A huge, 35,000 acre island, 16 miles long and off the coast of Mexico, is on the market for £15 million (€16.9 million).

Cerralvo Island has a breathtaking landscape which includes a 2,100ft mountainous ridgeline.

The Isla Centinela in Spain comes with a 1920's castle which is surrounded by water and is available to purchase for £3.5 million (€3.95 million).

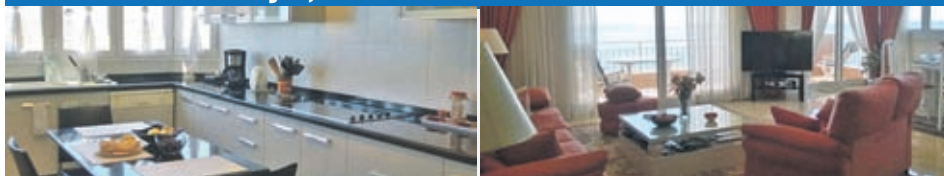

Farhad Vladi, CEO of Vladi Private Islands, said the website was set up in 1999 and more than 2,650 islands have been sold since.

"Islands are pharmacies for the soul and you can control what you see. They are the best combination of lifestyle and investment," he said.

A POPULAR new smart-phone app that lets you control the smart devices in your home is looking to expand to Spain.

Yeti, by a company called Netbeast, connects all your smart devices to simplify the control of your home and lets homeowners control, automate and monitor all their smart devices from anywhere, anytime.

It supports a wide range of smart home devices from lights and wireless speakers to heating and security solutions, offering homeowners comfort, security and convenience.

The company claim that with the app, homeowners will allow the home to be simpler as it lets you control all your smart devices with one app instead of many, better as it gives you a variety of features to empower your house, smarter as it helps your

Marbella property company target UK market

SPANISH luxury accommodation rental company Vacation Marbella has continued to build its growing portfolio with the purchase of 12 new Andalusian properties and is targeting the UK golf market.

First established in 2015, Vacation Marbella offer apartments that cater to families and groups of all sizes and ages as well as golfers with a large array of specially tailored packages in areas all across the Costa del Sol.

Following the purchase of the 12 further places, Vacation Marbella's portfolio now stands at 60 different properties and 320 bedrooms, with three of the new apartments reported to be €1 million penthouses.

According to reports, the company is now planning to focus more on the UK golf market and has devised a range of golf stay-and-play packages that include discounted green fees at local courses.

Vacation Marbella reportedly hosted more than 10,000 people last year, with the majority coming from the UK, and joint owner Borja Rodriguez said the company has acquired the properties to keep up with the demand.

He told the media: "We have enjoyed a very successful 2017 with increasing numbers of visitors, particularly from the UK, so naturally we have added to our rental options in order to keep pace with that growing demand."

"We have 60 properties now, but the plan is to expand that further with the aim of taking it up to 90 by the end of the year.

"Three of these additions are stunning top-end penthouses, giving visitors the chance to enjoy the ultimate in quality accommodation, but we have an array of apartments that, although are still of exceptional high quality, are more affordable, and these are ideal for visitors who want to enjoy the excellent golf courses in the area, the golden beaches of the Costa del Sol, the famous Puerto Banus nightlife or the huge choice of incredible bars and restaurants."

Marbella Moments

by Nicole King

WHEN the news broke that the UK had voted in favour of leaving the European Union, now fondly referred to as 'Brexit,' the majority of the Spanish along the Costa were truly offended. They didn't understand how we could be living in their country and yet want no part of it.

Those of us living here were also shocked at the result, but we knew many of us had no say in the matter. The Spanish on the other hand didn't know that and felt / feel resentful.

As it turns out the Spanish never lose their right to vote so how could they even begin to think that it would be different for us Brits?

For many 'Brexpats' it was an uncomfortable time. How can you explain to everyone that made a hurtful comment that we didn't even have the right to vote and that we weren't happy either?

More recently The Times ran a snide piece based on the writer's interpretation of 'typical' Spanish traits and customs. This article was written with humorous intention and possibly went by quite unnoticed in the UK until it became headline news throughout Spain.

They didn't get the wit at all, but how could they? English humour is based on making fun of people, belittling them to make one feel superior and the article certainly wasn't flattering.

I too felt offended when I read 'How to be Spanish' and so was not surprised to see the uproar or the retaliation piece in one of the most important national newspapers, the ABC.

According to this publication we're lacking in hygiene as proven by a survey that showed the average is just four showers a week, plus our wall-to-ceiling carpets are tremendous dirt traps. It had become a slugging match. They wanted to be mean back which truly highlighted just how insulted the whole nation felt.

When interviewing our British Consul, Charmaine Arbouin on my radio show #MiMarbella last week this subject came up as did the ramifications of all these misunderstandings. She confirmed they aren't going by without consequences. In fact Charmaine feels they can actually be causing additional problems for UK Nationals in the EU way before our official European cut-off date.

It would seem that many people are now complaining that they can't renew their inscription on the 'padron' and when they ask about residency and work permits they are being given different and often conflictive information with far more hoops to jump.

Obviously each town hall and even some Local Police are reacting differently to the decision for the UK to leave the European community and when you add this to our apparent disdain of them, this is not helping our cause. In fact it looks like the joke's on us!

Recording of the full interview on Mi Marbella 107.6 fm with Charmaine Arbouin, British Consul to Andalucia, Canary Islands, Ceuta and Melilla, dated 14.02.18, is available from my web: www.marbellanowtv.com.

wife was repatriated back to the UK within a week and I had nothing to worry about at this stressful and upsetting time.

All I had to do was go with my son to see the funeral director in Newton Abbot to discuss which flowers we would like and the details of the service.

I was very impressed with the way things were carried out and I decided immediately to upgrade my plan to a Golden Plan, so that I can be repatriated back to the UK and join my wife eventually.

I certainly would recommend Golden Leaves to anyone, the service was excellent and relieved me of so much pressure and they really helped me.

TV COUCH CRITIC

THERE seems to be a concerted effort by the BBC to bring American football to the British sporting masses?

I applaud the coverage shown on Sunday at some ungodly hour for the Super Bowl, and I realise it's a big deal in America, but to headline it on the sports news the following day. Why? Not too many people are interested except the odd fan.

There is only one football and it doesn't have American before it! We also have rugby in two codes - union and league - both of which are much more entertaining and British.

I prefer The Voice (ITV Saturdays) to the X Factor. Although the judges are far more famous on The Voice they are also more humble and don't love themselves as much as the X Factor pretenders.

Will.i.am, Jennifer Hudson, Olly Murs and the great Sir Tom Jones come across as genuinely seeking singing talent that they personally like and can improve. The banter between the acts, with themselves and the audience really appeals.

I also love the ad-lib jamming that they all do and last week we had an impromptu rendering of 'It's Not Unusual' live by Tom which was fantastic. His own voice has lost none of its strength and he is held in awe by the three other judges as well as myself. Yes indeed Tom, a true legend!

What can you say about Casualty (BBC1 Saturdays)? Firstly, it's not my usual fare on Saturdays but

FABULOUS: Mary Berry.

The Voice has the X Factor and Berry is a gem

I occasionally watch it. It's been going so long the early operations were performed using ether as the anaesthetic, and they even had a contract with Burke and Hare for supplying specimens to practise on.

Good old Charley, (Derek Thompson) the only surviving original cast member on the show, was a sprightly young man at the series onset and him and Duffy (Kathy Shipton) seemed to always have a thing for each other so marriage was inevitable. Still, the hospital staff always go the extra mile, much further than a normal hospital in the UK would, but it seems there's a good following or the Beeb would have pulled the plug ages ago.

Who wouldn't want to stay at Mary Berry's house for a week or two? Her Saturday lunchtime cookery show on BBC1 has me drooling at the screen. Apart from her fantastic food recipes she comes across as a nice person. The rack of lamb she produced last week had me scrambling to open a tin of beans as soon as the show finished. Still judging by the size of the house and gardens either her cooking or character has paid dividends, or her husband's not short of a few bob. Good luck to her whichever, she deserves it and is fabulous.

It's obvious Morse was as miserable in his early police career as he was in later life, judging by ITV's Sunday evening prequel, Endeavour. I have to admit his fledgling police career is more gritty and the nostalgia of early policing methods and the 60's feel swings it for me, even though there was only one John Thaw.

Shawn Evans plays the young Endeavour Morse well, and in this episode he had just been promoted to a DS before going about his business hunting down murder suspects which are connected to a horror film set at the local flix. There's also an influx of racist attacks which seem to escalate.

