End of the line?

by Matt Ford

AN alleged Costa del Sol drugs hit has sparked fears of a gangland war.

It comes after David 'El Maradona' Avila was gunned down outside a San Pedro de Alcantara church in front of his family and friends.

The 36-year-old was believed to have owed millions of Euros to a Colombian cocaine cartel before a hitman riding a motorcycle pumped five bullets into him at point blank range through the window of his Audi sports car.

And police say that 'several' of his associates have received threats in the wake of his death, which was preceded by the torching of both his gym and beach club.

A message reading 'pay for the drugs' was, this week, crudely scrawled on the bonnet of a white Volkswagen Golf belonging to a close friend, detectives say.

Booze control

A COSTA DEL SOL holiday hotspot is set to vote on proposed new laws banning rowdy holidaymaker behaviour.

Marbella Council revealed the raft of groundbreaking rules - which include fines of up to €750 for roaming the streets drunk, semi-naked or wielding inflatable sex toys - last month.

And they are now expected to be passed by city hall.

It comes after shocking footage of a man bathing naked in a Puerto Banus fountain this week emerged online, before a second clip showing tourists trashing a street in the city centre after being told to quieten down was posted.

And in Mallorca, a 'hungover' British reveller was snapped ordering a McDonald's with her buttocks on display.

Family fight on Missing Lisa's ex launches appeal

By Matt Ford

THE ex-husband of missing Scottish mum, Lisa Brown has vowed to fight a Spanish judge's decision to shelve her case.

It comes after her ex-partner and former prime suspect, Simon Corner, 35, was last month sensationally freed after going on the run for a second time.

Javier Garcia Ramila, a magistrate probing the case at the Court of Investigation in San Roque, Cadiz, spoke of his 'serious doubts' regarding the enquiry due to a 'lack of concrete proof' in a 10-page written ruling released at the time.

But Tony Tomillero, the father of Lisa's 11-year-old son, Marco, has instructed his legal team to launch an appeal.

He believes that Corner and five others arrested in the have taken place, but her body has never been found.

Liverpool-born yacht dealer, Corner was, in May 2016, held in Denmark on a European Arrest Warrant and extradited to Spain after fleeing the country after Lisa went missing.

He was released from an Algeciras prison on bail in April 2017 but broke the terms of his agreement by failing to present himself at a Costa del Sol police station earlier this year, before being re-arrested at London's Heathrow Airport on a second European Arrest Warrant.

A £100,000 reward remains on offer from Lisa's family for anyone coming forward with 'substantial new information leading to her whereabouts.'

immediate wake of her disappearance who have now had their bail conditions lifted should be held and formally charged.

Originally from Alexandria, Dumbartonshire, Scottish expatriate, Lisa was 32 when she vanished from her Guadiaro home on November 4, 2015.

The alarm was raised when she failed to collect son, then aged eight, from school.

Lisa worked in Gibraltar and detectives have said a 'violent episode' appeared to

The same night, another of Avila's confidantes was stopped by Local Police on suspicion of drunk driving but fled before being tracked down. While inside, he told detectives: 'They are out of their minds, they know who has to pay with money or blood.'

He added that the brutal murder was ordered due to the theft of a drug stash in which Avila was heavily implicated.

The new warnings follow raids along the coast as investigators crack down on what is seen as a spiralling problem.

Four Albanian men were held in holiday hotspot, Benalmadena after an 86-kilo haul worth an estimated €5.8 million was found in their car, despite the driver being tipped off by 'spotters.'

And Guardia Civil officers seized 900 kilos of the drug with a jaw-dropping street value of €60.75 million hidden in a tropical fruit shipment at the port of Algeciras, Cadiz.

Fairytale ending?

A 55-YEAR-OLD man from the US, believed to have been stolen as a baby, has traced his biological family to Malaga. The Oklahoma resident was able to find his older sister and is planning to visit her according to his lawyer. His mother, who died five years ago, never discussed the incident with her family.

Hot wheels

POLICE have been called to investigate videos and images of a man driving along a Costa del Sol motorway in a mobility scooter. The hilarious footage, which went viral on social media, showed him circulating on Avenida de Velazquez in Malaga City and on the MA-21 heading towards Churriana.

Pulling rank

MALAGA City has fallen 38 positions in the modern cities rankings after plunging to number 89 in the world. While finishing third best Spanish city for sustainability and quality of life on last year's, behind only Madrid and Barcelona, the provincial capital now trails behind Valencia and Sevilla, among others.

Smoked out

NATIONAL POLICE have raided a drugs den in Torremolinos and confiscated 250 cannabis plants and €1,460 in cash. A man and a woman, 30 and 27, are believed to have turned their basement into a sophisticated greenhouse, and illegally hooked up the lighting, heating and irrigation system to an electrical grid.

Pest control

A 36-YEAR-OLD Spaniard has been held on suspicion of committing an indecent assault on the Costa del Sol. The unnamed victim, a young woman, claims that the man approached her as she sat at a Marbella bus stop before holding a knife to her neck and forcing his hand between her legs.

Breaking bad

THREE Guardia Civil officers have confessed to being part of a drug trafficking ring accused of stealing 100 kilos of hashish in Marbella. The haul was estimated to be worth €600,000 and the prosecution is calling for 17-year prison sentences for each of the accused. A fourth Guardia Civil officer denies being part of the gang.

War on plastic

THE BIG PICTURE Nº 15

IT is among the most legendary birds in Europe, famed in folklore for bringing babies to new parents.

But this white stork has become a symbol of the world's pollution crisis after being wrapped in a plastic bag.

United States photographer John Cancalosi took it upon himself to free the unlucky creature after snapping it at a Spanish landfill.

The hard hitting image is part of a new National Geographic (NG) public awareness campaign dubbed Planet or Plastic?

It includes a series of heartbreaking images showing the hideous impact that plastic is having on wildlife and the environment, revealing how nine million tonnes are dumped into the world's oceans each year.

And experts believe it can take more than 450 years to break down.

NG subscribers will this month receive their magazine wrapped in paper for the first time ever, and the publisher has pledged to expand the move to all its issues by 2019, saving 'more than 2.5 million single-use plastic bags every month,' according to a press release.

Hands off

A DRUNK Finnish holidaymaker has been held on the Costa del Sol after allegedly fondling a taxi driver and an underage teenager.

The 22-year-old woman hailed a cab just after midnight after partying in Fuengirola, but when the car pulled away she began to kiss the 39-year-old driver while groping his genitals.

The Spaniard immediately stopped the vehicle and told her to get out and she fled after refusing to pay for her journey.

He also notified the police, who later arrested her after she approached a group of 16-year-old boys, planting her lips on several before grabbing one between the legs.

Trial goes on

A MAN piloting a boat that killed a nine-year-old boy in Cadiz could be jailed for intentional or reckless homicide.

He may also face additional charges of money laundering in order to buy the high-powered dinghy, sources close to the case revealed.

The suspect is being quizzed by an Algeciras court after his vessel ploughed into a smaller boat in which the victim was sitting with his father off Getares beach, near Gibraltar.

It later emerged that their craft had until earlier that day been impounded by the Guardia Civil for being loaded with suspicious petrol canisters.

WED YOU KNOW IT?: Surprising relations.

Heir's the story

IT was a groundbreaking and modern Royal Wedding with nods to the new Duchess of Sussex' mixed race heritage.

But while much has been made of American actress Meghan Markle tying the knot with Prince Harry, the ancestry of his own forefathers is itself far from quintessentially British.

And perhaps the most surprising example has its roots in southern Spain.

Abu al-Qasim Muhammad ibn Abbad was the first independent Muslim ruler of Sevilla in the Al-Andalus region - which covered most of the Iberian Peninsula - until his death in 1042.

The bloodline of Zaida, a princess often said to be his grandson's daughter but most likely an outsider who gained access to the family's inner circle by marriage, reached England after she later became engaged to Alfonso VI, king of Leon-Castile.

Their descendant Isabel Perez of Castile was in the 14th century sent to Britain to marry Edmund Duke of York, son of King Edward III of England.

And their grandson, Richard Duke of York, led the rebellion against King Henry VI which became the War of the Roses, before his second son Edward ascended to the throne in 1461.

The lineage has recently created UK tabloid headlines backed by respected sources, including Burke's Peerage, which suggest that current monarch Queen Elizabeth II is related to the Prophet Muhammad himself, and by extension other figures the supreme leader of Iran, Ayatollah Ali Khamenei.

But historians now argue that this is not the case given unanswered questions surrounding Zaida's origins and even her name, which is now thought to have come from the Arabic sayyida, the title by which all ladies of noble Muslim blood were known.

She appears to have been widowed during an attack on Cordoba in 1091, later seeking asylum at King Alonso's court before becoming his concubine, converting to Christianity and taking the name Isabel.

Gilliam's masterpiece hits big screen at last

IT has taken 25 years, but Terry Gilliam's epic movie homage to Miguel de Cervantes' Don Quixote has finally hit the big screen.

EWN Media Group at British Embassy to celebrate Royal Wedding

by John Smith

THE British Embassy in Spain joined in the celebration of the Royal Wedding between Prince Harry and Ms Meghan Markle by hosting a party in the residence of the British Ambassador to Spain Simon Manley.

Whilst the EWN Media Group headed by Michel and Steven Euesden were hosting a party for expatriate residents of the Costa del Sol, long-serving staff writer John Smith who has recently become more involved with RTN newspaper travelled to Madrid to attend the British Embassy Royal Wedding party.

Accompanied by his wife Ophelia who has spent more than 30 years working in British media and was a former presenter on Gibraltar TV, they were delighted to meet so many old friends who had also travelled to Madrid.

Through the award of a diploma, the Ambassador has acknowledged the invaluable work of community organisations throughout Spain who do so much for Britain and also picked out for recognition were established news outlets such as the EWN Media Group, Costa Blanca News, and SUR in English and this newspaper wishes to add its congratulations to its two peers.

The Ambassador Simon Manley was ever present making sure he chatted with all his guests and John was able to spend time talking to him about the video recording sent to British communities around Spain which had been inspired by the EWN Media Group wedding party.

With TV screens both inside and outside the residency, the 200-plus guests were assured of an opportunity to watch the wedding as it was transmitted by the BBC.

His daughter bravely sang the opening chorus of God Save the Queen to much applause and seen at the event were numerous visitors from Costa del Sol including Ali Meehan of Costa Women, Charmaine Arbouin, British Consul in Malaga and her charming daughter, a number of representatives of Talk Radio Europe and many others.

The Ambassador said "This wonderful event today illustrates the enormous breadth and depth of the contributions made by British people working with our local partners in almost every corner of Spain.

"For example, we have community groups that work with the elderly and the unwell, the Royal British Legion, church groups, community groups, British schools representing the 55,000 children who study in British schools in Spain, and of course, our local partners, from town halls and our Honorary Consuls.

"It has been an honour to meet such a huge range of inspirational people today, and celebrate this Royal Wedding together."

Simon Manley CMG is a career civil servant who joined the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) in 1990 and has served in a number of different posts mainly within the FCO in London and on an overseas posting in New York to the United Nations.

He was appointed British Ambassador to Spain, one of the more important diplomatic postings, in 2013 and has played an important part in promoting British trade with the country as well as handling discussions with the Spanish government.

Due to the volume of British passport holders resident in Spain and the huge number of tourists, a number of regional offices have been set up around the country and these are known as British Consulates, managed by Consuls such as Charmaine Arbouin who is based in Malaga, but has responsibility for the whole of Andalucia as well as the Canary Islands.

In many cases, the Consulate is the first port of call for those who fall foul of the law, lose their passports, are robbed or need advice on life in the country generally.

The FCO, with its main office just across the road from the Houses of Parliament and almost next door to Downing Street is responsible for representation of the UK throughout the world, appointing Ambassadors or in the case of Commonwealth Countries High Commissions and overseeing the implementation of government policy.

Britain enjoys a very close relationship with Spain and plays an important role in its economy, but does differ quite dramatically in its views of the status of Gibraltar which is to a great extent self-governing although the British government appoints a governor to work alongside and oversee the role of the elected government there.

All present left proud to be British.

Expatriate fugitive held

Alleged fraudster tracked down

by Matt Ford

A BRITISH mum-of-three suspected of conning holidaymakers by advertising fake holiday rentals on the Costa del Sol has been held in northern Spain.

Paula Louise Neale, 44, who bragged of being a Bollywood actress in an online reality show, allegedly made thousands of Euros from the scam.

She is believed to have placed the bogus lets on Facebook under a series of aliases before taking money from her victims via Paypal.

The London-born expatriate vanished from her home in Calahonda near Marbella last year.

At the time of her arrest in Burgos she was getting into a hire car reported missing from Malaga which was carrying stolen French licence plates, before falsely identifying herself using a fake British passport.

Investigators launched a covert surveillance operation after spotting that a rental firm sticker did not match the vehicle's brand.

The original number plates were found in the boot, police said in a statement.

She is thought to have fled to Cataluña and France where she claimed to be a hairdresser and offered 'blow dries and eyebrow tidying.'

Neale has reportedly been bailed on account of her young children in the wake of an initial court hearing.

The Guardia Civil said it had "arrested a 44-year-old British national in Spain whose initials are PLN as part of Operation Neale."

OUR VIEW

Brit holidaymakers are truly a different breed

THE summer silly season is truly upon us.

As holidaymakers start to descend on Spain in ever-increasing numbers, the stories of Brits behaving badly are beginning to flood, rather than trickle, in.

And it seems that no matter what new measures the Spanish authorities introduce, British revellers will find new ways of causing havoc.

Just what is it about our country?

Wine prices set to spike

SPAIN is the world's biggest wine exporter, so why does the country continue to sell its plonk so cheap?

The booming state of the industry should be great news for winemakers, but the industry is struggling after offloading exports for a quarter of the price of French rivals.

Many buyers associate a low price with a dip in quality, but an unlikely saviour could be at hand.

Climate change has this year ravaged Spanish vineyards, with production down to its lowest levels for 60 years.

And the result is costlier wine, with prices up by around 45 per cent in Spain since the turn of the year.

STREET TALK

Monsters in the Med?

A THREE-METRE blue shark recently sparked panic off a Spanish beach, while bad weather has seen scores of stinging Portuguese man o'wars hit the Mediterranean. But are beachgoers scared of swimming in the sea in the wake of the sightings?

• Jill Ashfield, 65, on holiday from Shropshire

"Yes, I'd still swim in the sea after the shark sighting. I'm sure it would be far more interested in other things than in me. But I was stung by a jellyfish once in Campomar. It was not pleasant so I'd probably avoid going for a dip with the Portuguese man o'war around."

• Jess Wolfsberg, 38, Swedish

dad-of-two on holiday with family

"It would not stop me. Blue sharks are not known for attacking humans. I've been coming to the Costa del Sol for 10 years and as far as I know there are no dangerous sharks in the Med. Of course, I'd prefer not to be stung by a Portuguese man o'war. You are more likely to be hit by a car though!"

• Sarah Page, 47, on holiday from Lincolnshire with husband Harvey

"I knew about the shark before arriving but it didn't stop me going for a dip. I landed at lunch-time and I was in the sea by 3pm. When you're on holiday you've got to enjoy yourself. If you worried about everything you wouldn't leave the house!"

• Tanya Mooney, 37, on holiday with friend Keily Mcalister from Derry, Northern Ireland

"I'm more scared of the jellyfish really. If you got stung it would hurt pretty bad. I'd have a heart attack if I saw a shark though. But with the weather this bad we won't be swimming anyway."

• Sam Church, retiree holidaying from Loughborough

"The jellyfish wouldn't stop me. I'd just go further on down the beach and try to avoid them. You just have to be careful and keep a lookout. I used to dive, so I know what's dangerous or not and the blue sharks are harmless."

• Alan Hayler, 81, holidaymaker and fisherman from Kent

"It's quite exciting really! I think the blue sharks are a beautiful animal. I actually caught one once whilst on a fishing boat in Cornwall (United Kingdom). The fisherman hung it up in the town as a sort of prize catch.

"They don't like them because they eat their catch. You'd better steer clear of the Portuguese man o'war though!"