Morse and Inspector Thursday hunt down their prey in a relaxed manner, ably assisted by the usual forensic scientist describing the victim's injuries in colourful detail after examining the bodies.

Not seen much of the Winter Olympics this time round (BBC1 and BBC2, various times), although I don't think many people have. The usual problem is that it's not cold enough and there's not enough snow, but Korea seems to be the opposite! Oh well, at least we have had a lessening of hostilities between the two warring factors north and south, both actually presenting a passable united front and sitting down to talk. Progress I hope.

Critique: PM, San Fulgencio, Costa Blanca.

SEARCHING for a discreet yet fabulous holiday? One that is a destination and a conveyance at one and the same time? Need to take the whole family, several friends and their families too? Looking for the height of luxury, the epitome of service, huge interior spaces as well as a close and intimate connection to the ocean? May I suggest the yacht NIRVANA.

Completed by Oceanco and delivered to her owner in the spring of 2012, then presented to the world at the Monaco Yacht Show (the premier superyacht show of the world) that September.

NIRVANA at 88.50 metres is a striking, elegant and exclusive mega yacht with modern lines and contemporary style. NIRVANA features six enormous decks and offers an impressive 150 square metre owner's suite comprising study, lounge, lobby and private exterior deck area with whirlpool. A further five guest cabins, a 3-D cinema, a fully equipped gym, a 7.5-metre long oval pool and whirlpools with panoramic views are just a few of the massive superlatives of this superyacht.

NIRVANA's six decks are connected by the main stairwell and an extraordinary six-person glass lift, which is entwined in a striking Balinese stainless-steel woven art piece resembling a bubbling whirlpool. This sculptural feature is a focal point from all levels of the yacht.

tween the salon, dining room and a cosy separate sitting room - and are home to live and active reptiles, a chameleon, water dragons, bearded lizards, turtles and exotic frogs.

The timeless Sorgiovanni-designed interior mixes various distinctive and exceptional materials, including bamboos and textured leathers, in imaginative and inspiring ways.

NIRVANA accommodates an experienced crew of 24 in an exceptionally friendly layout, enabling the efficient and discreet fulfilment of any and all her guests' requirements.

Guests are close to the sea and the excitement and involvement is enhanced through the garage, which can hold a large array of tenders and water sports equipment.

A watersports room holds diving equipment and a drying cabinet for wetsuits, with immediate access to the sea through the lower lobby access.

Charlie Birkett and Gary Wright together with their professional team at Y.CO (www.ycoyacht.com) are the brokers for numerous mega yachts as well as NIRVANA.

This winter NIRVANA is cruising in the Indian Ocean, and can be yours for a charter of €900,000 per week.

If 'Send to All' really existed...

TECH FOR THE TIMID

LAST year a friend sent my email address a joke.

Now I'm deluged with offers to augment the male anatomy, retrieve my winnings from a lottery I didn't enter, or enjoy the charms of ladies called Anushka or Anastasya.

And all because my friend took a leaf from the Michael McIntyre show by using his equivalent of that 'Send to All' game to pass on his innocuous joke.

What email etiquette did he contravene? His emailed joke was openly addressed to everyone in his address book. I could see all his dozens of friends' addresses, and they could all see mine. In this age of easy digital pilferage that put all our addresses out there in the wild, it's easy pickings for the spammers.

So here's this week's tiny but vital email etiquette tip: when you want to forward the funniest thing since segmented whole wheat, hide the addresses of your inflictees.

Here's how:

- 1) Compose your email.
- 2) Address it to your own email address.
- 3) Then add your recipients one by one with the BCC button.

BCC officially means 'Blind Carbon Copy'. It's the subversive variant of the CC 'copy' function, responsible single-handedly for swamping workplaces with avalanches of digital sludge.

BCC is a really sneaky way to copy someone into correspondence without the original addressee being aware of it. All BCC addresses are hidden from all other recipients, so no one can harvest valuable contact details from your address book.

By addressing an email to yourself and then BCC-ing your recipients, their details remain sacrosanct and they'll only hate you for the inanity of your joke, not for revealing their email addresses to all.

While we're at it, here's another obvious but surprisingly common email fault: keeping everything in your Inbox.

My immortal beloved eventually had several thousand emails in her groaning, treacle-slow Inbox until she finally saw the light and was saved.

All it takes is to make folders/directories in your email program's left-hand navigation column, and every day drag your dealt-with emails from the Inbox into their respective folders: Business, Friends, Lovers, Potential lovers, Final demands, Absolutely final demands, whatever folders suit your particular needs. It makes finding the email you want a whole lot easier too.

One more tip: delete those huge attachments from your emails once you're done with them. In some programs you just right-click the attachment symbol and choose delete.

Your email program will become much more responsive without the burden of all those forwarded cat videos. So do it right miao.

Scorched earth

RATHER than clean my lodgings as a student, it was often easier just to keep moving somewhere else.

Sadly it's not that simple with email, though some of us do indeed just give up when spammers overrun our accounts, and endure the 'scorched earth' hassle of starting a new address.

Hitting an 'Unsubscribe' link at the bottom of an email often works. But sometimes it has the opposite and unintended effect of confirming to the spammer that he has reached an actual live recipient, and the invasion ramps up.

For extreme cases you can actually train your program to recognise junk mail and move it to a junk folder automatically. Or you can use a proper spam blocker. I had 30 emails advertising one in my Inbox last week...

What a state Britain's in - how did it get to this?

WHAT'S going on in the UK?

We read that the NHS was forced to pay £1,500 for a £2 pot of moisturiser, people have been extortionately fined for putting cardboard boxes in the wrong recycling bins, plus there's been a torrent of false rape allegations.

First up, the owner of the high street chemist, Boots, charged the NHS £1,500 for a £2 moisturiser.

The case is among thousands where it looks as if the NHS has been overcharged for drugs called specials: custom-made for patients who need non-standard medicines, mixtures of skin creams for eczema etc and drugs in liquid form for those unable to swallow pills.

This speaks volumes about poor management at the NHS. Are they totally blind to the blatant abuse of the system by unscrupulous suppliers, who must have knowledge of pricing and policies, but choose to exploit them for their own gain?

Next, a woman was fined £600 for putting one cardboard box into the wrong recycling bin. When she complained, she was warned she'd face an even larger fine, possibly a prison sentence unless she paid up. The fine was imposed by a company, employed by the council, that provides enforcement to councils free of charge and makes money from all these fines. Really?

Then, the false rape allegations. A teenage schoolboy, Liam Allan, was cleared of rape after his lawyers uncovered key evidence proving his innocence but missed by police and prosecutors.

Expelled from school after his arrest, on bail for two years, he's the youngest victim of the disclosure scandal engulfing the CPS.

But are other innocent men behind bars less 'lucky' than young Liam? Has the pendulum against men swung a bit too far?

Let's take another example. The UK, as elsewhere, is confronted by threats of a world order; Putin's Russia on the prowl, terrorists galore, Trump's America not completely dependable anymore. Meanwhile, what sort of questions were the British media hurling at the defence secretary in response recently? Why, all about his past sex life, of course. 'Nuff said.

LEGALLY SPEAKING

Permission to use your vehicle

WE answer some common driving questions, kindly provided by members of the Guardia Civil based in Torrevieja, Costa Blanca, who set up the N332 website and Facebook page to help break down barriers.

ASSUMING your insurance covers multiple drivers, you may allow any qualified driver to use your vehicle. However, in order to avoid problems if the driver is stopped, it is recommended that the vehicle driver is given a document proving that they have the owner's permission to drive the vehicle.

This may seem like an inconvenience, but it is for your protection. If the vehicle is stopped, the officers who come across a vehicle driven by somebody other than the registered keeper will question the legalities of the driver, which is in your best interest, as if it is stolen they will find out very soon.

Otherwise, if a vehicle is stolen but not yet reported as such, there could be no reason for the Guardia Civil or police to doubt the person driving the vehicle has the owner's permission, and so it could otherwise go unchecked. But of course there could be a genuine reason for somebody other than the registered keeper to drive the car, which is what this document would help to prove.

Simply download the document and complete it, or complete the online version and print it, and attach a copy of both the owner's driving licence, and a copy of the licence of the person given permission to drive. It should be completed in full, including a term of validity, and then dated and signed.

Download, print and complete the following document: <http://n332.es/wp-content/uploads/2018/01/authdriver.pdf>.

What is rental registration?

Q. To a recent enquiry about noisy renters you replied that the landlord must include a registration number on his advert. Does this apply to companies that manage properties for rental for the landlord? I ask because I never knew this and I have not seen it on any adverts. Where would the registration be placed and how many digits should it have?

M F (by email)

A. Good question. The regulation of short-term tourist lettings is handled by each one of Spain's 17 autonomous regions, so the rules are different from Andalusia to Valencia to the Balearic Islands. Furthermore, most of the regulations are quite new and the landlords may have up to a year to comply in some areas. My own quick search showed that practically no one is in compliance yet. There have been many bureaucratic delays in obtaining the registration but it has been made easier in some areas so you should find the numbers used before too long. And, yes, the letting agencies will be required to include the registration number for each property they advertise on the internet.

I am 'Relentless'

Mike Senker

Views of a Grumpy Old Man

THERE is nothing that makes me grumpier than dealing with ignorant, stupid people. Ryanair has recently introduced a 'live chat' facility which, after never being able to actually speak to a human being, is a good alternative. But this is the conversation I had with one of their agents today:

'Hello Michael - how may I help you?'

'I have booked a flight and paid to carry hand luggage. I am disabled and travel with my own wheelchair and I have just read in your FAQs that disabled passengers can take their hand luggage free of charge so I'd like to arrange a refund please.'

After going through the usual security questions she comes back with, 'There is no refund with priority boarding. Is there anything else I can help you with today?'

Well a) she hadn't actually helped me with anything and b) now she's offering to not help me with something else.

I explained again that I don't need priority boarding as I always have Special Assistance due to my disability but, because of their new luggage policy, I felt I had no choice other than to pay for priority boarding. Nowhere on their luggage details do they state that passengers using Special Assistance are able to keep their hand luggage with them free of charge.

I only discovered that little gem buried in their FAQs. Is it so hard to make it easy for people to know that or is it, as I suspect, an easy way to nick more money?

She confirms again there is no refund as they are 'a non-refundable airline'! What the hell does that mean??? I asked to be transferred to a supervisor at which point she says, 'I can't transfer you to a supervisor, if you're not happy fill out a form, goodbye'. And then she disconnects our chat!! And that was the end of my chat. How rude. This is not 'customer service' - this is 'customer alienation'.

Ryanair boast about how they are 'making things better' for their passengers. Really??? I then get a box come up asking me to fill in a survey regarding my experience. I asked them to send me copy of the chat so if anyone thinks I'm exaggerating I have the proof. I'm sure that nowhere on the booking page or the priority boarding does it say Special Assistance passengers do not need to pay. My nickname is 'Relentless' so I won't let this go and it's not even about the money, it's the principle.

It seems crazy that the Spanish government makes some things so difficult

I LIVE in Spain, needing to fit a much-needed body-part to my car that would help my wife to enter and exit - especially as she has advancing mobility problems.

But so help me, the very expensive and robust stainless-steel side-steps I bought from Poland cannot be fitted as it doesn't include a Homologated Certificate. Where the heck does it all end?

Spain is a great country, with a population that is welcoming, friendly and warm; so why the Spanish government is so short-sighted, blinkered and blatantly stupid when it comes to allowing individuals to fit replacement or new parts to their cars is unbelievable?

Towing arms, bull-bars, air-horns, etc are all included. And lots more too! Whoever made this stupid rule a law needs to reconsider it, I reckon. Maybe Gibraltar should close its borders to the Spanish! That would cause a storm-and-a-half!

The fact that anything fitted to a car that is seen as modifying it (?) has to be checked by an experienced Trained Tester at an ITV Centre before it is added to the relevant vehicle's paperwork for legality.

So why-oh-why is there such a palaver when it comes to fitting something? Either it's done properly or not at all. If not at all,

A honeymoon and now their forever home

WE originally came here in 1985 on honeymoon (age 23 and 22 years old), we have been back a few times since then but back again this year, 2018 (some 33 years later!).

It was always a dream of ours to come back to our beloved Benalmadena and for two months now we have been doing the groundwork, planning out the next chapter of our lives. On the right is us in 1985 on the prom. This is us in the same place, today: 33 years later!

Anne Currie,
Benalmadena

it will fail. It doesn't need a flimsy certificate. It doesn't necessarily need a so-called professional mechanic to fit it. It's only a few nuts and bolts, in most cases! It fails or it passes. What could be simpler?

Scotty Mackay, Alcaucin

Sangria explained

SANGRIA was originally produced and consumed only during Easter and its name refers to the blood of Christ.

It was produced on Easter Saturday from red wine, lemonade, lemon slices, cloves, cinnamon and a shot of brandy, no more, no less.

It was left in a bowl to simmer overnight and was consumed on Easter Sunday.

Oscar Gonzalez, Marbella

Road rules

RE Issue 1701, cyclists are governed by the same traffic laws that apply to any vehicle using the roads in Spain. The traffic law also states cyclists must now use head-phones when using a mobile phone or when listening to music. They also should dismount before using a crossing.

Hope this helps.

John Dale, Los Dolses

Motor homes plague Costa Blanca beaches

Live and let live. The vast majority are tidy people, some of the motorhomes cost more than a bungalow in Torrevieja. Plus, most of the 'beauty spots' around Costa Blanca look like wasteland anyway.

Marcus Tipa

If the town hall got their heads together, found them some wasteland, charged them a nominal fee and supplied electricity, water, toilets etc. They could then ban them from the beaches.

Maureen Rush

How is it that they don't use all the campsites on the Costas? Or are they too tight?

George R Carman

Some of us 'motorhomers' do not enjoy getting stacked like sardines into campsites. We pour the grey water into drains and the WC waste into disposal spots. Mostly we stay two or three nights and spend money in shops and restaurants, a lot of them owned by the very people moaning about our existence.

We do appreciate that in winter it is a different ball game than in summer and would expect to use official sites then, if only because all those areas will be full of Spaniards coming down to the coast and there is no room.

Comments from EWN online

Edda Stentiford

Exact speeds that trigger radar cameras

Justice Christopher

What about when they hide in a full car park in an unmarked car, that's entrapment surely!

Amanda Allen Wheatley

What about people who drive far too slow? Surely that is just as bad, and dangerous?

Tricia Harrington

Political party members face jail over protest

They might change their minds if the Brits did go home and their money stream dried up.

Richard Gus Warren

Would be replaced by a better Quality of tourist Richard! Ones that spend real money! Like the Russians and the Scandinavians that don't want to come and see drunk Brits vomiting all over the place falling off balconies!

John William Roberts

I have several (seven) friends who live there most of the year John. They spend 'mucho dinero' there. They have all lived there for 15 to 20 years each. That's a lot of spending power. This mob of terrorists 'Arran' (check the definition of terrorist) need to be locked away for a few years till they grow up. They are the NF of Mallorca.

Richard Gus Warren

Peter Harvey

Poll position

I THINK we should keep grid girls provided they are not forced to be there.

As grid children will be all boys that will start another argument as grid girls will come under the ban.

Anyway, the grid girls provide a touch of glamour to a male dominated sport. I am an F1 fan and vote for the status quo.

Derek, La Marina

Suits the Spanish

This is not a criticism, but maybe a cause for grudging admiration from a 'stiff upper lip Brit' who wouldn't dream of dressing up as a pirate and wandering around town during carnival.

Having said that however when you see hens and stags in fancy dress, they do actually look like idiots, but the Spanish seem to have a naïve charm which makes their bizarre costumes seem common place.

Perhaps the fact that they join in as groups of family and neighbours rather than a pack of drunken foreigners helps!

THE UNTOUCHABLES - HOLLYWOOD U.S.A. 2018

AQUARIUS
(January 21 - February 19)

Your emotions, extra expenses and other domestic pressures are on the boil. Put off major decisions until next week. Meanwhile, loosen up, walk into some creative space, and if necessary, talk to someone who understands your ups and downs. There are good things waiting to happen, refuse to lose nerve.

LEO
(July 24 - August 23)

Move forward on this week's positive waves of optimism. Treat yourself, but don't overindulge your temptations. The planets aren't dancing to all your wants and desires. If certain situations or individuals seem complicated, wait until the dust settles, then follow your hunches.

PISCES
(February 20 - March 20)

It's both a vertical and horizontal week. What goes right somewhere could easily go wrong elsewhere. Sensitive Venus conspires with touchy Mars to trigger tensions and troubles. If you're aware of where others are coming from, you'll be fine. You'll have fun, but don't let your spending splurges rule your head on Wednesday or Saturday.