Prank sparks blaze

‘Drunk’ Brits held over €200,000 hotel fire

HOLIDAY INFERNO: Scenes from the dramatic incident and one of the suspected culprits after being held.

by Matt Ford

FOUR ‘drunk’ British holidaymakers held in connection with a major hotel fire in Magaluf have had their passports seized in the wake of a court appearance.

Georgia James and Lauren Smith, both 19, were seen handcuffed together as they were marched into the Palma hearing followed by 21-year-olds James Brown and Brandon McCahill.

It remains unclear where the women are from, but the men are believed to hail from Consett in County Durham.

They must between them stump up a €30,000 fine before being allowed to leave the island, a court official confirmed.

Local media said the quartet claimed they had been on the balcony smoking and drinking when the blaze broke out.

But investigators said the revellers were in the room with a fifth unnamed pal, who they tried to prank by setting fire to his feet after he fell asleep on the bed, but only succeeded in setting fire to the mattress.

The dramatic incident saw tourists running for their lives after flames ripped through two rooms at the BH Mallorca hotel causing an estimated €200,000-worth of damage after more than 100 guests were evacuated from two floors.

Seven people trapped on balconies were rescued by firefighters using ladders as thick black smoke billowed from the building.

In video footage others can be heard screaming “Get out” as glass breaks in the background.

No-one was seriously injured but several people, including three police officers, were treated for smoke inhalation.

Detectives continue to probe the circumstances surrounding the fire, which was extinguished after an hour, a statement said.

British guest Hazel Bromley, from Chorley in Lancashire, tweeted: ‘Literally in shock that this happened at our hotel #bhmallorca.’

The building on Avenida de las Palmeras is owned by Grupo Cursach, of which the owner and nightlife kingpin Tolo Cursach is currently being investigated for alleged bribery, extortion, threats, tax fraud, money laundering, homicide, and possession of illegal weapons, among other charges.

The hotel is popular with young sunseekers and made headlines in 2016 when a video clip of three Britons being beaten by security guards emerged online.

GOODFELLAS: Meir Teper, Nobu Matsuhisa and Robert De Niro cut the ribbon, before the actor celebrates with Marbella mayor Angeles Muñoz (inset).

Niro perfection

Actor opens new eatery

By Staff Reporter

HE is one of Hollywood's greatest actors.

But Robert De Niro, 74, is also co-owner of the Nobu Hotel and Restaurant chain with celebrity chef Nobu Matsuhisa and producer Meir Teper.

And all three were on hand to officially open the new Nobu Marbella Resort, the latest addition to a brand famed for luxurious details, stunning design and incredible dining.

The actor has previously revealed that he views his working relationship with Nobu as a marriage, with the pair having collaborated for 24 years.

And after the Costa del Sol event he said of the Japanese restaurateur:

"He loves me! We've had arguments. Nobu, it's been a very good relationship and Nobu is great at what he does and it takes a certain kind of person to do what he does and to be able to do it and be consistent."

But while his eateries regularly host some of the world's biggest stars, Robert made clear that he will not be throwing open the door to one public figure.

When quizzed what dish President Trump could have in his restaurant he quipped: "I don't care what he likes. If he walked into a restaurant I was in - I'd walk out."

Killer road slammed

DANGER ZONE: The December accident and (inset) location of the bend.

A HIGH-RANKING socialist politician has raised the issue of a dangerous Costa del Sol road in Spanish Parliament.

Miguel Angel Heredia, secretary general of the left-leaning PSOE opposition party, told MPs that the notorious bend on the A-7 road at La Cala de Mijas has caused 36 accidents in the last seven years.

Reducing the maximum permitted speed from 100 to 80 kph and installing average speed cameras has failed to solve the problem, the lawmaker said.

He added that it is "fundamental" that the conservative government led by Mariano Rajoy invest more money to "eliminate black points like these," slamming "the zero investment that Rajoy is making in our road network."

Last December a lorry careered off the bend, smashing through a crash barrier before plummeting several metres onto the beach.

The driver died despite attempts to save him.

WORK OF ART: El Martinete and (inset) the Picasso swimming pool.

By Staff Reporter

A PALATIAL Costa del Sol villa with a Picasso masterpiece in the swimming pool is to be auctioned off without a reserve.

The beachfront property near Marbella, dubbed El Martinete, was formerly owned by Antonio el Bailarin, a flamenco dancer who was close friends with the Malaga-born painter.

Picasso reportedly visited the nine-bedroom property on a number of occasions, and autographed the bottom of the outdoor pool during a stay in 1961.

The house was inspired by Renaissance architecture and includes a grand foyer with marble columns and moulded ceilings leading to a modern kitchen, dining room for 20 people, bar, indoor pool and sauna and six en-suite bedrooms distributed over four floors with lift access.

A pair of guest houses come with three additional bedrooms and three bathrooms, set in landscaped gardens with a raised terrace and private beach access.

The Puerto Banus home was previously available for €13 million, but will now be sold by Concierge Auctions.

Bidding will open next Tuesday and close 48 hours later.

Charlie Smith, European advisor for Concierge Auctions, said: "Beachfront properties are rare in this sought-after area of southern Spain and beachfront villas offering this level of luxury living even more so.

"El Martinete is truly unique. The buyer of the villa will not just be purchasing one of the region's most prestigious properties, but also a one-of-a-kind piece of art signed by Pablo Picasso himself."

Drug gang chaos

Interior Minister brands issue a 'scourge'

SPANISH authorities have made a string of drugs trafficking arrests on the Costa del Sol after saying they would take on gangs bringing substances into the country. Arrests were made across the region with Spanish nationals as well as suspects from outside the country held and several kilograms of drugs seized. Juan Ignacio Zoido, Spain's Interior Minister, said the country had "declared war" on drugs traffickers. He pledged "constant reinforcements" for the Campo de Gibraltar area to tackle the issue.

By Joe Gerrard

CANNABIS operations alone included the detaining of four Irish nationals and a Romanian in connection with a raid on a lorry near Alhaurin de la Torre in Malaga Province.

Officers said they found 170 kilograms of marihuana hidden among a lettuce shipment bound for elsewhere in Europe inside.

Another operation saw officers arrest 12 people in connection with a drugs running ring smuggling hashish from Morocco to Spain via the Strait of Gibraltar.

An unspecified quantity of the drug, as well as firearms, ammunition, a bullet proof vest and €190,000 in cash was seized in the bust, police said.

Further raids saw a total of 7.5 tons of hashish, 32 kilos of marihuana uncovered by officers as well as 10 allegedly stolen vehicles and weapons. Police claim these were used as part of trafficking operations based in Manilva and Estepona.

Separately, four luxury cars were seized in Estepona which police claimed were stolen and used to move drugs.

STRONG WORDS:
Juan Ignacio Zoido.

'We are going to fight'

MINISTER ZOIDO tweeted that authorities would ensure Spain did not become the 'drugs gateway' of Europe.

'We will prevent Spain from being consolidated as the drugs gateway for the whole of Europe,' he wrote.

'We are going to fight against them because this is a scourge that cannot be tolerated.'

The Unified Association of Guardia Civil officers (AUGC), a trade union representing police, said drugs gangs were operating with 'impunity.'

The AUGC's comments came as footage emerged which appeared to show a shipment of drugs being unloaded in Puente Mayorga, Cadiz, on a beach last Monday morning.

Carmen Velayos, of the provincial United Police union, previously said around 300 extra officers would be needed to tackle the rise in drug smuggling.

Benidorm death probe

Family blow as judge rules out meeting

By Matt Ford

A SPANISH judge probing the case of Kirsty Maxwell, the Scottish woman who plummeted from a hotel balcony while holidaying on the Costa Blanca, has refused to meet with her family.

It comes as her grieving relatives and ex-police officer, David Swindle, a private detective working on their behalf, asked for a meeting with Ana Isabel Garcia-Galbis.

But the official said she would be unable to comply with their request in order to remain impartial.

The 27-year-old newlywed from Livingston, who was in Benidorm for a hen-do, tragically fell from the 10th floor of the Apartamentos Payma complex in Benidorm last April.

It is believed the bank worker plunged from a room on the floor above her own which was occupied by five British body-builders from Nottingham, who remain under investigation.

A written statement from the judge said: "It is not appropriate for investigation of the facts and the impartiality of the investigating judge to hold a private meeting with one of the parties [involved in the case] and their investigators."

FRUSTRATION GOES ON: A lack of new evidence could see the case closed.

She continued that the family should "provide any evidence or information they deem appropriate to clarify the facts."

Spanish detectives have so far been unable to track down any witnesses and are said to be working on the assumption that Kirsty slipped and fell, with a lack of new clues meaning the case could soon be closed.

The five suspects were quizzed by Spanish investigators before returning to the UK, while her clothes were controversially destroyed without proper DNA testing.

Her family are convinced her death was not an accident, and in March Scottish National Party MP Hannah Bardell raised the case in the House of Commons.

And at the beginning of April it emerged that Kirsty may have been mistaken for another woman who has not yet been traced.

A website (www.kirsty-maxwell.com) with messages from her family and details about the case was launched to mark a year passing since she died, after her friends visited Benidorm in a new appeal for witnesses.

MORE than 5,000 people marched through Malaga City in support of tragic toddler Lucia Vivar's parents.

The three-year-old was found last July by a railway line near her home town of Pizarra - around 30 minutes inland from the coast - but an enquiry was controversially shelved after investigators concluded she had been hit by a train.

Mum and dad Almudena and Antonio have since maintained that she could not have walked four kilometres alone in the dark after vanishing at 11pm.

Muslim sex toy worker's Ramadan pickle

By Staff Reporter

A MUSLIM man working at a Spanish sex toy factory says his religion can make things tricky during Ramadan.

Mamadou Barry, 31, manages orders at Fleshlight, Europe's biggest producer of fake vaginas, in Dos Hermanas near Sevilla.

The firm produces up to 2,500 of the vibrating devices per day, and the Guinea native spoke of how the job is particularly testing in the holy month, when followers of Islam are banned from sexual thoughts.

"I try to go on holiday at that time," he told Spanish media. "And if I can't, I try to occupy my thoughts with other things to avoid thinking about it."

But Mamadou's family have now accepted his line of work after he took one of the devices to their home in Almeria.

"I put it on the table and told my mother it was a torch," he said, adding that he later explained how the light had been swapped for replica genitalia before bringing his relatives to visit.

"Being very religious, she was really shocked," he added. "But since my parents saw I was happy and they themselves liked the factory, they ended up supporting me."

THREE men and two women have been charged with kidnapping undocumented migrants and holding them for ransom in Algeciras.

The Cadiz-based gang, most of who are Moroccan, allegedly picked up their victims as they arrived in Spain by boat, choosing those most likely to fetch between €500 and €2,000.

Their captors told them they would help find their family members before locking them in a nearby house and forcing them to give up their belongings.

Once there, they were interrogated to establish their wealth before relatives were handed ransom demands.

The men reportedly carried out the abductions while the women kept watch over the captives.

Investigators confirmed they have been remanded in custody ahead of trial.

'Nice try you tool!'

Brit teen slammed over holiday campaign

A LANCASHIRE lad, who says he's never been abroad, has set up a fundraising page so he can go on holiday to Spain.

Aiden Dugdale, 19, asked on his Facebook page: 'Why can people on benefits go on all inclusive five-star hotel holidays abroad and I can barely afford a night out in Burnley???'

He then announced: 'I have created a page so people can help pay for a holiday.'

With a target of £1,000 he has since raised more than a quarter of the money.

Roxanne Marie Nadin donated a fiver and said: 'Proper made me smile this, good on ya I hope you raise your target???'

And an anonymous donor chipped in another £3 and wished Aiden 'good luck.'

Amjad Ali donated £2 and said: 'There you go... this will get you a bus to station!'

But, after the story went viral, another anonymous person has stumped up a whopping £100 with the message: 'Have a great time, be nice to everyone and enjoy life.'

However, the Burnley lad has come in for some stick on social media.

Fellow Lancastrian Marc Preston wrote: 'Aiden u scrounger, save up like other people and if a holiday is that important to you fund it yourself. us people pay tax and other bills, we don't get sh*t for free so why should you.'

'Nice try you tool!' added another.

And Lucas Jones posted: 'Are u taking the p*ss - save up if u wanna go on holiday.'

WISH YOU WERE FEAR: Drunk revellers have been warned.

Sex and violence

'Knife-wielding prostitutes' target Brits

by Matt Ford

BRITISH holidaymakers in Mallorca are being targeted by prostitutes who are enticed with offers of cheap sex before being robbed at knife point.

The women are described as 'mostly foreign' and are believed to be singling out drunk revellers as they head back to their hotels after partying in Magaluf.

And reports suggest the gangs are luring the victims with promises of sex for €10 before they are led down dark alleyways and held up after being surrounded.

An unidentified Scottish teen alleges that he had €500 stolen, as he told UK media: "I was so drunk I didn't really know what I was doing."

"They grabbed my arm and led me down this alleyway."

"Once I was there a few of them appeared and robbed me blind."

A 24-year-old holiday rep added: "It's like running the gauntlet back to your hotel now - all the women wait at the end of the strip to pick people off."

"They're increasingly aggressive and don't take no for an answer." Dad-of-two Michael Taylor, 28, was last year approached by a group of African women before being stabbed in the leg and knocked unconscious. He woke up in hospital with eight stitches to find that his mobile phone and €200 in cash were missing.

He said at the time: "Ten African women came out from behind some trees."

"They were trying to get me to pay for sex."

"When I refused one of them stuck a knife in my thigh. They were stronger than men and remorseless. It was terrifying."

A volunteer from charity Street Angels, a Christian organisation set up to help people in trouble on nights out, three years ago told the Belfast Telegraph: "There are a lot of muggings in Magaluf, but it's usually African women who prey on drunk male tourists."

"There can be quite a lot of them and they just loiter around waiting for boys on their own and link arms with them and pretend they are helping them back to their hotel or whatever before mugging them."

Cataluña row goes on

Region set for showdown with Madrid

By Joe Gerrard

CATALUÑA'S new president has requested legal advice after the official forming of his government yesterday (Wednesday) was blocked by Madrid.

Quim Torra, of the pro-independence Junts per Cataluña party (JxCat), had written to the national government requesting an explanation over why his appointment of held and wanted politicians was vetoed.

The deadline for Madrid to respond passed yesterday. Torra's new cabinet appointees, which included two politicians currently remanded in custody in connection with last year's independence push, were due to be sworn in then.

Madrid's blocking of the publication of the appointments in Cataluña's official Gazette meant the nominations did not stand. It also means direct rule of the region by the Spanish government looks set to continue for the foreseeable future.

CREDIT: Catalan Parliament/Twitter

CRISIS CONTINUES: The Spanish government vetoed appointments made by Quim Torra (inset).

The national government said appointing Jordi Turull and Josep Rull, both being held, and Toni Comin and Lluís Puig who remain abroad and wanted by Spain was a 'provocation.'

The Presidency of the local government of Cataluña said in a statement Tor-ra was now exploring legal options to find a way out of the impasse.

"The national government's actions prolong the application of the direct rule law Article 155 and the consequent suspension of the country's self government," the statement said.

It added Catalans had the right to a fully functioning government and that only the actions of Madrid prevented one from forming.

Spain's governing conservative Partido Popular (PP) has been backed by the two opposition unionist parties, the left leaning Partido Socialista (PSOE) and the centrist Ciudadanos over the ongoing Cataluña situation.

Catalan parliament authorities have reportedly set a meeting of the region's lawmakers for tomorrow (Friday) morning.

Members of the legislature are due to decide on procedural arrangements for the body, with tomorrow the final day for them to do so. Torra will not attend the meeting, according to parliament sources quoted in Spanish media.

Separately, Torra and Catalan parliament leader, Roger Torrent visited pro-independence politicians currently being held in Estremera prison in Madrid in Soto de Real earlier this week.

World class travel

Army vet defends free holidays

By Staff Reporter

A FORMER soldier who traded in military service for travelling the world free of charge with men she doesn't know has defended her choice.

Lior Dvash, 23, is treated to all-expenses paid trips around the world, including Spain, in exchange for dating rich members of a paid dating website, but she won't tell her family.

"In Malaga I was given cash and was taken on a day of shopping, I also was bought perfume," she said. "In the army it was not a fun experience, I didn't go in hoping for a fun experience, I wanted to gain maturity and connect with my family that lives in Israel."

She added: "I wanted to travel for free. I'm a nice person, great company and was really broke after finishing my army service."

"My friends all know but my family don't know yet as it's unnecessary for them to know."

in Brisbane, Australia, and she began her new life after two years' service in her native country's army.

And on the trips she joins men of all ages and doesn't have to spend a penny while being showered with gifts and handed a daily allowance.

But she says she has been accused of using her benefactors even though they choose freely to pay for her company and she vets each before accepting a trip.

"Some people make faces but it's because they think using somebody is a negative thing, in reality we all use one another for many reasons, this is life," she said.

"In Toronto the gentleman gave me $800 for the city tour and in Koh Samui I received a daily allowance, a dive trip and perfume.

"I've had day-in day-out massages every single day. When we stayed in the resort as everything was paid for, they also took me shopping and things like that.

"There are a lot more benefits than cons."

FIVE people have been held in connection with a fake housing scam on the Costa del Sol.

The gang allegedly made more than €500,000 by placing bogus online advertisements promoting attractively-priced properties in Alhaurin el Grande, Mijas and other locations throughout Andalusia.

Victims each paid between €5,000-€10,000 to reserve their choices ahead of viewing, but never heard from the culprits again after the cash was transferred.

The 37-year-old Spanish ringleader was reportedly arrested in Marbella.

HORSE HORROR: The El Rocio pilgrimage and (inset) three animals killed.

Animal cruelty?

141 horses and mules killed in 10 years

by Jay Emeny

IN the last decade, 'only' 141 horses and mules have died during the famous El Rocio pilgrimage in Huelva.

Animal rights organisation PACMA said this was due to greater vigilance and awareness of riders who make the journey.

Each year, almost 1,000,000 pilgrims and some 20,000 horses, mules and oxen travel to the Huel-va town. This year six horses died, the lowest number in the past decade.

PACMA claims that extensive campaigning from campaign groups, coupled with greater police presence - 2,314 Guardia Civil officers were deployed during the pilgrimage - has helped significantly reduce the death toll.

A PACMA spokesperson said however "this does not change the exploitation that certain animals are subjected to" and highlighted that "there is no explicit physical abuse, but the sheer physical exertion of the event often causes death."

An El Rocio brotherhood secretary, Santiago Padilla, agreed and said that "any figure seems high," but blamed the "1 per cent who rent horses without experience.

"It is due to ignorance, not bad faith, that animals die during the pilgrimage," he added.

Starting a business in Spain? Choosing between limited and autonomo

Costa Luz Lawyers

By María L. de Castro
Lawyer, Director, Costaluz Lawyers

THERE are different economic, as well as legal reasons in order to choose between one or other trading form. You need to choose the legal form that best suits your needs.

- Disclaimer: In the case of self-employed, the liability is unlimited while limited liability companies' liability is limited to the capital. Thus, when a limited company goes bankrupt, only the company possessions can be touched, never the assets of the company owners.

- Financial requirements: A limited company requires a minimum capital of €3,006.00.

- Taxes: Self-employed individuals can obtain benefits for their business and will be taxed on their income. However, a limited company is taxed through corporation tax.

- Number of members: More than one person trading together usually makes a company, although law envisages the possibility of one-person limited companies, consisting of a single person or entity.

- Social security and taxes formalities: To commence a business as a sole trader is much faster and easier than opting for a limited company. As a self-employed person you just need to register within the Treasury department and start paying taxes and social security fees.

As a limited company, you need to first establish the company - through the granting of a Notary deed and register it in the Commercial Registry - and also perform registration at Taxes and Labour departments.

'We are at your service'

Diversity embraced as expats' meeting hailed

by Matt Ford

FOREIGN residents on the Costa del Sol have come together to discuss the benefits of joining the civil register, or padron.

It comes as Marbella mayor Angeles Muñoz hosted an informative and valuable meeting with the presidents of associations based in her city.

The well-attended get together, to which the Euro Weekly News was invited, was held at the Adolfo Suarez Conference Centre, which features an impressive new foreign residents' department.

Ms. Muñoz said: "Our foreigners' department, with its new headquarters, aims to offer an information service to the community and provide a link between citizens and the local administration.

"We are at your service."

And the official went on to stress that she considers it 'essential' that expatriates in Marbella, and by extension throughout Spain, should sign onto their local civil registers 'on the first day they arrive,' since 'the more people registered, the more money the government gives us to spend on public services.'

She emphasised that the register has 'absolutely nothing to do' with applying for fiscal residence or to pay taxes in Spain, since it is 'a local census, which is not even physically connected to national databases, there is literally no relation between the two.'

The mayor added that there are 143 nationalities currently resident in Marbella, and that the council is 'organising a series of activities to celebrate different national holidays, plus conferences and information days to help them to adapt to their lives here... we want them to be an integral part of our city.'

Other speakers included Cristobal Garre and Carlos Alcala, councillors for Nueva Andalucia and Las Chapas, respectively, plus foreign residents department chief Oti G^a Diaz-Ambroña.

Appropriating community property

WITHIN every community usually there are communally owned features that can only be utilised properly in conjunction with the privately owned features of the individual owners.

For example the water pipes, electricity cables, roofs and foundations etc. These are the indispensable elements.

Whereas other communal features, termed non-indispensable elements, could be used independently or separately, the gardens, pools, paddle courts etc or even an apartment for the concierge.

The law of horizontal property, the law that governs all communities throughout Spain explains in section 5.

The deed of constitution for the community determines which features are communally owned and which are private. When there is doubt, then the features or elements in question should be considered as communally owned.

Most conflicts and problems concerning communal features usually fall in one of three categories. Firstly an owner or a third party appropriates a 'non-indispensable' element of the community. For example, an owner takes a part of the communal garden or a roof terrace, only ever used by that owner, for their own exclusive use.

In cases like this it is generally understood that, if after 15 years the community has done nothing to put an end to the situation then the community forfeits the right to reclaim the feature. This period is not actually fixed and depending on the circumstances different judges could apply different time frames.

with Pete Woodall, Woody's Los Boliches

The reclaim period extends to 30 years if the appropriation is made by someone not from within the community, eg a neighbour takes and fences off a section of land belonging to an adjacent community.

The second scenario, an appropriation is made by one of the owners and the community chooses to turn a blind eye and do nothing about it. Then the law allows an owner or owners to take action and challenge the appropriation in court themselves. This ensures a community's passivity or a reluctance to prosecute does not prejudice the other owners ability to pursue their rights to protect their community.

Thirdly, disposing of community assets. In times gone by it was quite common, especially in apartment complexes, to leave one apartment in the hands of the community as accommodation for a concierge. Residential concierges are far less common these days and many communities would like to sell off these often empty apartments to raise income.

This change of ownership is possible but requires a 100 per cent vote of approval by the owners. To ensure the vote is unanimous, the vote of owners not present nor represented at the general meeting will count as 'in favour' unless the dissenting owners make their objection known to the community within 30 days.

A sale of this nature will also affect the 'quotas.' Quotas are percentage coefficients assigned to each private property that the community uses to calculate bills and voting rights etc. The percentage quotas of any community must add up to 10 per cent, therefore it follows, the addition of another now privately owned dwelling will reduce the size of the quotas of the other owners. The amended quotas should be provided and approved at the general meeting.

Finally, to re-register the apartment as a private property is possible, the registrar concerned may require the consent of the bank or banks providing mortgages to other properties to ensure the sale does not cause them any complications.

The community or the administrator should check with the appropriate land registry about the correct procedure and necessary paperwork before embarking on the separation and sale of a communally owned property.

As usual, we at Intercala Administration recommend our readers to seek competent advice in all matters concerning the law.

Politicians in the dock!

Scandal!

From faking qualifications to taking backhanders, Spain's government officials have been caught up in countless political scandals in recent years. David Noon takes a look at the dishonourable deeds of the past and present that have caught politicians in their tracks

THE brown envelope is as synonymous with Spanish politicians as the beach is to the Costa del Sol.

Be it for housing projects, policy proposals or tax dodging purposes, Spain's government (local and national) just can't seem to keep itself out of trouble.

The latest scandal to rear its ugly head has seen Madrid regional premier Cristina Cifuentes dragged through the mud for faking qualifications.

Cifuentes - alongside congressman and deputy secretary of communication for the PP Pablo Casado - were disgraced after national newspaper El Diario revealed that the pair had obtained faked Masters degrees in order to progress their political careers.

The fall from grace for Cifuentes could not have been more dramatic.

A thriving politician within the PP party, Cifuentes' 30-year political career had seen her tipped as the favourite to succeed Prime Minister Mariano Rajoy when he decides to step away from the hot seat.

In the space of three decades, Cifuentes rose through the ranks from regional deputy, to government delegate, to premier of Madrid.

Now, however, Cifuentes' career will be remembered as nothing more than a scandal, and a disgrace, after she fraudulently obtained a master's degree from Madrid's King Juan Carlos University in 2012.

Clinging on to her position for weeks following the El Diario article, Cifuentes refused to budge and was left defiantly - and undignifiedly - spitting in the face of what appeared to be defeat when many were calling for her head.

Unwilling to accept she'd been caught out - like so many politicians before her - Cifuentes held onto her political seat for as long as she possibly could.

However, an old video leaked to OK Diario (heavily linked with the PP), proved to be the final straw.

In the video, dating back to 2011, Cifuentes was seen shoplifting from her local supermarket, and that proved enough for the Madrilenos to finally admit defeat.

Pocketing a jar of face cream from her local Eroski, the only thing left on Cifuentes mug at the end of this saga: egg.

But the actions of Cifuentes are not the only cause for concern.

As the saying goes 'the fish rots from the head' and Prime Minister Mariano Rajoy's silence throughout the whole scandal speaks volumes for itself.

Of course, the PP leader has faced - and continues to face - his fair share of political scandal. It remains to be seen how the country's leader will emerge from the ongoing Gurtel proceedings (see rap sheet), but his name has been sullied more than once during criminal investigations into the underhand dealings of the ruling party.

Yet while Rajoy remained tight-lipped over Cifuentes' actions his peers did not. The parade of support and acclaim from PP senior officials for Cifuentes at the party's recent convention in Sevilla - just hours before her resignation - demonstrates a new low for the country's ruling elite.

Likewise, the complicity of university professors to falsify the documents then openly lie to defend Cifuentes demonstrates that the stain of corruption runs throughout Spanish institutions - even those which are supposed to hold the government to account.

And finally, the way in which Cifuentes was disposed of wreaks of underhand tactics.

Conveniently dredging up and leaking an incriminating video from 2011, implies that Spain's political parties are sitting on all kinds of dirt, waiting to air it as a political missile when it suits their agenda to do so.

Madrid's branch of the PP is now perhaps only rivalled by its colleagues in Valencia as the most rotten and corrupt in the country.

For while Valencia continues to be hit by the kickbacks-for-contracts Gurtel case, this is just the latest scandal to be laid

THE list of political scandals currently making their way through the legal system is as long as it is worrying.

Here are just some of the most compelling cases currently ongoing:

ERE

The ERE investigation has put the PSOE Junta de Andalucía under the microscope. Accused of corrupt practices and embezzlement of funds between 2001 and 2010, the accused include former Junta presidents Manuel Chaves and Jose Antonio Grinan. As many as 20 former officials including six ex-ministers are caught up in the scandal that is currently making its way through the court system.

Brugal

Some 12 years after the Brugal investigation got underway and its main defendants are finally in the dock. Deliberations started in February into alleged bribes to public officials worth millions of euros over waste contracts in Orihuela, Alicante.

Millionaire businessman Angel Fenoll is facing 37 years in prison for his role in the scandal, while former PP mayors Jose Manuel Medina and Monica Lorente are staring at 12 years jail terms if found guilty.

Gurtel

The Gurtel case has the potential to bring the PP toppling down from the top. Prime Minister Mariano Rajoy has already appeared as a witness in the kickbacks-for-contracts case, and in doing so he became the first sitting PM to appear in Spanish court.

Rap sheet

Centred around businessman Francisco Correa, the Gurtel case looks at alleged bribes worth € 350 million to party officials between 1999 and 2006 in exchange for public contracts. In total 37 politicians and business people face prosecution with everyone pointing the finger at someone else in a bid to drag the whole system down with them.

Cursach

One of Spain's most high-profile scandals, the Cursach case saw Mallorca's nightclub owner Bartolome 'Tolo' Cursach sentenced to 33 years for 16 charges relating to bribing, threatening and coercing public officials. However, Tolo's sentencing is far from the end of this saga with a number of public officials allegedly paid off to turn a blind eye to dubious goings-on at a number of his 30 nightclubs, including alleged illegal prostitution. A number of the public officials themselves were paid off in the form of free attendance to illegal sex parties at the nightclubs making the Cursach case one of Spain's seediest scandals.

BELT TIGHTENING: Correa is at the heart of the Gurtel case.

ERE.

BRUGAL.

GURTEL.

CURSACH.

HANDS UP:
Cifuentes' past catches up with her.

KING OF THIEVES: Juan Carlos was slammed for hunting trip.

A right, royal, ruckus

WHILE Spain's politicians are held to account for their bent practices, the country's monarchy hasn't been behaving much better.

In a case that was anything but regal, Princess Cristina found herself in the dock on charges of tax evasion, fraud and bribery.

The King's sister was acquitted and spared an eight-year jail term, however her husband Inaki Urdangarin was given a six-year sentence for his role in the infamous Noos scandal.

The first royal to face prosecution since the monarchy was reinstated in 1975, Cristina was forced to pay €265,000 in 'civic responsibilities' for benefiting from the crimes of her husband and his associates.

The royal couple were among 18 defendants tried on a whopping 89 charges ranging from money laundering to trafficking of influences.

Former Olympic handball star Urdangarin was in fact found guilty of using his position within the royal echelons to win inflated contracts to host sporting events before siphoning off the proceeds to fund a lavish lifestyle.

In total Urdangarin and his former business partner in crime Diego Torres were found guilty of embezzling a cool €6 million in public money.

And while Cristina was acquitted her reputation has been knocked from pillar to post. During the trial itself she responded 'I don't know' 188 times and added 'I don't remember' a further 55 times (make what you will of that).

The royal family itself was rocked during the course of the six-year investigation. The royal cause was done no favours when King Juan Carlos came up against a public backlash for partaking in an expensive hunting trip to Botswana in the middle of Spain's financial crisis.

Juan Carlos paid the price and abdicated the throne and despite being found innocent in court, Cristina has too faced the consequences of her misjudgement.

Absent during King Felipe's ascension to the throne, Cristina has subsequently been stripped off her royal duties as the new King attempts to repair the damage caused by his father and sister.

If this were Denmark, we would say there was something very rotten indeed.

The denials and attempts to hide the mess under the carpet is in keeping with a political landscape that cheats and then buries its head in the sand when it is caught out.

The institutional acceptance and support for this form of political behaviour adds a whole new level of corruption that must be stamped out.

Cifuentes' demise comes at a crucial time for the PP which is emblazoned in political scandal from top to bottom and risks losing its 23-year grip on the country when the regional elections get underway next year.

Change must come from the top and if this latest scandal is not enough to change the minds and actions of Spain's politicians then little will.

Yet with each new scandal, the loss of respect for the country's policymakers will one day be too much to ignore.

at the door of Madrid's local government branch.

The most notable case of political wrongdoing in Madrid's PP branch is the Púnica case - a bid-rigging scheme that involved at least €250 million in public contracts.

That scandal led to the imprisonment of Madrid's regional premier Ignacio González and the former PP secretary general Francisco Granados.

The disgracing of Cifuentes is unfortunate but not unsurprising.

ROTTING FROM THE HEAD?: Rajoy's PP party is embroiled in scandal at all levels.

Corruption charter

SPAIN claimed the 41st position on the latest instalment of the Corruption Perception Index (CPI).