VIRGO
(August 24 - September 23)

There's a saying that if it doesn't rain, it pours, so keep an umbrella of humour to hand. Spring is around the corner, and with it, a much happier trend for your workaday, social and financial prospects. Strive through this showery emotional week, and the sunshine will surely follow. Meanwhile, focus on the now.

LIBRA
(September 24 - October 23)

Scanning the rest of the star-signs, you'll see that you have many things in common this week: challenging influences at work and play, and during other clogging capers. Unexpected events, finances, or the usual everyday frustrations could pile on the pressure.

ARIES
(March 21 - April 20)

Your efforts to get your message across might be best delayed for seven days. Fickle Venus and flighty Mercury will cross swords with other planets, so keep your ideas and emotions grounded. Take nothing for granted on Tuesday, and don't agree to anything without the facts.

SCORPIO
(October 24 - November 22)

You're not the only member of the zodiac who'll have to toughen up. It'll pay you to chill on Tuesday, be patient on Wednesday, and put your potent insights into orbit throughout the weekend. Although certain set arrangements are liable to veer off track, some discussions and shared commitments are slowly but firmly improving.

TAURUS
(April 21 - May 21)

Don't jump from one financial frying pan into another. Take it easy on all fronts, especially where your money, emotions and other people's moods are at odds with your ideas.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)

You will see the advantage of working towards a new location, or even a specific makeover for your domestic scene. Either way, wait for a further green light, especially where money's concerned. Monday and Thursday are delicate days, so play it cool.

SAGITTARIUS
(November 23 - December 21)

The full moon in your own sign is a powerful ally against this week's planetary fracas. Speak from the heart and reject any ambiguous emotional games. It's the only way to clear the air and truly know where you're heading.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)

Refuse to be miffed by whatever disagreements or difficulties clutter your world. The sooner you get on with things, the better for your peace of mind. Even this week's affrays and dismays are simply passing clouds. Put yourself first, and things will start to change.

CAPRICORN
(December 22 - January 20)

There's a financial theme to many of your plans and ideas. Above all, spend with care and examine all offers carefully. Rely on your sixth sense, especially where close-to-you matters are concerned. Give more thought to what you hope to have achieved in 12 months from now. Be patient, especially over personal stresses and strains.

Struggle for peace

FOLLOWING her service in a brutal war, the self-aware spaceship Trouble Dog becomes disillusioned with the fighting for which she was designed. She goes to join the House of Reclamation, an organisation which helps distressed ships, but finds it hard to adapt to her new peaceful role.

Trouble Dog finds a new lease of life however when a ship goes missing in a disputed star system. Crewed by a group of misfits and captained by Sal Konstaz, Trouble Dog goes out in search of the ship which is also being hunted by intelligence officer Ashton Childe.

The ship and crew then stumble into new conflicts in Gareth L Powell's Embers of War.

The Wild West

LIZ (Dakota Fanning) lives with her husband Eli (William Houston) and their children in a town on the US's Western frontier.

She is mute and communicates through sign language but when a new preacher (Guy Pearce) comes to town Liz is terrified and believes he is dangerous.

The story then follows different characters in four chapters detailing their personal trials. Brimstone is a gritty series of tales about retribution and survival which intertwine through the unforgiving Old West.

Lathering in lavender

LAVENDER oil is extracted from the flowers of the lavender plant, usually using steam, and is often used in beauty and health products such as aromatherapy oil, lotions and soaps.

The essential oil also works well when blended with other essential oils such as pine, cedar wood, geranium and nutmeg.

The health benefits of lavender oil have been raved about for centuries. It has the ability to relieve pain, enhance blood circulation, get rid of nervous tension, disinfect the skin, enhance blood circulation, and treat respiratory problems among others.

It also works as an effective bug repellent and has anti-inflammatory qualities that help to reduce the irritation if you do get bitten.

Lavender oil has been used for centuries to induce sleep and can be used to treat insomnia. Studies on elderly people have revealed their sleep regularity increases when they place some lavender essential oil on their pillows due to its relaxing impact.

For this reason it also helps to calm the nerves and ease anxiety.

The stimulating aroma has been proven to get rid of nervous exhaustion and restlessness while increasing mental activity at the same time. This, therefore, makes it effective in treating depression, headaches, emotional stress and nervous tension.

One study revealed that people taking exams suffered from less anxiety if they inhaled lavender and rosemary oil before taking the test.

Get kicked into shape

IF you're bored of jogging or Zumba and are looking for a new workout to keep you motivated, you should consider adding kickboxing to your routine. Kickboxing combines heart-pumping cardio with martial arts, giving an effective, well-rounded workout.

The exercise could help to reduce stress as an hour of punching and kicking your way to a healthier life can help to resolve many of life's small problems. It also releases endorphins which will help boost your mood and confidence.

The key kickboxing moves work out several core muscle groups so will help you get toned and fit in no time. It could also improve your posture and coordination as it helps to improve your reflexes and strengthen your core.

WARMING: Steep herbal tea in a covered vessel to preserve the essential oils.

Herbal tea: a holistic health boost

IF you're suffering from bloating, nausea or even just feeling a bit under the weather, instead of rifling through the medicine cabinet, perhaps reach for a herbal tea bag instead.

Besides being a stimulating, caffeine-free pick-me-up, herbal tea has been proven to have many health benefits and some also contain many of the vitamins and minerals needed on a daily basis.

Herbal tea isn't actually made from the tea plant of course; it's an infusion of plant leaves, roots, seeds or bark, which provides all the benefits of the plant in an easy-to-digest form.

If you drink herbal tea every day, it can make a significant difference to your skin, your mood, and your energy levels.

Peppermint tea is effective at relieving muscle spasms, as well as the symptoms of nausea and bloating. However, you should avoid it altogether if you suffer from indigestion or heartburn.

Fresh ginger tea is also great at solving digestion problems and is a powerful cold-fighting remedy when you add lemon and honey.

Known for its anti-oxidant properties, rooibos tea can help to ward off disease and can help reduce the signs of ageing, while chamomile tea can help treat insomnia or anxiety due to its calming and sedative qualities.

The benefits of quinoa

QUINOA hit the foodie headlines several years ago as being the super grain you should add to your diet.

It's possible to find quinoa products in most health stores but its recent popularity means many supermarkets now stock them too.

It is believed humans first started consuming the grain three to four thousand years ago when the Incas discovered the quinoa seed was suitable for consumption. It seems they were onto something as this super food is packed with lots of good stuff that make it good for you.

Quinoa is packed with protein, which is essential for repairing muscle tissue and keeping the body in ship shape.

It also contains around twice as much fibre as other grains, which is essential in aiding digestion and could also help to prevent heart disease as it keeps blood pressure at healthy levels and prevents the risk of developing diabetes.

The super grain also has a good level of iron which is needed to keep our red blood cells healthy.

It also increases brain function because the brain absorbs around 20 per cent of the oxygen from our blood.

It is also rich in magnesium and manganese, essential nutrients needed to relax blood vessels, therefore preventing migraines, promote healthy blood sugar control and protect cells from free radicals.

It's easy to love your back

IT is the season of love and to celebrate Bodyworks are having LOVE YOUR BACK month from February 14 to March 14!

In my opinion one of the best and easiest ways to love your back is a few regular sessions on our amazing Mobiliser. I often use it with my patients either before or after a session with me.

The Mobiliser aligns all the little facet joints up your spine, as well as releasing the big muscles. Starting at your ankles and working it's two rollers (56 thumbs!!) all the way up to your neck and then down your body in a prescribed routine it is an amazing tool.

For sports people and athletes of all sorts that flexibility is phenomenal (we have a few testimonials from names you might recognise!). We've measured a 10 per cent improvement after just one session!

By Estelle Mitchell

www.thebodyworksclinic.com

For anyone tied to their desk it relieves that neck and shoulder ache while for those with long term back, neck or sciatica issues (to name a few!) it gives you control to have your treatment when and how you like it. Effective treatment with no hassle.

Mobiliser trial for 5€.

Yup, come in, try it and see what you've been missing out on - there's no excuse!

Ten sessions with the Mobiliser for €100!

That's right, that's double the sessions for your money! We'll give you a smart little voucher and that means whoever's holding the voucher can use one of those sessions. So keep them safe in case someone else in your house 'borrows' it.

Free delivery for rented Mobilisers

That's right, you can take one home for the month and use it as many times as you like and it's FREE to get it home.