The recognised authority on global corruption, the CPI total Spain's corruption cost to the public coffers at €203 billion.

With a score of 58 (0 being highly corruptible and 100 being squeaky clean), Spain's is tied with Brunei and Costa Rica when it comes to corruption levels.

It is in fact the worst-ever outcome for Spain who has fallen from being the 20th most corrupt-free national to the 41st in the space of two decades.

Denmark and New Zealand both scored 90 to top the list, followed closely by Finland and Sweden, which scored 89 and 88 respectively.

At the other end of the scale Somalia claimed the unwanted title of the world's most corrupt nation for the 10th year in a row, with a score of just 10.

Meanwhile, the UK came in as the eighth least corrupt country in the world.

Fixed rate or variable rate mortgage?

Mortgage Expert

by Sara

DIFFERENT from the UK, changing your mortgage in Spain after you have signed the deeds, can both be expensive and difficult.

This makes it important to choose your mortgage wisely from the very start.

In Spain, you have two main types of mortgages. The most common is variable rate mortgages, known as tracker mortgages, where the interest changes once a year, always at the same date.

When fixing the interest rate for the following year, they use the Euribor 12 months rate - that is the same all across Europe.

The other option is a fixed rate mortgage. Different from the UK, the rate is fixed for the full term and for the full mortgage amount. You can fix the interest rate for up to 30 years.

"Do you recommend a fixed or variable rate mortgage, is a normal question we get from the clients," Sara Stannard says.

She works as a British client advisor at Bank in Spain and specialises in expatriate and international clients buying their holiday home in Spain.

"We never recommend any of the two options," she continues "since there is not any one correct answer."

Sara mentions two important factors that will help the client decide on what is best for them. "If the client plans to pay the mortgage off quicker than the agreed term, a variable rate is normally the best. Due to the higher early repayment charges on fixed rate mortgages, the client is better off choosing a variable rate."

The other factor is how they can handle a future increase in the interest rate and how they value the certainty of knowing exactly what to pay every month for the next 15-30 years.

With record low rates in the Euro and negative Euribor rates for more than two years, it has never been cheaper to opt for a fixed rate mortgage. This is also reflected in the number of fixed rate mortgages that were arranged in Spain last year.

"What used to be a niche product five years ago when only one out of 16 new mortgages had a fixed rate, last year we saw that more than one out of three mortgages were fixed rate mortgages," Sara explains.

First drivers cross Crimea strait bridge

■ PRESIDENT Vladimir Putin inaugurated a new bridge linking Russia with the annexed Crimean peninsula by driving a truck across it. Motorists including pro-Kremlin biker gangs also took to the 19-kilometre-long Kerch Strait Bridge, with around 21,000 drivers reportedly crossing it on its first day in use. The United States and Ukraine condemned the opening.

jections come as the country saw its birth rate fall to its lowest recorded level in a decade last year, with President Vladimir Putin vowing to tackle the problem.

Official found dead

■ THE body of a former senior figure in Russia's ruling party has been found after what was reportedly believed to be a suicide. Yury Kotler, who sat on the Supreme Council of the United Russia party, left a note stating he killed himself for personal reasons according to Moscow police sources.

New raft of sanctions

■ UNITED STATES President Donald Trump has instructed the State Department to draw up new sanctions on Russian officials over alleged arms control violations. The measures come as US lawmakers passed a bill last year accusing Moscow of fielding missiles banned by the 1987 Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces Treaty. Russia denied the claims.

'Alarmed' at protests

■ RUSSIA'S Foreign Minister has said his country is concerned about clashes between Palestinian protestors and Israeli security forces on the Gaza border. Sergei Lavrov added Moscow was opposed to 'extremists' using civilians to front demonstrations which escalated following the opening of the United States' embassy in Jerusalem, according to Russian media.

Population forecast

■ THE United Nations has estimated Russia's population will fall by around 11 million by 2050 and that more people will live in cities. The pro-

'PATRIOTS': Ukraine trained dolphins for military use.

Bowing out

■ A UKRANIAN official said military-trained dolphins captured by Russia during its invasion of the Crimean peninsula died 'patriotically' while in captivity. Boris Babin, Ukraine's representative in the annexed territory, added the animals had gone on hunger strike after being captured. Russia Duma deputy Dmitry Belik later claimed all the dolphins captured during military operation either died naturally or were sold on to businesses.

€43bn weapons sales set record

SPAIN has beaten its own record for weapons exports for the second year in a row.

It comes after the country sold €4.3 billion-worth of military equipment last year, a year-on-year rise of 7.3 per cent.

It was the world's seventh-largest supplier in 2016, according to a report by the Stockholm International Peace Research Institute, with Saudi Arabia the biggest client outside the European Union, which accounted for 72.6 per cent of sales.

Spanish exports plummet

THE export of Spanish goods to the UK has ground to a halt after five consecutive years of growth.

A report by the Bank of Spain claims that sales plummeted by 6 per cent last year, with uncertainty over Brexit blamed as the value of the pound plunged.

And exports to the European Union rose by 8 per cent during the same period, suggesting that the UK's looming withdrawal from the bloc is negatively affecting Spain's foreign trade.

Data from the Office of the State

by Matt Ford

Secretary of Commerce shows that 7 per cent of all Spanish exporting companies trade with the UK, and their growth dropped by 0.8 per cent in 2017.

"This drop has been higher than what we have seen for other destinations," the bank's study said.

But while 85 per cent of firms doing business in Britain are classed as small-to-medium-sized, the vast majority of sales are made by large companies which are "on average bigger, more productive and more geographically diversified than those which export to the main countries within the monetary union," therefore limiting the potential Brexit effect.

The UK is Spain's fifth-biggest trading partner, accounting for 7 per cent of all exports and 4 per cent of imports.

But while Britain's gross domestic product increased by 0.6 per cent last year, the European Commission has forecast that growth will slow down due to low rates of savings and salaries remaining below the inflation rate.

Repsol pledge to walk on sunshine

SPANISH oil firm Repsol is refocusing its strategy towards renewable energies.

President Antonio Brufau announced during a general meeting of shareholders that the multinational is ready to join the fight against climate change.

"The group is analysing alternatives to fight the increase in global temperature, betting on an effective strategy with the lowest possible cost for citizens," the company said in a statement.

Other energy providers to recently express similar commitments include Shell, Total and Eni.

Ryanair profits soar despite flights farce

STILL FLYING: Ryanair and (inset) CEO Michael O'Leary.

BUDGET airline Ryanair, Europe's biggest low-cost carrier, has racked up record returns despite grounding almost 40,000 flights.

The Irish company saw profits soar by 10 per cent to €1.45 billion over the last financial year, while the number of passengers leapt by 9 per cent to 130 million, with Spain, Italy and Germany the three largest growth markets.

CEO Michael O'Leary said in a statement: "We are pleased to report a 10 per cent increase in profits, with an unchanged net margin of 20 per cent, despite a 3 per cent cut in air fares, during a year of overcapacity in Europe."

He added that the boost had come in the face of rising fuel prices and compensation payments after 700,000 customers were disrupted by cancelled flights last September and October.

» BUSINESS EXTRAHive got a bad feeling

A WAVE of beehive thefts across eastern Spain saw profits in the honey sector plummet by around €140,000 in 2017 and sparked calls to ramp up security, according to a report by the Spanish Beekeeping Association.

War of words

THE foreign ministers of Spain and China say they want free trade and will battle import duties amid disputes with the United States over potential tariffs, after Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Yi visited Madrid for talks.

Pump it up

OIL prices have risen to a four-year high due to tensions in Iran and Saudi Arabia, and motorists are suffering the consequences with petrol now costing more than €1.30 per litre in many Spanish provinces, RAC Spain said.

Hotel prices hit margins

TRAVEL company Thomas Cook has warned that soaring Spanish hotel costs are harming profits.

The operator has been forced to shift its focus elsewhere, with an 80 per cent boost in bookings to Turkey, with demand for Greece and Egypt also strong.

But Spain remains its biggest market, attracting 1.3 million customers in the six months to March 31.

The group also revealed that its airlines are performing well after several rival carriers collapsed last year, with profits rising 7.8 per cent to almost €3.7 billion over the period.

Chief executive Peter Fankhauser said: "The work we've done in the past two years to improve customers' experience of our flights and our holidays is bearing fruit."

WINE MAKERS STRIVE TO POP CORK ON CAVA SALES

PRODUCERS of cava, Spain's sparkling wine, are planning to boost its image to improve disappointing sales.

"The problem with cava is perception, not quality," says Josep Puig, CEO of Sumarroca winery in Catalunya, where 95 per cent of the country's fizz is made.

It comes after the UK sparkling wine market grew by 37 per cent between 2012 and 2016, but in the latter year it bought only two million cases of cava compared to seven million of Italian rival prosecco.

And a survey of Brits revealed that 64 per cent chose Champagne, 22 per cent prosecco and only 14 per cent cava when it came to quality.

Winemakers believe that the tendency for large cava houses to sell their product cheap is the issue, and some have now broken away, calling their drink 'classic penedes.'

Josep Maria Albet i Noya is among them and stopped producing cava four years ago, when he says you could pick up a bottle in the supermarket for less than €1.

BARGAIN BUBBLY: Producers believe cava has been sold too cheap.

"Cava's image doesn't allow us to earn any money. It's OK for the big producers but it's impossible for the smaller wineries to compete at such low prices," he told the BBC.

"You can't earn anything with that, when your margins are so small you have to squeeze everybody. Your product will reflect this in low quality - I don't think that's the way forward," he added.

In April six other producers formed a second splinter group and are calling their sparkling wine cospinnat.

Albert Puig is a cava expert from the wine-producing Penedes region near Barcelona, and he said: "If you do good things you can have the high price - but if you compete on quantity then you're lost."

Pere Bonet from Freixenet, the biggest cava house, agreed as he added: "For the brands, the low cost is dead... our objective now is to have a better image."

To do so, the company has introduced a new premium category called cava de paraje calificado, for which strict guidelines include the use of vines at least 10 years old from a specific vineyard, at least three years of ageing and restrictions on grape yields.

But Josep Puig thinks marketing is the key.

"If you promote something you'll find young people start thinking cava is something strange and they'll go for prosecco instead," he concluded.

"You need a unique selling proposition; and you need money to have a unique selling proposition."

TV bosses face likely legal rap amid ad claims

A SPANISH government watchdog is probing the country's two biggest television networks.

The Comision Nacional de los Mercados y la Competencia (CNMC), an agency investigating unfair business practices, has revealed it has launched an enquiry into alleged anti-competitive advertising deals signed by Mediaset and Atresmedia.

Media and advertising agencies claim they were forced to invest in the pair's less popular products in order to advertise on their mainstream channels which include Telecinco, Antena 3 and La Sexta.

But such quotas and joint commercialisation of advertising packages are illegal since they restrict free competition, according to reports.

The two companies control around 83 per cent of the television advertising market in Spain, according to the latest CNMC figures.

Ramadan and Labour Live

LEAPY LEE SAYS IT
OTHERS THINK IT

TEN years ago, your average Brit in the street wouldn't have had a clue as to the meaning or origins of Ramadan.

This year you would have to be a recluse in a moon cave to miss out on what is actually the most important Muslim celebration of the year. In fact, it now comes in as the UK's third biggest religious event after Christmas and Easter.

Apparently some four million Muslims will be fasting this month, and consequently the news has been carried on just about every media outlet you care to mention.

There has been a positive deluge of programmes on TV, explaining the custom and how it affects its followers. Programmes have shown special diets. Times to eat and sleep, and even a series of exercises designed to help the followers get through, what can obviously be an extremely taxing period.

I did slightly twitch at one exchange however when the interviewee suggested it would be thoughtful if non-Muslims could try and avoid eating openly in front of anyone close by who was obviously Muslim! Well I'm afraid I draw the line there. The idea of hiding yer actual ice creams or fish and chips, because you may 'offend' someone who is fasting, is just a step too far. Sorry about that. I actually spent eight years in a Muslim country, and consequently saw the festival completely close up as it were.

I do remember one fellow Brit walking through a supermarket in the day during Ramadan, scoff-ing bananas and telling me he couldn't care less because he wasn't actually a Muslim himself. I did feel this somewhat disrespectful, as we were guests in their country, but frankly being asked to refrain from eating openly in my own country because it may offend someone, is, in my opinion, a total liberty and is the sort of inflammatory remark that does nothing to improve understanding and acceptance of other people's beliefs whatsoever.

Incidentally, I do remember, during my experience of those far off Saudi days, the whole month being great fun for those of the privileged elite (which meant most of them) who would simply party it up all night and sleep all day. Nice work if you can get it!

Despite being on sale for two months, I see the 'Labour Live' leftie Glastonbury Festival has only sold 1,800 tickets out of 20,000 available.

Labour is set to lose 600,000 sterling. Ah well that's what you get when arrogant politicians seek to become self-appointed gurus endeavouring to ensnare the young, who, it appears, are not quite so gullible as they previously thought.

I also see that Corbyn announced he would not have time to watch the Royal betrothal because he was attending a 'state of the economy' conference organised by Labour on the day of the wedding.

Well I wasn't too interested either, but a 'state of the economy' conference? When practically the whole country was celebrating and enjoying themselves? Come on. Does anyone really want this miserable party of gloomy incompetents leading us into their idea of any future whatsoever? No thanks.

Keep the Faith,
Love Leapy

Holiday rental scams - don't take the bait

by Nicola Erlich

AS more and more of our daily lives take place online, it's only natural that we've become more accustomed to sharing personal or sensitive information online.

According to the Spanish National Institute of Cybersecurity (INCIBE) cybercrime has increased 1,200 per cent in the space of three years from 18,000 to 120,000 incidents. The tourism industry is one of the most targeted industries for cyber-attacks.

Here is some great advice on how to keep yourself safe and not become a victim of a holiday scam this summer.

Top tips

A legitimate holiday rental website will have:

1. Good security measures on its website. Check the website is 'https' secure.
2. A phone number and physical address and not just email or chatbot communication options.
3. Be a reputable company with a positive online reputation.
4. Secure payment methods available using only accredited or reputable online payment methods.
5. Verified the properties are real and offered by the owner or authorised agent.
6. An online review system that only allows real guests to post reviews.

Red flags

You should be extra cautious booking accommodation if:

1. The price offer is too good to be true, or there is an urgency in booking immediately.
2. The website is relatively new.
3. The website does not have 'https' security level.
4. You cannot speak to a company employee, only communicate by email.
5. No business address is provided.
6. The owner/agent wants to communicate, confirm booking and/or take payment via email instead of within the secure communication platform.
7. Payment is requested by bank transfer or Western Union or similar.

Spain-Holiday.com [<https://www.spain-holiday.com/>] is the leading holiday rental platform dedicated to properties in Spain. It has been established for 16 years, and the rental homes are subject to strict quality and control checks.

How to avoid Holiday Rental Scams

Creative cybercrooks work ingenious scams on holiday rental bookings
Don't be a victim
Follow these tips to stay safe

A good holiday rental website will:

- use secure "HTTPS" encryption
- have real people you can speak to
- be a reputable company with good online reputation
- offer secure payments

Risky rental websites may have:

- too good to be true prices or offers
- no booking guarantee
- recently launched website
- insists on non-traceable payment methods
- negative reviews

Happy to be part of the local community

As crowds gathered on the streets of Windsor last Saturday and people across Britain and Spain got ready for their own wedding parties, so a band of British expatriates met up to celebrate in the Costa del Sol.

The British Embassy was holding a party in Madrid, but amongst those who had been invited were Michel and Steven Euesden, proprietors of EWN Media Group and publishers of Euro Weekly News, RTN and Sol Times who decided that it would be better to spend the money involved in travelling to Madrid on members of the local community.

That doesn't mean that EWN wasn't represented at the Madrid event as another senior member of staff who had also been invited made the journey.

It was something of a last minute decision and as the Group was to be represented by a senior staff member in Madrid, they put their not inconsiderable skills to organising an event for local, mainly elderly residents, to enjoy the Royal Wedding in company with a drink and a bite to eat.

First a location had to be found and Bob and Linda Hackshaw, owners of the Villalinda restaurant on the Mijas Road, volunteered their delightful property with extensive terraces as the venue.

The event was sponsored by Currencies Direct in conjunction with media partner Spectrum FM and other local companies including Iceland, Calvin's Hairdresser, Bunches Florist, Bing Asian, Don Alfonso Restaurant, La Parra Gold and Cardland.

Two great entertainers, Antony Wolfson and One Wish Steve volunteered their services and the EWN staff rallied round helping to lay out the tables and chair, hang out the bunting and balloons, preparing sandwiches and drinks and clearing up afterwards.

Representatives of the EWN Media Group visited local charities such as Age Care and Age Concern who had particular contact with the elderly and invited their clients and members who might wish to attend and in the event, some 150 people arrived to enjoy the spectacle of the wedding, having been greeted with Pimms (which flowed freely throughout the day) and to chat with friends old and new.

Nicki Burgess, General Manager of the group was a tower of strength, working behind the scenes to ensure that all went smoothly and it was she who arranged for the baking of a sensational Union Jack cake made by Pin Ups Cakes in Fuengirola.

It was also great to welcome David Toms, the celebrity photographer who was sadly paralysed in a motorbike accident in 2016 and although still in need of constant care is very slowly showing some signs of partial recovery.

Nicole King, presenter of Marbella Now TV was present to record the event and to the delight of all made a special presentation of a personalised RTV Marbella award to Michel Euesden for all that she has done for the local community which was a complete surprise that left Michel almost speechless.

All of the guests were able to enter a free prize draw which saw Janice Stanford win a brand new large screen TV.

British Ambassador Simon Manley was not to be left out and at the behest of the Group, he recorded a message which was broadcast at the event which ended in a toast to the new young Royal couple.

Although many people have become cynical about the value of the British Royal Family over the years, the turn out to this event with so many people dressing up in Union Jack inspired costumes, ready to wave their flags shows that this community on the Costa del Sol still retains patriotic links with the 'mother country.'

The weather remained clement and at the end of the day, it appears that everyone left having enjoyed a great and memorable day.

Thank you to everyone

Thank you

What a wonderful way to celebrate the Royal Wedding and to thank the many Brits on the Costa del Sol who give so generously of their time year in and year out. Thank you EWN!

Charmaine Arbouin, British Consul Malaga

Good on you all for organising your event.

Simon Manley, British Ambassador to Spain

Can you please pass on our thanks to all the people who made the Royal Wedding party at Villalinda a great day, myself, my husband and friends thoroughly enjoyed ourselves and appreciate all the hard work that went into making the day special.

Dean Harrison

Debbie Mortimore

Just sending you a big thank you to everyone at Euro Weekly News for giving us a great day out.

It was really special being able to meet up with the team, your enthusiasm is incredible, what dedicated people and being so generous in entertaining us so well.

Thank you for introducing me to Steven and Michel. I will wear your tie at every opportunity Steven, Carol loves the scarf Michel. It was so unexpected that you presented us with them. I was only being complimentary, it shows what type of people you are. Many thanks.

We at Age Care really appreciate the coverage we receive helping our charity grow.

Syd and Carol Weldon, Age Care Costa del Sol

Just thought I'd drop you a line to say thank you so much for yesterday's Royal Wedding party. It was a super day and we are very grateful and happy to have been a part of it. Congratulations to you and all the team on such a great 'do'! You all worked flat out and did a fabulous job. And thank you for the Best Dressed prize - Lucia has already planned her spending spree!

Stacey

I was honoured to be invited to the Ambassador's home in Madrid but more so to be with people that needed our presence to also have a memorable day! I was blown away with how hard Michel Euesden, Steven Euesden and ALL the Euro Weekly newspaper team (past and present) worked cooking and cleaning and serving and chauffeuring!!! Chapó.

A right royal treat is out there

Christina Sharp

GLOBELINK INTERNATIONAL

christina@globelink.co.uk

IN a week where Prince Harry and Meghan tied the knot, why not maintain a royal theme and explore some of Spain's very own perfect matches?

The royal palaces of Alhambra, Granada and Alcazar in Sevilla, each display a magnificent marriage of architectural prowess from bygone ages. If you've yet to visit these UNESCO World Heritage sites, it's a good time to go and avoid peak season crowds and temperatures.

Did you know that the Royal Alcazar in Sevilla, is the oldest royal palace still in use in the whole of Europe? Originally a Moorish fort built in the 10th century by the first Caliph of Andalucia, it's a breathtaking blend of Christian and Mudejar architecture.

Since 913, it's undergone 11 centuries of home improvements, all of which have left their mark, including Islamic, Gothic, Renaissance and Baroque features. Perhaps the most extravagant were by King Pedro, in the 14th century, who added the lavish Palacio de Don Pedro. Alcazar remains in the royal limelight and featured in the fantasy epic, Game of Thrones, TV series.

The Alhambra, with its renowned red hue, framed by the dramatic Sierra Nevada peaks, offers a majestically elaborate display of Moorish architecture. It's the only preserved palatine city from the Islamic period and is a fortress, palace and walled-city rolled into one. Famous for being the opulent seat of Granada's Nasrid emirs, it's among the finest Islamic buildings in Europe.

With its origins first referenced in the 9th century it offers a unique window into Spain's rich history spanning from the Nasrid dynasty to Charles V. The Alhambra Park even incorporates a dense wood of English elms planted by the Duke of Wellington in 1812.

If you fancy a peek at a palace further afield, our favourites include the spectacular renaissance architecture of Chateau de Chambord, in France <https://www.chambord.org/en/>, the Royal Palace, Stockholm, <https://www.kungahuset.se>, or Palazzo Pitti in delightful Florence

How is chocolate made and where?

THE process of converting the seed of the cacao fruit into chocolate is both lengthy and complex, as is the history of chocolate-making itself, a process which dates back more than 2,000 years.

Andalucia plays a surprising role in the evolution of everyone's favourite sweet treat, as you will learn when you take a visit up to Mayan Monkey Mijas in picturesque, Mijas Pueblo.

After its fourth expansion in six years, this award-winning chocolate factory has recently opened a chocolate museum, precisely to answer the often-posed question, 'where does chocolate come from?'

If it's quiet enough to do so, the team will happily offer you a free guided tour. Start at the replica cacao grove, where fruitarian spider monkey models hunt cacao pods in the trees. Known as the world's first cacao farmers, these seed-dispersing 'new world' primates discovered the delicious fruit of the cacao tree almost 4,000 years ago.

Critical to the cacao's life cycle, sadly today, all seven subspecies are under threat. As a palm-oil free company, Mayan Monkey Mijas collaborates with three different NGOs to raise funds for primate conservation, in Latin America, where spider monkeys are native to, as well as Africa and Indonesia.

Meet the 'grannies!' Dora is an antique French roaster ('tostadora' in Spanish). Molly (so-named for 'molino' - the Spanish word for 'mill'), from the north of Spain, boasts two impressive granite stone wheels (each of which weigh 300kgs), to crush the roasted and shelled cacao and organic cane sugar, for 72 hours non-stop until reaching the consistency of chocolate.

Heidi is a beautiful antique Heidelberg printing press, which allows Mayan Monkey Mijas to produce all their own packaging in-house. Learn about the process of graphic design and paper engineering and, maybe even get to see a chocolate box being printed, cut and folded from scratch.

The ancient Maya are credited for inventing the world's first chocolate. Ground cacao paste, blended with water and chilli, resulted in a spicy bitter brew called 'Xocolatl,' from which today's 'chocolate' takes its name.

Taste organic and ethically sourced dark, milk and white chocolate whilst learning about the role of Spain in making chocolate sweet, and if you fancy having a go at getting creative with chocolate, grab tickets at the counter for a chocolate-making workshop.

A British wedding, an affair and a Handmaid's Tale

TV COUCH CRITIC

by Adam Whalley-Lewis

I PROMISE not to dwell on the numbers, but it seems a lot of us tuned in to watch the BBC and ITV coverage of the Royal Wedding last week.

I was in a take it or leave it place right up until Harry and William arrived at the Chapel, but once they did, those flags from last week came out and we raised a glass or two watching the sunshine in Windsor.

I really don't understand the swipes about the dress not fitting properly or Fergie arriving with only one glove. I do understand two people in love and thought it was lovely. Just a final wedding thought, the gift bags given to people invited to be in the castle grounds selling for £20K at an online auction, really...

The second offering of The Handmaid's Tale started on Channel 4 on Sunday and it wasn't an easy watch. Series one was framed around the novel of the same name by Margaret Atwood. The story is set in a future society where women are forced to have children for a ruling class who are anything but Christian, despite what they might profess.

Elizabeth Moss is back playing the lead amongst a cast of stellar performers for season two. The first episode showed us more of how we arrived at the present, with a series of flashbacks which are adding even more depth to the storyline, even if some of the lines are uncomfortable to hear. Ann Dowd returns as Aunt Lydia and if the opener this time around is anything to go by, will give Elizabeth a run for her money in the acting stakes.

Praise hasn't been universal and if you haven't seen season one, you might want to find it on catch up before you delve in, but as dark as it is, I will be watching this time around just as intensely as I did for season one.

If you did see the first episode last week, could you help me with a couple of (literally) burning questions - firstly, when Offred burned her clothes and her hair in that disused factory, just how long did they keep burning? It seemed an age, and second, did you realise Joseph Fiennes plays Commander Waterford? I missed that one, too focused on the burning red dress.

A very English Scandal started a three part run on BBC1, Sunday and charts the rise and fall of Jeremy Thorpe in the 60's and 70's. Hugh Grant plays Jeremy and Ben Whishaw is Norman Scott. We probably all know the story and how it pans out, but Hugh Grant's acting is the stuff of BAFTAs and Ben should be on the awards radar too. Amongst the serious story line there is some humour, delivered expertly. You can catch the first episode on BBC iPlayer now.

Looking ahead, BBC2 has extensive cover of the Chelsea Flower Show this week; for an easy to watch movie, Identity Thief is the Saturday night Film on Channel 4 and Bradley Walsh shows us some backstage secrets from The London Palladium this weekend (Sunday evening, ITV).

Happy viewing!

What do you need from your insurer?

EU INSURANCE DIRECT has been on the coast for over 12 years and they have seen many changes over that time.

Car and home insurance prices have reduced over the years which is very strange considering that premium prices in the UK appear to have rocketed. There is huge competition for insurance for expatriates who live in Spain, prices appear to be cheaper for expats than they do for Spanish nationals and the premium war with all companies is strong.

However, it isn't always the cheapest price that is the best. Most clients want a suitable level of cover, have documents in their own language, access to a simple, straightforward claims service and have a person who speaks their language at the other end of the phone.

EU Insurance Direct offers these three important benefits.

The EU Insurance Direct office is based in Elviria and office hours are from Monday to Friday 9.30am to 5.30pm except on Friday when they close at 4pm.

Wendy Codd who owns the company has been in insurance since she left school at 17 and worked at the Prudential Insurance for 15 years, from there she went on to work at Allied Dunbar, Rothschilds in Mayfair and then to various brokerages in north London. Asked what makes her company special she says that she offers:

INSURANCE: Make sure it's up to date and correct.

- A personal service with a wealth of knowledge.
- Friendly impartial advice on all aspects of insurance.
- Most competitive quotes on the coast.
- Best cover with many different options to suit all circumstances.

- All insurances under one roof.
- English-speaking helplines.

Whether you are new to Spain or looking to obtain quotes when your renewal comes up, why not give EU Insurance Direct a call, you may be pleasantly surprised at their prices and knowledge of what you need?

Wendy says that many clients have no clue about who they are insured with, how much they are insured for or even when their renewal date is due. Some are even not insured with the correct vehicle and many companies have their dates of birth wrong, it is so important to check your insurance documents.

With summer rentals looming and many expats returning to the UK during the hottest periods in Spain and probably leaving their properties unoccupied for longer periods of time, make sure your home insurance is up-to-date and correct.

If you have an ITV coming up make sure you have your documents for the car as you will need them, this is a new law in Spain, no documents, no ITV. They will not accept a copy on your phone!!

For all your insurances, whether general (home, car, bikes etc) or personal, health, life, savings or holiday insurance, pet liability and medical, EU Insurance Direct offers it all.

For a no obligation quote call Wendy or Ashley on 952 830 843/951 080 118 or mob 635 592 610.

Mixed reviews for TripAdvisor's coverage of Britain's top spots

STONEHENGE: 'Just a bunch of rocks' for one disgruntled visitor.

THERE'S just no pleasing some people. The UK's got World Heritage Sites, a vibrant and cultured capital city and great landscapes. But not all visitors are impressed. As some recent less-than-glowing TripAdvisor reviews reveal.

Take Stonehenge for instance. An acknowledged wonder of the ancient world and Unesco heritage site? Not so for one reviewer: 'Just a bunch of rocks.' For another: 'The definition of a tourist trap. Miles and miles of travelling to arrive at a park where you are given an audio guide to some really uninteresting rocks.'

Surely the white cliffs of Dover, the first glimpse of Britain for many visitors, would fare better? Not exactly: 'Except for the historical significance, there isn't anything exciting about the cliffs as they are today. Glistening white? They're more like a dingy brown.'

Maybe the other end of the country - Land's End, Cornwall - would cut it? Hardly! 'Went out of our way to visit while camping in Cornwall and wished we hadn't bothered. The landmark has all the charm of a really bad service station, everything seemed overly commercialised and overpriced. We left after half an hour.'

London wouldn't come in for so much stick, eh? Wrong! Trafalgar Square's 'too noisy' and Leicester Square's 'hell on a stick. Bars rammed full of tourists and the square full of kids trying to nick fags off you.'

What about the prestigious British Museum? Well, for one reviewer it's 'coma inducing.' For another: 'We really tried to like the exhibits but it was just so utterly boring.'

And Scotland? Forget it! Ben Nevis is 'too steep and too high' and Loch Ness ('just a regular lake') is hardly worth the trip.

TripAdvisor - by the people, for the people - is a site that encapsulates the internet conundrum. Its benefits to the paying public are obvious but its misuse can be devastating. Undoubtedly a useful tool, it's obviously only as good as the reviewers. Aim to get corroborating information from other travel sites... or, better still for this year's holidays, simply use your own judgement.

LEGALLY SPEAKING

Is CGT plusvalia?

Q. You wrote in the May 3-9 issue that if one is over 65 and tax resident in Spain for three years, one will not be obliged to pay Capital Gains Tax (plusvalia). This is misleading as everyone, regardless of age, must pay the municipal plusvalia tax to the town hall where your property is located. It is the main government plusvalia that one avoids after the age of 65. I am over 65 and I sold my main residence in Benalmadena last year and I was obliged to pay nearly €10,000 to the town hall. I feel the article is confusing.

LH (Costa del Sol)

A. GOOD point. There are two taxes the seller pays.

- Capital Gains Tax, charged on the profit from the sale. This is a national Tax Agency tax.
- The 'plusvalia' is a municipal tax based on the rateable value (IBI) of the property and the time that has passed since it last changed hands.

It is indeed confusing. In your question you combine the two. Don't do that. They are similar but not the same. CGT is national and plusvalia is municipal.

Political correctness

Mike Senker
In my opinion

Views of a Grumpy Old Man

OK so I try and be grumpy about something different every week but this week's a bit of a continuation of last week's rantings. That was basically about all the blithering idiots that tell me what is allowable or offensive and the 'PC' thing to do.

The two that have done my nut in this week are firstly, the Eurovision Song Contest, which by the way I don't watch for many reasons. That was on Saturday night and was won by Israel which, if I'm not mistaken is in the Middle East, not Europe. Anyway Israel won and that should be it - well done, let's forget about it for another year.

But no, all of a sudden I start hearing and seeing stuff about the winner. Not anything about the song or the quality of it but what the singer was wearing. The singer wore her take on a traditional kimono dress with her hair up in two buns and performed in front of two walls of Japanese maneki-neko cat figurines and therefore was apparently guilty of appropriating Japanese culture with her performance. So who was complaining? Japan, as a country? Japanese people around the world? No, of course not. It was some bloody PC idiot that I'm sure is just seeking publicity.