Twenty per cent off the purchase price of a Mobiliser

If you've been toying with the idea of a Mobiliser of your very own now is the time to take one home with a staggering 20 per cent off the purchase price! And that includes free shipping anywhere in Spain.

For more information on the Mobiliser and this special offer please check out our website www.TheBodyworksClinic.com, our Facebook page Bodyworks Health Clinic or call us on 952 883 151.

For more information on nerve pain and problems in the spine as well as accurate diagnosis please check out our blog - www.TheBodyworksClinic.com or call us on 952 883 151.

New hotspot in Marbella

ON Thursday March 1 the all new restaurant Cascada Cocina & Bar will open its doors.

Conveniently situated in the Marbella hills, while only a minute from the La Cañada Shopping Mall, it's the perfect location to escape the bustle of the city and to relax and share some exquisite tapas with friends.

The menu is a contemporary mix of Andalusian and Spanish classics and is designed to appeal to both Spanish foodies and international guests alike.

The dishes have the perfect sharing size, which allows you to sample the many flavours on offer and they are prepared by a chef's team with experience in several Spanish Michelin star restaurants.

The venue is very well suited for a meal for two but also groups are welcome as there is a large patio set in a lush, green surrounding with numerous citrus trees and bordering the river Arroyo de las Represas.

Because of the many trees, this secluded and romantic area is nice and cool during the hot days of summer and is ideal for GREAT SELECTION: Some of the quality jewellery and watches available.

Diamonds for the ladies

JUST because Valentine's Day has passed, there is no reason to forget that every girl (and lady) just loves jewellery, especially diamonds.

So if you have a special birthday, anniversary or just want to pamper your partner, take a look at the exceptional bargains at Anthony's Diamonds in Fuengirola where the owner and his daughter Lucy know that you don't have to pay the earth to get quality stones.

Diamonds are a specialist area and Lucy in particular has the qualifications to prove that she knows how to judge the famous four Cs, Cut, Carat weight, Colour and Clarity which basically dictates the quality of the stone.

Although pricing is important, as Anthony says, at the end of the day why should you pay an exorbitant price for something that has been dug out of the ground and polished?

The entire family believe that they need to offer a great service and exceptional prices and are proud of the fact that many of the jewellery items that they have for sale are up to three times cheaper than the average high street price.

It's not just diamonds, but stones that are different shapes and sizes are on offer alongside precious metal, watches and antiques of all types from their modern store in Av. Ramon y Cajal, 40, 29640 Fuengirola (the main thoroughfare in the town).

Visit the store which is open Monday to Saturday 10am to 2pm or choose what you want to purchase from the website: www.anthonysdiamonds.com and then call 952 588 795 to discuss it.

White Ice party ushers in the season

CONSIDERING how popular the Olivia's restaurant parties can be, it's never too early to make your reservation.

The White Ice party is now confirmed to take place on Thursday April 26 with special guests James 'Arg' Argent from TOWIE and sometime Loose Woman and X Factor contestant Stacey Solomon.

The very popular Masquerade Duo, regulars at Olivia's, will also be on hand to provide additional music and there are

Get in the Swing

ALTHOUGH no one knows what really happened to band leader Glenn Miller whose aircraft went down over the English Channel in 1944, his music continues and is still popular with people of all ages.

There will be a concert of American Swing at the Cervantes Theatre Malaga on Wednesday March 7 which will feature the Pasadena Roof Orchestra, the Irresistible Andrews Sisters and jive ballet from the Lindy Hoppers.

This concert recreates the music of an entire era with such classics as In the Mood, American Patrol, Chattanooga Choo Choo and Moonlight Serenade as well as songs such as the Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy.

Upcoming wine region

PRIORAT, as one of the upcoming Spanish wine regions, has recorded an extraordinary leap in quality and reputation over the last decade.

BACCHUS CELLAR

by Lorenzo Barbareschi

PRIORAT: On the march.

This small area which qualifies as Denominación d'Origen Qualificada (DOQ) is in Tarragona Province in Cataluña and is one of only two regions - alongside Rioja - to qualify as DOCa, the highest qualification.

It produces mainly red and powerful wines. Characterised by a terroir of volcanic origins with black slate and quartz soil known as llicorella, with vineyards on terraces at 100m - 700m, the area has low yields due to the rocky soil which does not allow water accumulation.

Wine production in the area dates from the 12th century, when monks from the Monastery of Scala Dei introduced viticulture and the prior ruled as a feudal lord, giving rise to the name Priorat.

At the end of the 19th century, the phylloxera pest devastated the vineyards and replanting was undertaken only in the 1950's. In the 1980's bulk wine production was phased out and bottling of quality wine was introduced. The traditional grape variety in El Priorat is the red Garnacha tinta, which is found in all the older vineyards. Other red varieties are Garnacha Peluda, Cariñena, Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot and Syrah.

White varieties are Garnacha blanca, Macabeo, Pedro Ximenez and Chenin.

The traditional reds are a single grape bottling of Grenache and Carignan, or a blend of these with French grape varieties including Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, or Syrah. Usually aged in oak barrels for 18 months followed by six months in the bottle, Priorat wines have a consumption optimal two years later.

Happy tasting.

Echoes of the 60's

FOUNDED in 2014 by three top rate artists living and performing in the Costa del Sol, Echoes of the 60's is attracting a great deal of attention as their lavish show with superb vocals and amazing costumes recreates the 1960's.

The group consists of Mark Connor, Ron Howells and Michelle Daniels who between them bring years of experience and knowledge of the music world to their group as well as also performing in their own rights in other projects as well.

Mark and guitarist Ron appear together in the duo Mark 'n' Ron, as well as the band TRIXXX & Visions of Vegas, whilst Michelle who is a well-known solo artiste in her own right is also one half of Voulez Vous a very popular Abba tribute.

showing original footage of the artistes lip-synced to the show although all of the vocals are live and the incredible virtuosity of Ron Howells on guitar is second to none.

Throughout the show there are costume changes, and the music will either take you right back to the era that you remember or will introduce you to an amazing array of sounds which changed and shaped a generation

Keep your eyes out for Echoes of the 60's who will be performing at La Sala Banus next Monday and check out the website www.lasalabanus.com to see other great shows and to learn about special offers including Mother's Day on Sunday March 11.

Serrania de Ronda Culinary Fair, Benarraba, February 23 - 25 Feb

THIS renowned culinary fair first started more than 15 years ago back in 2002 in order to promote local produce, create an exciting event for tourists and draw more visitors to the town.

It takes place in Benarraba Plaza de la Veracruz, where various food companies set up their stalls inside a marquee. There are also musical acts, presentations and children's entertainment, so plenty to keep the whole family entertained.

The special activities are all culinary themed.

There will be live cooking demonstrations, children's cooking workshops and tastings on offer. The local bars and restaurants also have their own stands in the marquee.

Bird lovers paradise, a garden for the birds

GRAEME TYRRELL

ATTRACTING birds to your garden is easy if you have the right plants that will provide water, food, shelter and protection from predators.

Birds do best in gardens with multiple storeys of plants from ground covers, shrubs as under storeys, to taller tree canopies as an upper storey.

Providing water in the dry months in safe places for birds to drink, is the sure way to have birds attracted to your garden. A steady, reliable source of water is a primary need, even more than food, if other sources of water are not nearby.

If you provide water, birds will visit regularly, if you provide food plants, they will stay longer and if you provide safe shelter as well, native birds may start to nest in your garden. Migratory birds will only visit but are more likely to visit if you have a food source as well as water.

There are many plants that can provide food for the birds. As different bird species have different requirements of seed, nectar or insects, a variety of different plants are needed to attract the bird species you wish to support in your garden.

The best way to provide food is to use a lot of native plants and have a wild zone for allowing naturally occurring non-invasive native plants - even the plants considered weeds in the ornamental and vegetable garden - to go through their full life cycle.

Many plants considered weeds are useful plants for birds to feed on for the flowers, nectar and seeds.

Birds usually prefer to arrive onto the upper storey to survey a garden for food and dangers before entering, and different species build their nests in the upper storey for safety from ground based predators.

Each bird species has different needs however, so many smaller birds will look for nesting places in the under storey that has dense thickets to prevent larger predators from entering. So to attract a wide range of birds, having a wide range of plants that give good protection is important for diversity.