This has got to stop. What next? Should we ban the Village People because of they are appropriating cowboys, red Indians, policemen, builders etc all in one go?

Then I just saw the most ridiculous thing ever. Are you ready for this? Some nutter is saying that parents should seek their baby's consent before they change their nappy as it teaches how to set up a culture of consent in their homes. Obviously, the baby can't answer the question - 'I'm going to change your dirty nappy, is that ok?' So the advice is to wait a moment and look for some sign of consent (whatever that might be).

OK, so you wait and you don't see one. What do you do? Do you leave the baby in the dirty nappy and how do you ask the baby in the first place? In an adult, consenting, sort of way like, 'Would you like a nice cup of tea?' or the cutie, wooty voice you use when talking to your baby? Where does it stop? Can I bath you? Can I cuddle you? Can I lie on the bed and just stare at the miracle that you are?

Here's the deal you bunch of crazy lunatics (not you my lovely readers) - our babies do not need to give us their consent because, do you know what, 99.99999 per cent of all parents would never do anything ever, ever that would harm their child. In fact, it's the total opposite. IDIOTS!!

Be careful as there are thieves everywhere

HAVE just read your article on thieves targeting drivers - I had my tyres slashed while stopped to get directions in Valencia. Followed up with offers to help to change it. Although we did not realise this was a scam, luckily we had breakdown cover so did not fall victim.

The Spanish lady I was speaking to saw the young man do it and screamed for the police. As in your article, the police said it happens thousands of times!

However a week later at a large supermarket in Estepona I was targeted and followed back to my car and while unloading, my handbag was stolen from the boot as I turned my back to pick up the shopping, they were so close to me!

Since then other tactics have been tried by often foreign gangs and despite taking all precautions, I have been robbed again just walking along the port at Cabopino and my broad Glaswegian husband was with me and did not notice their technique!

Boozy flights

TOTALLY agree with no alcohol on flights! Our outbound flight to Malaga

Not so much just beachy as simply beastly

SPAIN deservedly wins a number of accolades, but I read the latest with incredulity ('Just beachy,' front page, Issue 1714).

Spain may have 'the most blue flags on the planet' according to ADEAC, but are any of its representatives familiar with the beautiful but sometimes filthy coastline from Marbella to Nerja?

We are all too aware of the slicks of sewage floating close to our beaches as it continues to be pumped untreated into the sea.

With this in mind the 590 strips of clean beaches, wherever they are in Spain, seem an irrelevance to the Costa del Sol and Axarquia.

was at 5.45am and there were groups of golfers and hen parties who were obviously out to have a good time, but really do they (a) need to drink that early and (b) inflict their raucous behaviour on fellow passengers? Save it till you land and behave badly in your own hotel or bar, then people have a choice to avoid you, not be trapped in a plane with you!

LAST week I purchased an iPhone 8 costing €800.

I had previously had an iPhone 5 and was extremely pleased with it. On arriving home and setting it up I suspected a microphone problem as people were unable to understand my conversation.

I returned to the shop with the phone only to be told that they don't exchange faulty phones, instead I had to go to the Apple shop in Palma where they would send it off for repair.

Apparently there are many problems with the iPhone 8. I was led to believe that by law, you had up to 15 days to return faulty goods and be given a replacement. So I'm very disappointed.

Outrage after men mistreat sick bull

Disgusting.

I don't understand how this still goes on... Harming/killing animals for entertainment = animal abuse... which is a crime. I just don't understand why if Joe blogs kills a dog for fun he goes to jail (albeit a pathetic sentence, but that's another topic)... yet when a bull is killed in the ring for fun it is OK.

I don't understand and I never will.

Zara Mária

This is a disgusting and barbaric practice, Spain needs to hang its head in shame time to stop it.

Call for tourist carriage ban after horse death

I have had horses all my life, the problem is the time they work with no food or water. If the horses worked a morning/afternoon/evening rota then people could still enjoy the horses and the horses would not suffer.

They must have water at their waiting stations all the time and then fed before work and after work. The reason they do not give them water and food is to stop then weeing and messing in the streets. It's all about horse management.

Sean Sharon Applin

Stop it, they are not cared for properly, left to stand in boiling heat. The owners of these horses do not care about welfare, just cash. Tourists should stop using them.

Pat Ward

Such cruelty to these beautiful horses. It is outdated and barbaric. Yes, it's time to stop this now.

Motorhomes debate

A FEW weeks ago Messrs May wrote concerning the number of motorhomes wild camping in La Marina, a subject I also wrote to Euro Weekly News about last year as I am a motorhome owner and also a property owner.

Last week, Dave from Turre, a motorhome owner, wrote to express his annoyance at the letter stating that visitors to Spain don't have to pay for rubbish clearance or water. I think he'll find that visitors paying to stay in hotels, apartments, or campsites, will have this cost factored into their charges. As a property owner, I'd also like to remind him that water bills in Spain are high and we all pay for rubbish removal.

There are some countries where wild camping is permitted for a few days ie Portugal and even Scotland. In residential areas of Spain, it isn't. Perhaps when I return to the UK in my motorhome I should park up for a few days outside his home, empty my water tank, put up my TV satellite, fill my tank from his water supply, put my rubbish in his bin.

If by some miracle the weather is warm, I'll set up my chairs on the pavement outside the motorhome to read my paper whilst my washing is drying on the rack! That should be OK providing I nip to the local shops for my supplies.

MADDOCKS' VIEW ON LIFE

' THAT'S THEM ON HONEYMOON -
THE TASTIEST COUPLE ON THE PLANET! '

YOUR STARS FOR NEXT 7 DAYS

AQUARIUS (January 21 - February 19)

Is someone trying to sidetrack you by casting doubt on a relationship or plan? Something is going on so make sure that you have all the facts. It would be gullible of you to take everything at face value. You have good supportive colleagues and may seek their advice. Be optimistic as the weekend comes and remember your sense of humour.

PISCES (February 20 - March 20)

Showing confidence means others see you as being very much in control. They need to see that you can be trusted. If a plan is not going in the right direction, be prepared to change tack. Changes should not be made to financial plans until you are sure of your ground. Romantically, you are being admired.

ARIES (March 21 - April 20)

It is all go for you at the moment. Not only will you be particularly clear-thinking but your intellect will be sharp as a knife. Your enthusiasm spills over from your business life to personal matters, leading to a hectic and eventful time all week. When it comes to romance, a positive and dynamic approach stands you in good stead.

TAURUS (April 21 - May 21)

It is now important that you are clear about the person you wish to spend your time with because you may have more than one option. Plans that you started last week are now showing progress. Keeping the pace growing is essential to beat rivals. It is not an easy week by any means but it should not be boring.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)

A tendency to be emotional because of a setback should be avoided. When you feel the pressure rising, remember that nothing is worth risking your health for. Sound out friends and colleagues to avoid over-reacting. It is a week when you realise how someone close is able to be a great help. The question is, can you accept it?

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)

There is sensitivity in your chart. It is possible to overlook someone who needs your time and consideration. You are not a mind-reader and they may not directly seek your help. Be aware, then, of how others are faring.

LEO (July 24 - August 23)

When someone asks you this week where you are going, will you know the answer? You will make progress if you do. If you're not sure, then there is no point in going full steam ahead. This is a week to consider your options on all fronts, particularly in business.

VIRGO (August 24 - September 23)

A personal decision needs to be made. No major changes are necessary so long as you have a firm plan. It is not so much that caution is required, rather more that you should give yourself time to consider. In the longer term, you may see this week as a turning point.

LIBRA (September 24 - October 23)

This is a week of planning and making changes. Some things click into place and you realise that you are on your way to completing an ambition. The trick is to manage it without upsetting people on the home front.

SCORPIO (October 24 - November 22)

Are you putting off a decision affecting others? This is a good time to take the bull by the horns. Keep an eye on finances involving younger people. Sometimes, you are better able to help in other ways, perhaps by giving encouragement or advice.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 - December 21)

Your activities this week may seem to be ones best done alone. To a certain extent this is true. However, if you wish to make others feel important and gain their support in the future, you should involve them. You don't have to take advice which is given but be diplomatic when not acting on it.

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 20)

Are you feeling less positive than usual? We all do at times. If energy is low get out for a long walk in a relaxing place. Perhaps watch a film that raises your spirits. There is about you a kind of regret and fondness for the past, but there is nothing wrong with sentimentality so long as it does not cloud your picture of the future. That can be bright indeed.

Steady does it

EYELINER is a very subtle way to draw attention to your eyes. Not only can it make them look vibrant, it can make you look more awake.

However, not everyone has a steady hand to achieve their desired look. So, to avoid that just-out-of-bed-look, try and absorb the following advice.

The three basic types of eyeliner are pencils, gels and liquids. The most common and easiest to apply is the pencil. Before you let it near your eye, be sure that you've sharpened the eyeliner pencil. This will allow you to create a line as close to your lash line as possible.

Blunt points are ideal for shading but are simply not defined enough to achieve a sharp look.

For more control in your application, hold your eye. Use your fingers to pull the skin above your eye taut for a smoother, more precise line. And instead of chancing it, steady your elbow against the table to keep your hand firm.

With these simple little steps, you will achieve a sharp line under the eye and create a dashing look.

Sparkling in spectacles

AUSTRALIAN pop star Kylie Minogue has launched her second collection of glasses.

And for a woman about to blow out 50 candles this Monday she looks as sexy as ever. Each new pair in the Kylie Minogue eyewear collection takes its name from one of her classic tracks, including All The Lovers and Spinning Around.

According to Kylie, the collection can be defined as 'reinterpreted retro.'

It features a chic mix of rose gold, soft pastels and classic monochrome, adorned with delicate Swarovski crystals - and her unmistakable 'K' tag.

Kylie says she introduced the sparkle detail so the glass-

Solution to cellulite

ONE of the biggest concerns for many women is cellulite. It not only affects health, causing intense pain and other symptoms, but it's the reason why many women feel too self-conscious to reveal their legs.

In fact, according to a recent survey by MB Consultores, the presence of dimples across the thighs and buttocks worries 57.3 per cent of the female population. Exceeding the importance women give to wrinkles (46 per cent).

And with nine out of 10 women having some degree of cellulite, huge amounts of money are spent investing in creams to eliminate the problem.

However, analysis has shown that even the most effective cream only reduces the contour of the thigh by up to 3mm after one month of use, meaning that the claims made by firms to eliminate cellulite are simply exaggerated.

Yet, there is new technology available which can penetrate and firm up to 10mm of the skin. LED cellulite massagers are handheld devices that can be used at home. They operate using HT (home tightening) technology which combines bipolar radio frequency energy to firm the deeper layers of the skin, LED light energy to rejuvenate the skin, and infrared heat technology to improve the texture. Not only have these technologies been proven to be more effective than creams, but at about €100 for a device you'll be saving a pretty penny too.

BEACH READY: New technologies can help eliminate unwanted cellulite.

TECH FOR THE TIMID

Smart for a phone

Terence Kennedy argues for a cell-by date for seniors

THESE days the only reason some of us still have a landline phone is so we can find our mobiles by calling them.

Remember when the phone was a black bakelite lump with a frayed cable, squatting solidly atop a pile of well-thumbed directories on its own sacred telephone table?

The subsequent march of the mobile has been unprecedented in human history: from the first portable call back in the mists of history (1973), to the first true smartphone just 17 years ago, to nearly five billion mobiles today and rising. Now just about everyone has a smartphone. Except my gran.

Why would she possibly need one? That's exactly what she said when we gave her a gran-proof Nokia 110 for Christmas. She was expecting bath products.

Given that she's never understood why new-fangled cash-dispensing contraptions won't give her exactly the amount she wants (precisely 28 euros and 50 cents last time she tried and failed), persuading her that a smartphone could enrich her life is about as hopeful as convincing her that the royals are alien lizards or Charles put out a hit on Diana.

If this rings (or buzzes) true in your own family, there are in fact a few of what marketers like to call USPs - unique selling points - you might use to drag any ageing techno-luddite into this brave new world.

Always having a camera in your pocket, for one. Indispensable for snapping those precious pix of the grand-sprog's first steps, second steps, third steps and on into an infinity of hell for anyone forced to view them.

Not having to stay at home specifically to catch The Archers when the latest episode is always on tap as a podcast in your pocket or handbag. Not having to get lost downtown (or four doors down...) thanks to Google Maps (assuming you've got your glasses).

There's Facebook for family news - what we used to call 'Hatched, Matched and Dispatched' in the newspaper business.

Voice dialling and text readers are two more innovations invaluable to less dexterous users.

And the games, all those games with no need to colonise the entire dining-room table for a 5,000-piece jigsaw of Harry and Meghan. From Candy Crush to Angry Birds, it's now the so-called 'silver surfers' becoming so happily addicted to online games on computers and phones.

Then here's the clincher for all of us nearing our best-by dates: the instant ability to look up today's latest ailment. AND the ability to email or text it for the full enjoyment of all the family.

Senior cell-ulitis

THE world's smallest cellphone is barely bigger than a matchbox. It's exactly what most older folks don't need.

Search 'cellphones for seniors' and you'll be inundated with large, chunky mobiles, usually sporting big keyboards and uncluttered screens.

But smartphones at their simplest make even those concessions unnecessary. Almost all let you pump up the on-screen text size, in much the same way as e-readers have become an absolute boon for those with less-than-perfect peepers.

If on-screen keypads are still too fiddly, a couple of euros buys a stylus to tap any touchscreen.

And of course there are those indispensable and unlimited alarms, just the thing to remind us to take our next tranche of tablets. But was it the green or the blue ones?

Update on food, drink, entertainments, what's on and weekly happenings

San Pedro Go takes place this weekend

THE council in San Pedro Alcantara is supporting the first festival of manga, video games and alternative culture under the title San Pedro Go.

Running from 11am to 9pm this Saturday and 11am to 8pm on Sunday, admission is free and the festival will be held in the municipal marquee in the centre of the town.

The whole show is aimed at children, teenagers and families and there will be plenty to experience, especially as it is incorporating the annual Battle of the Roosters which is basically a form of rhyming rap performed by up to 30 young people who will battle against each other as part of a nationwide competition

Organisers of the entire event, Fusion Freak, have announced that there will be around a hundred activities for all ages from five years onwards and that one of the highlights of the festival will be the presence of the actor Jose Posada who regularly dubs the voices of Matt Damon and Adam Sandler, among others on Spanish soundtracks to movies.

In addition, Marta García, author of the work 'Mi Miyazaki Mi' will be appearing alongside the Spanish Yo-Yo Association with an exhibition of skill and the Onyxia Association, who will hold Rubik's Cube workshops and will be just some of the myriad of guests who will entertain visitors.

Friends rally to help local photographer David Toms

LOCAL photographer David Toms was a very popular figure on the Costa del Sol and continues to be so with many friends working hard to raise funds to support him.

Sadly, David was involved in a major motorcycle accident in July 2016 which left him paralysed and in need of constant care and although he is recovering very slowly, he is confined to a wheelchair and needs to be under constant medical supervision.

Such care doesn't come cheap and therefore regular fundraising events are held on his behalf with the latest being held at La Sala in Puerto Banus on Friday June 8 with 30 per cent of the €50 ticket price being donated to the David Toms Fund.

The event which is supported not just by La Sala but by a number of footballers and former players such as Harry Winks and David Bentley who will be donating some of their signed memorabilia for auction.

Guests will be treated to a two-course lunch with welcome glass of Cava as well as a €10 drinks gift voucher to use at the nearby Oak Garden & Grill and they can be assured of some first class entertainment as well as a fashion show, raffle and auction.

Tickets for this very worthwhile event can be purchased from the reception at La Sala Banus or by contacting Holly at elievents@marbella@hotmail.com.

Helping children with cancer

EVERY year Sandro Morelli, the charismatic restaurateur and philanthropist, hosts the Children with Cancer UK Summer Gala at his Villa Tiberio restaurant in Marbella.

So far he has helped to raise €444,000 for the charity co-founded by Princess Diana with the O’Gorman family, and is aiming to reach the half million euro mark very soon.

The Children with Cancer UK dinner has become an important event in Marbella’s social calendar, with guests flying in from all over the world to enjoy a fun evening with all the glitz and glamour that goes with it, to support a good cause.

Starting at 7.30pm on Sunday, June 3 with aperitifs in the gardens, followed by a three-course dinner with wine and coffee included and live entertainment from the coast’s best entertainers, there is also an auction with amazing celebrity items, plus dancing in beautiful surroundings.

This year, Formula 1 fans will be in for a treat and the auction is bound to be hectic as Martin Brundle who had nine podium appearances in his 12-year career has generously volunteered a number of signed items of Formula 1 memorabilia for the auction.

When he held the first Children with Cancer UK Gala 11 years ago, Sandro never imagined that the event would eventually raise so much money, but he was passionate about the charity and the wonderful work it does for cancer sufferers and their families.

“No one remains untouched by cancer, though it is particularly heart-breaking when children are affected by the disease. The results achieved by Great Ormond Street Hospital, where the charity is based, are extraordinary, with up to a 90 per cent success rate for certain cancers.

“A lot of money is needed to treat children, help the families and fund research, that is why it is so important for me to continue this annual event and help in any way I can,” he observed.

To lose a 14-year old son to leukaemia is heartbreaking, to lose a daughter to cancer shortly after is unthinkable. That is exactly what happened to Eddie and Marion O’Gorman when their son Paul and daughter Jean died within nine months of each other.

Diana, Princess of Wales, heard about the tragedy, arranged to meet The O’Gormans and at that meeting suggested they co-found the charity that has saved so many lives.

One third of Villa Tiberio’s Children with Cancer UK Summer Gala’s €75 ticket price will go to the charity, as will all proceeds from the auction and any donations received.

Please call Villa Tiberio on 952 771 799 or email info@villatiberio.com.

Eat Well to Live Well
by Andrew Harding

EVERY chef or cook has a signature dish and this is mine.

It was originally a Rick Stein recipe but, I modified it to my taste. The original one is featured here with my changes detailed in the tips.

I like them both, the changes are for the sauce only.

Seared Tuna with Salsa Verde

Serves Two

For the Salsa Verde:

3 tablespoons parsley, washed and chopped

1 tablespoon mint, washed and chopped

1 tablespoon capers

6 whole anchovy fillets

1 whole garlic clove, finely chopped

1 teaspoon Dijon mustard

1 whole lemon juice

Tip: This is 'my' salsa verde:

3 tablespoons coriander, washed and chopped

1 tablespoon chives, washed and chopped

1 tablespoon capers

6 whole anchovy fillets

2 whole garlic cloves, finely chopped

1 teaspoon Dijon mustard

1 whole lemon juice and grated zest

200ml olive oil

1 teaspoon salt

Eat well to live well!

GREEN STUFF: There is more than one way to make a salsa verde.

200ml olive oil

1 teaspoon salt

For the Tuna:

1 Tablespoon of olive oil

Two tuna steaks, about 125 grams each

Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

An accompaniment

12 ounces mixed salad greens and baby tomatoes

Drizzle of olive oil

Put all the ingredients into a food processor and blend until well mixed together. Spoon into a bowl and set aside.

Tip: Look at the middle of the tuna steak from the side to check if it is cooked to your taste.

Tip: The Salsa Verde freezes well and does not deteriorate even when defrosted more than once. More than three times I would not recommend!

Tip: Use extra virgin olive oil for a better taste and consistency.

Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

1. First make the Salsa Verde. Put all the ingredients into a food processor and blend until liquidised. Spoon into a bowl and set aside.

2. Brush the tuna steaks on both sides with a little olive oil and season. Heat a ridged cast iron griddle (or a heavy base frying pan) over a high heat. Drizzle a little oil on to it, add the tuna steaks and sear for 1-2 minutes on the first side. Turn them over and cook for a further two minutes. This will leave the middle of the steaks almost raw; cook for longer if you prefer

3. Place the tuna steaks on four warmed plates and spoon some of the salsa on to each steak. Toss the salad leaves and tomatoes with a little olive oil, salt and pepper and pile them alongside the tuna.

Italian Diva makes a welcome return to Puerto Banus

THE incredible performer that is Gio Box will be returning to Banus for two short stays at the popular night spot that is JoysLive.

This powerhouse of a singer from Italy will be performing at JoysLive this Thursday, Friday and Saturday and then returns for another four nights from Wednesday June 20 to the following Saturday.

The 28-year-old received her nickname which has become her stage name because she is like a jukebox, ready to perform at a moment's notice, always in tune and with a wide choice of songs.

She describes herself as a "singer's singer" who is equally strong in performing all types of music from pop to rock, Motown to latin, reggae to hip hop as well undertaking some Burlesque performances as well.

The singer's real name is Gigliola Scatola (Lily Box) but she has been performing under her stage name for many years in such diverse countries as Britain, Dubai, Monaco and more recently Spain which she counts as her second home.

Gio's appearances at the Puerto Banus nightclub promises to be sensational as she performs a range of her favourite music which also includes songs from Adele, Beyonce and Tina Turner.

It is always buzzing at JoysLive but with 40 compositions under her belt, the excitement level will be turned up to volume 11 when the frankly sexy Italian appears on stage.

GIO BOX: Brings a musical taste of Italy and the world to Banus.

The performers at this famous Banus night spot are renowned for being some of the most professional on the Costa del Sol and Gio Box can only add to the quality of those appearing.

Every night is music night at this well-established nightspot which starts to party early and rocks until dawn so even if you can't get to see Gio, some of the Costa's top singers and musicians play every night plus there are regular appearances from Paul 'Piano Man' Maxwell.

You are guaranteed a great night on the front line of Puerto Banus and what's more, admission to JoysLive is always free.

La Cala change of line-up

THERE has been a change in the programme for the free concerts in La Cala de Mijas so that the band now playing on Thursday June 7 will be Revival with half of the show consisting of their popular 'Beatles' tribute.

Summer will soon be celebrated at Da Bruno Mijas

THE weather is getting better and warmer each day so it is a great time to go out at night and have a pleasant chat with friends.

The delightful patio would be the ideal place for a superb dinner or lunch accompanied perhaps by some gin and tonic, great wines or even Champagne.

Good news for new clients especially as the restaurant is now arranging for a large signpost to be placed on the road to make it much easier for everybody to locate Da Bruno Mijas as they drive from Fuengirola to Mijas.

If you like cocktails then you won't be disappointed as there will be some new summer options on the Terrace. Try one of their trendy fresh cocktails such as the classical Mojito, Piña Colada, Sex on the Beach, and many more. As usual we will have the best beef chateaubriand or our selection of fish dishes may well be an ideal choice.

Neater Heater want 'squirrels' as customers

RICHARD and Tony from Neater Heater are urging all readers to start preparing for next winter now. "We really want people to imitate squirrels," said Tony "as we know, all the other woodland creatures just laze about in the summer, relaxing.

"So when the winter comes they have to furiously compete with each other for the scraps left over or hide away and hibernate, waiting for next summer. But not the squirrels!

Squirrels plan for the winter by hoarding nuts, berries and seeds in the summer, so when winter comes they are well prepared for it, and are able to enjoy themselves on those nice bright winter days when the sun does come out. They are obviously the wisest creatures in the wood. And that is what we want our customers to be."

"What Tony is trying to say," interjected Richard, "is that when winter finally arrives in Spain, northern Europe has been cold for months. This means that chilly Czechs, frozen Fins and shivering Swedes have been stripping the shelves for months.

"Every year we have panicking customers calling us in December, desperate to have heaters supplied and fitted by Christmas.

"Frequently these customers have to compromise on their choice, or be put at the back of a long queue. Every year we think to ourselves - 'It's a shame you didn't order them in the summer when we had loads of them in stock and, equally as important, the time to process the orders'."

Neater Heater is the sole Spanish distributor for BEHA, ADAX, and VIGO convector heaters. They currently have more stock than ever before at various locations, just waiting for the 'squirrels'.

Please feel free to call them on 634 312 171 for more information, visit their website www.neaterheater.es or email info@neaterheater.es.

Cheering up your garden space with marigolds

GRAEME TYRRELL

GARDENS make a great ambience to feel relaxed.

The greenery alone is enough to put you at greater ease but there is also the scent, colours, fascinating forms and structures of flowers or the useful production of plants for the kitchen and potpourri that can be very rewarding.

It is always great to enhance the garden with at least a few special flowers that will add something more to a garden. This year I have chosen marigolds to brighten up my vegetable garden.

Some friends eagerly helped me to plant out rows of tomatoes, capsicum, various types of colourful specialty lettuce, onions interplanted to deter some pests, aubergines, beets, beans, various herbs throughout and many more vegetables.

It looked fantastic to see all the plants I had grow from seed finally in the soil surrounded by various other plants from the local nurseries. The nice neat rows were all weed free from tilling the soil and with the unseasonal quantity of rain in the warm May weather everything is thriving.

The one thing missing was enough colour. I had planted some mystic roses to help keep the tomatoes healthier but they were not in flower yet. It needed something more.

That is when I saw the marigolds at a Sunday market stall. Perfect. I bought only half a dozen and took them home.

Next morning I took them to the veg garden and just put one in each of the centre rows. The effect was stunning as the marigold in flower contrasted so brightly with the rest of the garden. They caught the eye even just approaching the garden. Just these few plants brought the veg garden to a new height of attraction.

They are very easy to grow and flower over most of summer. Being in the vegetable garden with its enriched soil and regular watering meant that there was little additional work to grow them. They are also attributed to be beneficial in repelling many garden pests including soil-born nematodes, slugs and some flying insects.

Marigolds come in a small range of colours from bright yellows to golden bronze and coppery colours. I chose three different shades to add variety as all are attractive. There are also a few different varieties.

The truth: hook, line and sinker

Marbella Moments

by Nicole King

THE word 'truth' is defined as being a fact, a reality. When we hear this word we put extra importance on the value of the information shared; after all, it's the truth.

Lately I'm beginning to wonder more and more often just how many 'truths' have been lost and manipulated with each passing generation, leaving us with the truth as we know it; not the truth itself.

Synonyms for 'truth' are sincerity, candour and honesty and yet you can be sincere, candid and honest in your belief that you are telling the truth, without your truth being a fact.

Where did all this fanciful thinking come from you might wonder? Just from looking at the clear blue sky and watching how the planes appear from behind La Concha mountain and weave their trails across my visual horizon until I'm left with a mostly overcast view and unexpectedly cloudy day.

Credit: Nicole King

Will future generations recognise the past?

Why does this interest me you may wonder again? Well, it's simply because I remember a time when 'line clouds' didn't exist. I learnt to identify the three basic cloud shapes:

Cirrus, from 'cirro,' meaning curly or fibrous, Stratus, from 'strato,' suggesting sheets or layers and Cumulus, from 'cumulo,' indicating heaped or piled. No 'line clouds' were in my school-books.

I also remember planes flying in the sky that didn't leave lasting trails. Our whole school class went out to the playing fields to witness Concorde's first flight; no cloud formation or pathway was left in its wake.

I remember so I have comparable; I know this is new, different. But will the next generation? Have you noticed that these 'line clouds' now also appear in Disney cartoons? I have.

Can we deduce therefore that this is to be a new truth, that modern 'planes now leave contrails that make clouds? Or could there be some truth to the worry that these are actually chemtrails and we're being 'fumigated' for one unknown reason or another? Which truth sounds more likely in today's world?

An elephant tied to a stick with a piece of string as a baby will never realise that it is all powerful and can do what it wants, it's been taught to believe a different 'truth.' It's been taught to believe it's helpless; dependent.

How many truths are given to us without us even investigating their veracity? Can it be that we're all so well rewarded we no longer care? I don't think cattle know they'll end up in the slaughterhouse whilst they're grazing in the fields. Do we really know what's intended for us?

If we want our children to inherit the earth perhaps its high time we stop grazing in the oblivion of our daily business and start evaluating some of the truths we are being told before it's too late and another generation will swallow all truths 'hook, line and sinker.'

EMERGING like a dream from the mist the ancient Republic of Venice was known as La Serenissima (the most serene).

A city some thought to float on mist and water is an archipelago of islands set in a lagoon close by the Adriatic Sea on the Italian coast. Today, one island is entirely given over to relaxation and luxury.

The Isola San Clemente, a private island in the heart of the Venetian lagoon is the home of the San Clemente Palace Kempinski, a luxurious Venetian retreat just 10 minutes aboard the Palace Hotel's swift water taxi to the iconic Piazza San Marco, the Doge's Palace, Venice's cathedral and the Grand Canal. This many-starred luxury resort is the perfect hideaway to relax and pamper yourself and your companion.

Set among gorgeous parks and gardens, an oasis of peace and tranquillity; for several centuries the home of a secluded monastery, the island is now the setting of the San Clemente Palace, a hotel with just 190 select rooms and romantic suites.

Generous public spaces, a mix of traditional elegance and modern conveniences conspire to encourage guests to kick back in the embrace of their private refuge. The Palace is created by an assemblage of buildings, some dating back to the Middle Ages, all carefully maintained and set in the long-established beauty of the island's park as a backdrop, this resort offers endless opportunities to relax.

Of course there is a pool to swim in and laze beside, even a three-hole golf course so you could practise your putts and swing.

Though naturally the spa is part of the scenery too aptly named the Merchant of Venice, incorporating an even more secluded private suite for a totally discreet pamper within the more than 380sqm spa. Make your selection from a full menu of hyper-luxury experiences that are crowned by the Gold Mask treatment, a 24-carat gilded facial massage.

Three restaurants - including the signature Acquerello whose terrace overlooks Venice's skyline and lagoon - offer Venetian and international cuisine with superlative service. Discover breakfast within the Insieme Restaurant, with walls decorated with tapestries and in summer take your breakfast in a 15th century monastic courtyard.

Arrive at Marco Polo airport and skim across the lagoon by fast water taxi to the San Clemente Palace as a newly-wed or in your comfortable middle years and find serenity.

THE Dogman

columnists@ewnmediagroup.com

Clicker training

AS we looked at last week, the primary means of controlling dog behaviour has been with a collar and lead, even though most pet dog owners do not have the strength and skill required for proper control.

However, there is another form of dog training based on the system used by Karen Pryor, pioneer marine mammal trainer who developed the 'Clicker' for dolphins and whales. The training of dolphins is based on positive reinforcement - a reward for doing what is required, usually a bucket of fish.

Pryor's experiences planted seeds in the minds of many dog trainers and behaviourists. They figured out if marine mammal trainers can control 600-pound sea lions without shouting and force, then why couldn't they adopt a similar technique for dog training?

Marine mammal trainers use whistles and clickers because before they can even say the word 'Good' the mammal has disappeared under the water or jumped 30 feet into the air. As soon as a mammal reaches the highest part of a jump, it knows that unless it hears a click it will get no fish.

The mammal has learnt that if it obeys a command, it hears a click and gets a food reward. No click, no reward.

I believe that the more we talk to our pets in training the less they understand. It is important to try and shorten praise words to one word like 'Good' rather than 'Now that's a clever boy'.

With a clicker, there are no words. Good behaviour is rewarded with a click, then a treat. If any dog knows you have a treat it will sit. When it does so, click and treat. When the dog is getting up, say

GOOD BOY:
Use a clicker to train your dog.

'Up', click and treat.

If the dog lies down, just as it does so, say 'Down', then click and treat. When the dog comes to you, then say 'Come', then click and treat.

You will be amazed at how quickly the dog will understand simple one-word commands that are followed by the click and treat. Remember the dog only gets the click after it has carried out the required command.

The American behaviourists Karen Pryor and Gary

Wilkes have popularised this method with dog trainers using a small box clicker as a bridge. The click is always followed by a reward. The reward can be anything the dog desires although it is usually food, a treat or toy.

Enthusiasts of the method say its benefit over other methods are that the dog understands clearly what is wanted, as the click is far more distinct than any verbal marker, and it can be used on behaviours at a distance from the handler, such as send-aways and retrieves.

The clicker is only a training tool. Once a behaviour has been thoroughly learned and randomly rewarded, the clicker is no longer required.

When you are sure the dog will do what you want, start giving the cue as the dog does it. Try using a word to cue it. If this fails, go back to saying it as it happens.

Once the response is on cue, start varying how often you ask the dog to do it before clicking and rewarding. Click sometimes twice, sometimes once, sometimes three times and so on until eventually you can fade out the click altogether.

Stop rewarding the dog if what you require is done without a cue so that it only happens when you ask for it.

Pet care is an important issue

NEED someone to care for pets?

With holidays looming, pet-sitters in high demand for the school holidays and peak holiday seasons, have you considered how you will manage your pet care this year?

With HouseSitMatch.com you can have an ID checked live-in house-sitter so your pets can stay in their own home, cared for with their routines and have their own foods. It is usually considered a less disruptive option minimising any stress the animals might experience.

Is it safe?

At HouseSitMatch we ID check every new member on joining to ensure we know who we are letting into the network, and in addition house-sitters and pet-sitters are police checked by us.

We charge for membership to ensure that there is a commitment from both parties and so we can afford to manage our network.

What our members say about us

At HouseSitMatch.com we use Trustpilot to manage and authenticate our customer reviews. Here is a recent review from a homeowner in Almeria:

I am a house-sitter with HouseSitMatch. I find Lamia and the team very helpful. Lamia always seems to be on the phone to help whatever time it is, even weekends. I have enjoyed doing the house/pet-sits.

The families whose pets I have looked after have been very nice and have welcomed me into their homes. I am even getting adept at using an

Aga! I would recommend this company, it is like being part of a family. Liz Edge

How you benefit as a home and pet-owner

Our membership offers a secure network to help you find suitable sitters. We don't reveal your contact details, or your address. You post an advert ahead of your travel dates, we publish the advert then house-sitters apply. You can view their profiles and chat with them before you accept your choice of applicant.

WITH the temperatures beginning to rise, your feline friend might begin to feel a bit hot under the collar.

Cats do have a slightly better natural coping mechanism to avoid dehydration than dogs or humans do, but they can still die from not having enough water. So to ensure your four-legged friend stays in purr-fect shape, look out for the following signs.

If your cat is struggling in the heat, it will pant heavily. Its tongue or gums may turn red, and it might drool or even vomit. It might also appear restless in its search to find a cool spot and it may stumble or appear dizzy.

To keep your top cat in tip-top health, always make sure it has access to fresh water. Trim your cat's coat and brush it regularly, as it tends to shed more hair in the heat.

Cool as a cat cool.

You could think about keeping your cat indoors during the very hottest times of the day. However, don't ever leave your cat unattended in the car, balcony or terrace as these places can get unbearably hot in the sunlight.

Remember that like dogs, cats may lose their appetite in hot weather. So, don't be too concerned about this unless they cease eating or begin to vomit regularly.

PURR-FECT: Ensure your cat has access to fresh water.

Do you need a house or pet-sitter? Get in touch. House-sitting can be a win-win for both parties, free house and pet-sitting, and the experienced and checked sitters get free accommodation!

Register as either house-sitter or homeowner now with a 20 per cent off introductory offer using coupon code PERFECT20. To find a house or pet-sitter go to www.HousesitMatch.com.

CHARITIES

ACE CHARITY "El Refugio" in La Cala de Mijas is a registered charity. We have on average 275 dogs in our care and we receive no help from the Town Hall or the Andalusian government. We desperately need foster homes and adoptants for our many dogs, especially the small ones and puppies who do not do well in a big shelter. We are grateful for any help offered, including donations of food and blankets. Visiting times are from 13.00 to 15.00 and you can always turn up or make an appointment by calling Denise on 669 018 736. Our website is www.ace-charity.org where you can view all the dogs in our care. (93320)

ADANA THE ANIMAL SHELTER IN ESTEPONA. We always need volunteers to walk and socialise with our dogs and help with cleaning. We also need good homes for our animals that you can see on www.adana.es. Kennels open every day 10-1.30. Camino de Casares, near Parque de los Pedregales, Estepona. (5 minutes from the Poligono) For more information call 952 113 467, available from 10.00am until 14.00pm. (93319)

SEPE the horse and donkey charity is open to the public week-ends from 10.00 to 5.00. Volunteers are much needed in all departments and are welcome at anytime. For our riding for the disabled classes, we are also in need of extra helpers. We are nationally registered by the Spanish Ministry of the Interior (164640) but only with your support can we give the equine a voice. If you can just commit to 2 or 3 euros a month it will really help make a difference. You can find us at Lauro Golf Equestrian Centre, Alqueria, Alhaurin de la Torre. Tel. 608 258 950 info@sepeonline.net www.sepeonline.net (93321)

AT SOS ANIMAL REFUGE we have dogs, young and old looking for homes. Some of our dogs have been with us for some time and would love to find a cosy spot to curl up in and a knee on which to rest their heads. If you have room in your heart and home we would love to hear from you. We do not put our dogs to sleep - no matter how old, they are safe with us. For day to day needs and to pay for veterinary care, we much appreciate the support we receive. We desperately need items to sell on our market stall to help raise funds and are happy to come and collect. So if you are having a clear-out, please contact us on 605 227 155. If you would like to know more about re-homing, please call 653 257 875. Visit our website www.sos-animals.org or please phone Sandy on 952 385 923 or 666 814 056 if you would like to make a donation or help in any way. (93317)

ARCH - Andalusian Rescue Centre for Horses welcomes visitors and volunteers to our stables every day from 9-11am. Come along and help out, or sponsor or adopt one of our horses, donkeys or ponies. We always need help with fund raising to look after the abandoned and abused animals. Our aim is to rescue, rehabilitate and re-home. We are a small friendly team - why not join us. Find us in Alhaurin el Grande, behind the Venta Miralmonte on the road from Alhaurin to Coin, (A404), Urb. Viña Borrego, follow the yellow signs. MOTORING FACT

The most expensive speeding ticket ever cost €1,000,000, issued to a Swedish driver who was clocked driving his Ferrari at 290kph.

BMW has revealed that its X8 SUV is likely to be its most pricey model when it is launched around 2020.

It is reportedly being designed to rival the Range Rover and upcoming Audi Q8, and when kitted out with extras could tussle with the Bentley Bentayga, Lamborghini Urus and Rolls-Royce Cullinan.

The German carmaker's head of development, Klaus Fröhlich, confirmed that the firm's most expensive model was under consideration.

"The sector is growing fast, so there will be opportunity," he said. "It is early to talk about the X8, but one of the first decisions I made when I worked on product strategy was to take the X5 and make the X6."

"Everyone said it was not necessary, but it worked. Now we have the X2, X4 and X6. They are emotional and sporty derivatives that work for us."

"There is room for X8 - especially in markets like China - but there are no decisions yet. Each car must have a distinct character, and these are the sort of areas that take time to evaluate."

Dream beamer

X8 takes aim at high-end market

Talks are reportedly centred on whether the new model should be a coupe version of the X7, which is set to go on sale later this year, or a long-wheelbase version.

It is likely to have the option of four or five seats in two rows, rather than the X7's seven seats across three configuration, with emphasis on luxurious rear-seat travel, since many owners will be chauffeur-driven.

The sales focus is likely to be China, Russia and the Middle East, meaning a V-12 engine version powered by the 592bhp, 590lb ft, 6.6-litre unit found in the 7 Series is strongly possible.

World Cup 2018

by Staff Reporter

SPAIN have announced their 23-man World Cup squad, and there is no place for Chelsea striker Alvaro Morata.

Teammates Cesc Fabregas and Marcos Alonso, plus Arsenal defender Hector Bellerin have also been left out, but Premier League stars David De Gea, David Silva, Cesar Azpilicueta and Nacho Monreal all get the nod from coach Julen Lopetegui.

Barcelona legend Andres Iniesta is included after his emotional farewell at the Nou Camp, while fellow stalwarts Gerard Pique, captain Sergio Ramos, Jordi Alba and Sergio Busquets also made the cut, and Diego Costa sealed his comeback with a spot on the plane.

Former Liverpool striker Iago Ispas and Valencia's Rodrigo Moreno are the other strikers.

But 25-year-old Morata has been axed after an underwhelming season at Stamford Bridge since joining from Real Madrid for around €65 million last summer.

After the squad was announced he tweeted: "Lots of luck in the World Cup! As of now I'll be supporting and encouraging until the end as always!"

Speaking at the squad announcement in Madrid, Lopetegui said: "This is the best and most beautiful competition in the world but at the same time

MOR'S THE PITY: Blues striker Alvaro Morata has not been included in the Spanish squad.

Kane is able

STRIKER Harry Kane will captain England at the World Cup finals after manager Gareth Southgate paid tribute to his 'outstanding personal qualities.'

The Tottenham Hotspur star, 24, netted 41 goals in all competitions last season and has 12 goals in 23 caps for the Three Lions.

He first captained the national side during a 2-2 World Cup qualifying draw with Scotland, when he equalised in stoppage time, and has since worn the armband on a further three occasions.

"I'm so excited for the World Cup, I can't wait to be there and experience it," he said.

"To lead the lads out, it's going to be special."

Kane's club teammate Eric Dier and Liverpool midfielder Jordan Henderson have also skippered the team recently.

the most difficult as you only have three initial games to prove yourself.

"We've chosen the players we think are the best and feel that we have the ingredients to challenge for the title."

The 2010 winners will start the competition in Group B alongside European champions Portugal, Iran and Morocco, four years after they crashed out at the group stage but in the wake of a flawless qualifying campaign.

Spain, Germany and Brazil are the current favourites to win this summer's tournament in Russia.

Gossip column

WITH the English and Spanish football leagues now wrapped up, this new weekly column will look at who is in, who is out, and who is most wanted at clubs in both countries.

Paris St-Germain's Brazilian striker Neymar, 26, has told the board he wants to move to Real Madrid this summer, just a year after joining the French champions. (Goal)

Barcelona are plotting a summer move for Spurs' 17-year-old English forward Reo Griffiths, with midfielder Riqui Puig, 18, set to move in the opposite direction. (Star)

Manchester United have struck a €40 million deal with Atletico Madrid for Croatian right back Sime Vrsaljko, 26. (Calciomercato)

Spanish coach Unai Emery is set to take over at Arsenal after leaving Paris St-Germain. (BBC)

Chelsea have made Bayern Munich striker Robert Lewandowski, 29, their top summer target, with the Polish forward set to cost the Blues more than €110 million. (Sun)

Manchester City have reignited their interest in Leicester winger Riyad Mahrez, 27, after missing out on the Algeria international in January. (Manchester Evening News)

Chelsea flop Alvaro Morata could be heading back to Italian champions Juventus after manager Massimiliano Allegri expressed an interest in the Spanish striker. (Gazzetta dello Sport)

French forward Antoine Griezmann moved a step closer to Barcelona after being booed by a section of Atletico Madrid fans in last weekend's final league game. (Marca)

Rumoured Liverpool target Max Meyer, 22, has reportedly agreed to stay in Germany with Hoffenheim after leaving Schalke 04 on a free transfer this summer. (Leipziger Volkszeitung)

Fitting finale

THE final weekend of La Liga brought emotional tributes to two of its most-celebrated stars.

Barcelona legend Andres Iniesta said goodbye after a 1-0 home win against Real Sociedad, with the midfielder lifting his ninth league title in the wake of a glittering 16-year, 669-game, 32-trophy career.

The 34-year-old was left in tears by the outpouring of gratitude by fans and players alike, and was later pictured sitting in his kit in the centre of the pitch until lam.

In the capital, Fernando Torres brought the curtain down on his Atletico Madrid career by scoring two goals in a 2-2 draw with Eibar before breaking down during a farewell speech.

It comes in the wake of last week's Europa League victory over French club Marseille which saw the 34-year-old win his first trophy with his boyhood club.

Atletico finished the season in second place as Real Madrid and Valencia occupied the other Champions League places.

Villarreal and Real Betis will play in next season's Europa League, while Deportivo La Coruña, Las Palmas and Malaga were relegated.

4* Boavista Golf Resort & Spa, Algarve

BOASTING an 18-hole golf course and set in a tranquil area of Lagos' outskirts, this four-star resort offers stunning Atlantic Ocean views and luxury villas overlooking the lush, landscaped gardens.

Boavista Golf Resort & Spa rental programme offers two bedroom townhouses sharing communal gardens and pools each decorated with elegant furnishings throughout the living space, bedrooms, fully fitted kitchen and bathrooms, and includes a daily housekeeping service.

Hiring a car is highly recommended as the accommodation is a short drive from the Club House and practice area with three beautifully maintained course size greens: one for putting, one for chipping and the other surrounded by bunkers. Practice facilities also include a driving range.

Also located next to the Club House is the Essential Fitness and Spa facilities which include a well-equipped gym, sauna and beauty treatment centre. There is also a large indoor and outdoor pool where you can relax in all weathers.

The centre of Lagos is less than a 10-minute drive away, and the tranquil resort of Praia de Luz with its golden sandy beach is only a five-minute drive away. Here you will find a good selection of cafés, bars and restaurants throughout the town and along the promenade.

One of the reasons people enjoy playing Boavista is that it is always in first-rate condition. Another is the attractiveness of the course with its far reaching views of the Bay of Lagos to the east and the Monchique mountains to the north.

Designed in 2002 by Howard Swan the golf course uses the natural contours of the terrain and as a result it presents plenty of challenge - especially on holes six and eight where you have to hit your ball across a ravine!

With two distinctive sections the course offers a variety of holes. The first nine climb to the highest point of the resort, where a pause at the eighth tee will allow you to experience panoramic views. Subsequent holes descend to an area with water features, streams, lakes and arched bridges.

CostaLessGolf have a Special Offer staying throughout June and September 2018.

Los Arqueros Golf, the first golf course designed by Seve Ballesteros

CostaLessGolf
Weekly News with Ron Garrood

SET amongst steep mountains, the impeccable fairways of Los Arqueros Golf and Country Club Benahavis merge with the spectacular surrounding scenery, affording the golfers exceptional views over the Mediterranean.

Opened in 1991, Los Arqueros is a challenging par-71, 18-hole course designed by the Spanish ace, Severiano Ballesteros who was considered to be one of the best players in the world.

The design thinking behind Los Arqueros Golf and Country Club was to lay out a course which closely followed the contours of the land and was in harmony with the natural setting.

It is an idea which Seve exploited to the maximum when designing the front and back nine holes, each with its own distinct personality. The result is a course which presents a challenge for the experienced golfer and is a real test of skills for beginners.

The course requires accurate play, especially in some tight tee shots where you may have to forego distance in your drive and opt instead for shorter irons or woods which ensure that the ball reaches the fairway.

Hole 8 is especially tricky, as it is a long par 5, with a tight dogleg towards the right which slopes sharply downhill to the green, and a hazardous out-of-bounds area finishing in a stream at the entrance to the green.

Therefore, this is a demanding course which requires a calculated game, and where you cannot afford to take many risks if you want to make your handicap.

SPAIN'S Adrian Otaegui is aiming for a Ryder Cup debut after winning his second European Tour title.

It comes after the 25-year-old saw off France's Benjamin Hebert in the final of the inaugural Belgian Knockout in Antwerp.

The Basque birdied four of the last six holes to beat his rival by two shots at the Rinkven International Golf Club, to add to his victory in last year's Paul Lawrie Match Play event in Germany.

"I'm very happy, very relaxed now after those last nine holes against Ben that were very tight," Otaegui told Sky Sports. "I think we both played very good golf and I'm just very proud about my week."

And when asked about his chances of qualifying for the European Ryder Cup team, which will be captained by Dane Thomas Bjørn in Paris, Otaegui quipped:

Otaegui targets Ryder Cup spot

"Thomas, if you're looking at me, I like match play!

"There's still a lot of season to go, obviously the good events coming now with the Rolex Series and lots of points. The season is still very long but yeah, I'm looking for the Ryder Cup in a few months."

EYE ON THE PRIZE: Adrian with his Belgian trophy.

Marc leads

SPANIARD