Plants that provide nectar include Sages (Salvia species), Grevillea species, Torch lilies (Kniphofia species), Lobelia species, Penstemon species, Verbena species, Sunflowers (Helianthus), Thyme (Thymus species), Lavender (Lavandula species), Honeysuckle (Lonicera species), Ice Plant (Sedum species), Firethorn (Pyracantha species) and Barberry (Berberis species).

Seed plants include Sunflower (Helianthus species), Coneflower (Echinacea species), Aster species, Zinnia species, Cumin (Cuminum species), Calendula species and many others.

Attracting birds can just be a matter of widening the range of plants that you normally grow, which may provide even more interest to your garden as many bird food plants are very attractive.

Hedges and thickets of plants will provide safe nesting places for smaller birds, and tall trees can have nesting boxes installed to make trees a ready-made nesting place.

Applying natural mulches around your garden will help birds find materials to build the nests.

There is a wide variety of birds that live in Mediterranean zone and if you make your garden more attractive for them, you can enjoy their presence in your garden.

BEAUTIFUL:
Everyone loves to see birds in their garden.

February jobs for the garden

TIDY UP: Make sure to keep up with your pruning in February.

IT may not quite be spring yet, but now is a great time to start getting stuck into your garden again.

Although temperatures are on the up, there is still a risk of some chilly days ahead, so make sure you protect any plants that are extremely averse to the cold by wrapping them in insulation, such as garden fleece.

This is also a good time to clear your garden of any fallen leaves or debris in time for spring, as well as clearing out your shed or greenhouse.

You could also get structures and plans in place for what you want to plant when it gets a bit warmer.

If it is fairly warm where you live, you could start sowing seeds in parts of your garden that receive a lot of sunlight.

Keep the seeds and seedlings covered at night to protect them from pests and then plant in well-prepared soil when it gets warmer.

Also make sure to keep up with your pruning, but leave cherry, plum and apricots trees until summer, as pruning these trees now could make them vulnerable to Silver Leaf disease.

THE Dogman

columnists@ewnmediagroup.com

Training day is vital

OVER the past 60 years I have seen many changes, some excellent but many not suitable. I frown upon the harness as I do not know anyone that can train a dog in a harness which was designed for tracking, rescue and for the blind and disabled.

Those that use the flexi cord should be aware they were designed for people who live in apartments to enable dogs to be taken down to the garden to relieve themselves.

Those that use them in the streets are not aware of the danger these can cause since there is no control when they are extended and again this is not a suitable tool for training. I have known many people to trip and indeed get hurt.

The standards of training have certainly diminished. Most 'trainers' have been to a training school themselves for four to six months, then give themselves a title 'I am a dog trainer'.

Some join American organisations on the internet which give out certifi-

GOOD JOB: These dogs know how to behave.

icates without putting the person through a test to see how they handle dogs. Note I use the word 'dogs', every type of dog is different to handle and so much depends on the breeders and puppy school teachers, best to look before you book!

All good schools will spend at least half the time explaining to owners many aspects of the dog including, most importantly, feeding the correct type of dried food, as food affects behaviour and many skin problems. Today one does not need to march around in circles as owners need information and help on feeding, grooming and their general attitude towards their pet.

Dogs must be respected by children who in turn need educating and taught that this is not a furry baby or toy, it is a canine live creature.

Young married couples must think hard before taking on a dog as one must think of their lifestyle including a future family, since everything changes once the lady gets pregnant. Dogs do get jealous and a good trainer will explain about dangers etc. Many of you reading this article may not realise that I never trained a dog! (I educated people.)

Never forget children need to be taught to respect animals. It is always a good idea to allow them to feed the dog and explain we never touch the dog or bowl when the dog is eating.

Before training a dog one must do research and understand how much work, cost and time is needed, plus the most important fact that dogs should never be allowed to be on their own for more than two hours.

WILD: Golden Retriever eats a raw chicken.

Dangers of a 'butcher's dog' diet

IN the vein of the clean eating health food trend that involves going back to basics and consuming raw, unprocessed food, some dog owners are rejecting traditional pet food and going back to a more old-school 'butcher's dog' diet consisting of raw meat.

This food is still often bought pre-prepared so it can be easily served and frozen for convenience.

However, a recent study has suggested these raw meat products could contain bacterial and parasitic diseases, which are not necessarily a problem for dogs - although they can suffer from food poisoning - but they can become carriers of the bacteria.

This can then be spread through their faeces, which could then make their owners seriously ill.

Storing the meat at -20°C could help to kill the bacteria and handling the food sensibly should help minimise the risks.

Always make sure to wash your hands with hot water and soap after handling the dog food and picking up your pet's faeces.

You should also keep your cutlery and bowls separate from your dogs and try to keep him out of the kitchen if possible.

House or pet-sitters required?

THE online network HouseSitMatch offers home and pet owners a safe way to connect with checked house-sitters online, to make arrangements for someone to care for homes and property in their absence.

How this benefits you

By registering on our HouseSitMatch network it means you can get to know people who would like to visit your area of Spain and would house-sit for free in exchange for free accommodation. It is an exchange of services. A barter if you like in old fashioned terms. Registered members of the network help each other. It saves both members a lot of money, no hotel fees for the house-sitter, and no pet or paid sitter fees for the owner.

Use the discount coupon code PERFECT20 when you register online to get the 20 per cent off any registration plan.

What do you need to do?

- If you have pets and need house-sitters - Register on our site as a 'homeowner' and provide photos and general information about your location and your assignment. If you register as a Premium Homeowner for £79 per year we help you at every step.

- If you have experience with home and pet care and want to house-sit in Spain or abroad - Register as a 'house-sitter,' build a profile with

CHARITIES

ACE CHARITY "El Refugio" in La Cala de Mijas is a registered charity. We have on average 275 dogs in our care and we receive no help from the Town Hall or the Andalusian government. We desperately need foster homes and adoptants for our many dogs, especially the small ones and puppies who do not do well in a big shelter. We are grateful for any help offered, including donations of food and blankets. Visiting times are from 13.00 to 15.00 and you can always turn up or make an appointment by calling Denise on 669 018 736. Our website is www.ace-charity.org where you can view all the dogs in our care. (93320)

ADANA THE ANIMAL SHELTER IN ESTEPONA. We always need volunteers to walk and socialise with our dogs and help with cleaning. We also need good homes for our animals that you can see on www.adana.es. Kennels open every day 10-1.30, Camino de Casares, near Parque de los Pedregales, Estepona. (5 minutes from the Poligono) For more information call 952 113 467, available from 10.00am until 14.00pm. (93319)

SEPE the horse and donkey charity is open to the public week-ends from 10.00 to 5.00. Volunteers are much needed in all departments and are welcome at anytime. For our riding for the disabled classes, we are also in need of extra helpers. We are nationally registered by the Spanish Ministry of the Interior (164640) but only with your support can we give the equine a voice. If you can just commit to 2 or 3 euros a month it will really help make a difference. You can find us at Lauro Golf Equestrian Centre, Alqueria, Alhaurin de la Torre. Tel. 608 258 950 info@sepeonline.net www.sepeonline.net (93321)

AT SOS ANIMAL REFUGE we have dogs, young and old looking for homes. Some of our dogs have been with us for some time and would love to find a cosy spot to curl up in and a knee on which to rest their heads. If you have room in your heart and home we would love to hear from you. We do not put our dogs to sleep - no matter how old, they are safe with us. For day to day needs and to pay for veterinary care, we much appreciate the support we receive. We desperately need items to sell on our market stall to help raise funds and are happy to come and collect. So if you are having a clear-out, please contact us on 605 227 155. If you would like to know more about re-hom-ing, please call 653 257 875. Visit our website www.sos-animals.org or please phone Sandy on 952 385 923 or 666 814 056 if you would like to make a donation or help in any way. (93317)

ARCH- Andalusian Rescue Centre for Horses welcomes visitors and volunteers to our stables every day from 9-11am. Come along and help out, or sponsor or adopt one of our horses, donkeys or ponies. We always need help with fund raising to look after the abandoned and abused animals. Our aim is to rescue, rehabilitate and re-home. We are a small friendly team - why not join us. Find us in Alhaurin el Grande, behind the Venta Miralmonite on the road from Alhaurin to Coin, (A404), Urb. Viña Borrego, follow the yellow signs. Charity registered with the Junta de Andalusia No 8448. www.horserescuespain.org or info@horserescuespain.org or archrescue@yahoo.co.uk Tel 656 935 613 or 659 408 664 Our Charity shop is located in Calle Melendez Pelayo, just off Calle Gerald Brenan, Alhaurin el Grande. Tel:Liz 600 651 007. We always need volunteers and stock for the shop. We can also arrange collection. (93322)

MOTORING FACT

Hypothetically speaking, it would take less than six months to get to the moon by car if you were travelling at an average speed of 95km/h.

Bond bombshell!

Limited edition Aston up for sale

A LIMITED edition Aston Martin, owned by James Bond actor Daniel Craig, is expected to sell for more than €450,000 when it is put up for sale.

Craig's very own customised Vanquish is being put under the hammer to raise money for his youth project.

The 2014 model, aptly numbered 007, can reach speeds of up to 320 kmph and has a spec chosen specifically by the Hollywood A-lister.

It features left-hand drive with a denim and dark interior, and deep blue, leather, hand-stitched seats based on Craig's personal choice.

On his decision to let the car go, Craig told British media: "This Aston Martin Vanquish is a tour de force of automobile engineering and a distinct pleasure to drive."

"While I will miss it, I am keen to further the very important work of The Opportunity Network with its sale."

The car was personally designed by Marek Reichman, Aston Martin's Chief Creative Officer, who was also responsible for the DB10 in Spectre.

It is capable of doing 0 - 100 kmph in roughly four seconds and reach 320 kmph thanks to its 5.9 litre V12 engine.

The famous Aston will officially head to auction on April 20 in Christie's, The Exceptional Sale.

Along with purchasing the car, the winning bidder will also be offered a behind-the-scenes tour of the Aston Martin headquarters in Gaydon, Warwickshire, England.

Becky MacGuire, director of The Exceptional

Sale, told British media: "We are thrilled at the chance to support Daniel Craig's generosity to The Opportunity Network with the offer of this unique and gorgeous sports car."

"With its pristine condition, luxury materials, exceptional craftsmanship and impeccable provenance, the Aston Martin fits perfectly into Christie's masterpiece sale."

Auctioneers have estimated that the car will fetch between €320,000 and €480,000, with all proceeds going to The Opportunity Network.

The Opportunity Network, which Craig is an avid supporter of, is a non-profit organisation that aims to help young people into higher education and support career development.

Classic Car Club of Andalucía

The CCCA - another busy month!

Motoring correspondent Ian Giles reports on the latest news from the Andalucía Classic Car Club, the most successful such society in the area and probably in Spain with over 600 members.

FEBRUARY comes and we seem to be more worried about the weather than we do anything else. However, The CCCA have been more concerned with putting on even more events and making sure all the members have plenty to occupy themselves and enjoy.

The CCCA month started, as always, with the February club dinner and club-night at Treetops restaurant in El Chaparral, Mijas Costa. The night was very well supported, Treetops produced some superb food and a great night was had by all.

At this dinner, organisers Mike Glithero and Sue Gerrard announced the format for the February 'Ginger & Pink' run which was to start from Los Olivos commercial centre in Calahonda.

On the Saturday morning an enthusiastic crowd and an entry of around 40 cars arrived to enjoy coffees, bacon sandwiches and more at the excellent cafe and restaurant facilities there.

'Signing on' and registration formalities were completed by 10.45am and organiser Mike Glithero gave his wide-eyed entrants a briefing, explaining all at 11am.

SPORTY:
Perfect for a sunny day.

All the beautiful, classic and modern classic cars, were in a reserved parking area at Los Olivos as they prepared to depart. Navigating only on their Tulip roadbooks, which allowed them to travel at their own pace, and maybe stop for a coffee or a beer en route.

A coffee stop had in fact already been planned at 'The Ginger Pig,' near Coin, in the sunshine, something that was enjoyed by all.

From here the route headed along the back road over the Rio Grande towards Alozaina and then towards Casarabonela and Pizarra. A great opportunity for drivers to 'stretch the legs' of some of these superb machines.

Having enjoyed the rest of the well planned trip, crews headed back again to The Ginger Pig to enjoy a beer and then a well-produced lunch. Around 80 people sat down to enjoy it all and prizes were presented by Mike and Sue for the best dressed Ginger person, the best dressed person in Pink and the best dressed ensemble.

Lunch was a long and enjoyable affair and it was then that Club Presidente, Ian Giles, announced plans for an amazing six-day Tour D'Algarve in April. Running over six days the event will stop in Jerez for a black-tie cocktail party and dinner.

Then, the route will take crews cross-country to eventually arrive in The Algarve where a five-star hotel on the beach awaits them. There will be dinner at one of the best restaurants on the Algarve one evening and, on one of the two rest days, there will be a trip in to the countryside to enjoy a typical Portuguese country-style lunch.

After a few days rest (!) crews will set off cross-country for the border and then a night stop in Sevilla with time to explore some of the amazing tapas bars there.

The last day will see a beautiful run over quiet roads to finish in Benaolan with a celebratory lunch and end of event party before crews wend their weary, but usually happy, way home.

On top of that, and the February Run, the club will be supporting the Museo de Fashion & Automobiles in Malaga when it opens its doors to everyone as part of the Andalucía Day celebrations on February 28. Always a great day out, with some super exhibits and, also, plenty for the ladies to enjoy in the fashion department.

FEELING BLUE: An oldie but a goodie.

Tour Sherry Triangle 2018

AS if all the above was not enough, the Club ran a very successful four-day 'Tour Sherry Triangle' at the beginning of the busy month of February.

The event started just above San Pedro at the Venta Los Almendros. From here crews enjoyed the blast up the Ronda road before taking the Sevilla road and then turning off to take the cross country route through Grazalema and on to El Bosque. Perfect timing then allowed all crews to enjoy a BBQ lunch, sat looking at the lake in Arcos de la Frontera.

From here the event went in to Jerez to stay at the marvellous Hotel Jerez Spa where many just lounged around the pool, wondering where the next day would take them!

Some used the time to go in and explore the marvellous city of Jerez.

An amazing cocktail party and canapés was enjoyed by all before settling down to a super dinner in a private dining room at the hotel. Superb food and great wines made for a very enjoyable evening!

Next stop would be El Puerto de Santa Maria, something of a contrast to everything that had been seen previously!

The route to El Puerto was very enjoyable and took in Vejer de la Frontera where there was a coffee and tapas halt, a run through the famous Tuna areas near Barbate and another coffee stop at the historically important Trafalgar, the scene of Nelson's great victory in the early 19th century.

Crews arrived in Puerto de Santa Maria to find a most beautiful, restored Palace hotel with stunning gardens, rooms and dining area. Arriving in plenty of time for lunch, a tour of fish tapas bars was enjoyed by most. That night a cocktail party was organised followed by a marvellous dinner put on by the hotel itself. Revellers were still going well after 3am but, amazingly, all of them were 'on parade' the following morning to enjoy either a boat trip or the train to Cadiz where some fantastic tapas bars awaited everyone!

Marvellous weather had been enjoyed for most of the trip but the last day, a Sunday, produced torrential rain which meant the Cava stop on the beach at Tarifa had to be cancelled. Fortunately, the rain didn't impair people's enjoyment of the huge lunch arranged for the finish near Gibraltar!

That's it from me, I head off to the UK, France and Monaco now to organise a special London-Monte Carlo classic car run and will report back in the next issue.

CLASSIC JAG:
Oozes style.

Further information on Classic Car Club of Andalucía events can be found on the Club's website www.cccandalucia.com. Membership of this vibrant club is open to anyone owning a genuine classic car here in Spain. Saca tu coche clásico del garaje y diviértete con él.

La Liga Preview

by Ben Park

MALAGA'S relegation to the Segunda division could be all but confirmed by next week as they face a tough La Liga double header in the space of three days.

Los Boquerones were much the better side in their last match against Valencia, and led for a large period of the game thanks to Brown Ideye's first goal since joining on loan in January.

But a late collapse saw them concede two goals in the final 10 minutes and lose Ignasi Miquel to suspension after picking up a red card, as they fell to yet another loss.

They first face a Bilbao side on Saturday that is desperate for a win themselves, having picked up just three points from a possible 15 in their last five La Liga games.

Following the trip to Bilbao, they host Sevilla at home in what will be considered as a must win game if the side have any hope of surviving the drop to Segunda B.

Elsewhere, Atletico Madrid will look to cement their position in second but face a difficult match as they travel to Sevilla on Sunday.

Madrid closed the gap on Barcelona last weekend as they swept aside Athletic Bilbao 2-0 thanks to goals from Kevin Gameiro and Diego Costa.

Following the Sevilla match, Greizmann and co host Leganes at the Wanda Metropolitano and will be confident of a win.

Barcelona will continue their push towards the title and look to keep up their unbeaten record as they host Leganes at the Camp Nou.

The Catalan giants sit seven points clear of Atletico at the top of La Liga following their 2-0 win over Eibar last weekend and are still yet to lose in the league this season (W19 D5).

Valencia remain locked in a battle with Real Madrid for third place and will be confident of grabbing all six points from their La Liga double header as they first host Real Sociedad on Sunday before heading to Athletic Bilbao next Wednesday.

Madrid will also be hopeful of getting all six points but may suffer from fatigue as their schedule begins to hot up.

After travelling to Leganes yesterday (Wednesday) Real Madrid host Alaves on Saturday before playing their third game in six days against Espanyol on Tuesday.

Villarreal remain in the driving seat for Europa League qualification and will hope to get back to winning ways after last week's 1-1 draw with Espanyol as they first host Getafe before travelling to Eibar, who are also in the hunt for a Europa League spot, on Wednesday.

Premier League preview

United host Chelsea in top four clash

MANCHESTER UNITED welcome Chelsea to Old Trafford as the Premier League returns this weekend in what could be a huge game in the quest for automatic Champions League places.

The Red Devils were all at sea during their last fixture against Newcastle, as Matt Ritchie's goal was enough to secure a memorable win over Mourinho's men.

They host a Chelsea side on Sunday, who returned to winning ways with a 3-0 win against West Brom, following a string of bad results to ease the pressure on boss Antonio Conte and could climb up the table with a win.

If Manchester United were to lose by several goals, they could drop down as low as fourth in the Premier League table by the end of the day.

That is provided that Liverpool, who thrashed Porto 5-0 in their Champions League match last Tuesday, beat West Ham at Anfield.

At the other end of the table, West

RESULT: Alvaro Morata scored the only goal of the game the last time the two sides met.

Bromwich Albion host Huddersfield Town in a tie that could be vital for both team's seasons

Premier League new boys Huddersfield currently sit just a point above the relegation zone and a win could give them some breathing space between them and the bottom three, while a loss for West Brom may all but seal their drop to the Championship.

Fellow strugglers Swansea seemed to have turned a corner since bringing former Sheffield Wednesday boss Carlos Carvalhal into the frame, with big wins against Arsenal and Liverpool followed up by a 1-0 victory against Burnley

They travel to Brighton and Hove Albion on Saturday, who themselves will be buoyed by the result in their last Premier League fixture, a big 4-1 win over Bournemouth.

In the weekend's other fixtures Leicester host Stoke, Newcastle travel to Bournemouth, Burnley are at home to Southampton, Watford take on Everton and Tottenham travel to Crystal Palace on Monday.

PGA Catalunya Resort, Hotel Caddy Rooms - open April 2018

HOTEL CADDY ROOMS are the new on-site accommodation at PGA Catalunya Resort, Girona on the Costa Brava.

The beautifully designed rooms and facilities with access to the exceptional amenities of the PGA Catalunya Resort will be the perfect place for your next golf holiday.

Girona old town is just 10 minutes drive away, where you can explore the fascinating mosaic of historical treasures and monuments that make up the city of Girona.

The impressive cathedral and the picturesque streets of the historic quarter ooze medieval charm. Famous also for its gastronomy, Girona and the Costa Brava are home to 16 Michelin-star restaurants.

PGA Catalunya is a member of the European Tour Destinations portfolio. This world-class venue features a modern, stylish clubhouse and outstanding practice and coaching facilities, used by international teams and professionals.

There are two exceptional golf courses at PGA Catalunya Resort; The Stadium Course, ranked the No 1 course in Spain, No 5 in Continental Europe and named among the World's Top 100, and the Tour Course, which provides constant challenges and spectacular holes to delight players of all levels.

Stadium Course

This spectacular and imposing course has been consistently ranked among the best 10 golf courses in Europe since it was opened in 1999, and was recently voted No 77 in the world, No 3 in continental Europe and No 1 in Spain.

As the venue for numerous PGA European Circuit tournaments, it is also routinely singled out for praise from the professional playing fraternity.

Tour Course

For a slightly less stern challenge, turn to the equally beautiful, but kinder, Tour Course. Dominated by pine trees and lakes, the course is shorter and a little less difficult to play than the Stadium Course, yet the Angel Gallardo and Neil Coles design ensures that it remains a challenge for every level of player.

CostaLessGolf has a special offer staying for three nights B&B in a twin room, based on two persons sharing and two rounds of golf on Championship Stadium Course and Tour Course, for only €369 per golfer and €195 for a non-golfer. Valid from May 1 until June 30, 2018.

Spain edge nearer to Rugby World Cup

SPAIN took a huge leap towards qualifying for the 2019 Rugby World Cup after beating top-of-the-table rivals Romania 22-10 in Madrid.

Los Leones haven't qualified for a World Cup tournament since 1999, but moved top of the table after overpowering the Oaks at a packed Estadio Nacional Complutense in Madrid.

Early tries from Benat Auzqui and Sebastien Ascarat eased the pressure on the hosts, as Brad Linklater also kicked four successful penalties in front of almost 16,000 fans.

Spain now sit one point clear of Romania on 21 points at the top of the group following the victory and two wins from their remaining fixtures against Germany and Belgium in March will guarantee Spain's place at the World Cup.

The winner of the group will qualify outright for the Tokyo World Cup next year and will go into Group A alongside Ireland, Scotland and Japan as well as the winner of a play-off.

Los Leones host Germany in their next group game on March 11, before heading to Brussels to face Belgium in their final group game on March 18.

Wellens wins Ruta del Sol as Froome flounders

LOTTO-SOUDAL'S Tim Wellens did just enough on the final day to win the 2018 Ruta del Sol despite Spaniard David De La Cruz dominating Sunday's final stage.

The Belgian began the final stage in Barbate as the overall leader having secured the win in Saturday's fourth stage with a nail-biting finish in Alcalá de los Gazules.

But the 26-year-old could manage eighth place on the final day, finishing 14 seconds behind De La Cruz in Sunday's finale, even so, he had done just enough to beat the overall chasing pack.

Team Sky's Wout Poel was Wellens' closest overall competitor, finishing just eight seconds behind the Belgian in second place, while Spaniard Marc Soler finished 27 seconds behind Wellens in third.

Despite the Belgian's victory, all eyes remained on Team Sky's Chris Froome, whose inclusion in the race had been criticised due to an ongoing investigation into an 'adverse analytical finding' during his win at last year's Vuelta de España.

The Brit struggled with the conditions throughout the race and was far off his best as he dropped out of contention before the final stage on Saturday.

WINNER: Wellens followed up his fourth stage win with overall victory.

In spite of being out of overall contention, Froome had promised to 'empty the tank' on the final day, but the four-time Tour de France champion again failed to flourish as he finished outside the top-10 on the final stage and 10th overall.

THE Open de España, one of the oldest and most celebrated tournaments in Continental Europe, will return to the European Tour in April.

After its absence from last year's, the 91st edition of the Open de España will be held at the Centro Nacional de Golf in Madrid, the home of the Royal Spanish Golf Federation, from April 12 to 15.

The €1.5 million tournament will fulfil a pledge created by European Tour Chief Executive Keith Pelley made during a visit to Spain's capital last year when he promised the event would return to the European Tour in 2018.

Open de España returns to European Tour

Pelley said: "I am delighted to announce the return of the Open de España to our schedule. The roll call of champions reads like a Who's Who of the game itself and we look forward very much to seeing who will add their name to that illustrious list in a couple of months' time.

"Our game thrives on prestigious national championships such as the Open de España and we thank everyone at the Royal Spanish Golf Federation and the Madrid Golf Federation for helping us to make this happen."

The Open de España was officially the first tournament played in the European Tour's inaugural season in 1972, with home favourite Antonio Garrido crowned as champion.

Several Spanish greats followed onto the Roll of Honour including Seve Ballesteros with three victories, Sergio Garcia, Alvaro Quirós and Miguel Ángel Jiménez.

Other prestigious winners include Major Champions Bernhard Langer, Sir Nick Faldo, Pádraig Harrington, Charl Schwartzel and the late Arnold Palmer among many others.

Gonzaga Escauriaza, President of the Royal Spanish Golf Federation, said: "The Open de España is back on the European Tour International Schedule, which is great news for Spanish golf and we are doubly delighted to be welcoming it back to our home at the Centro Nacional de Golf."
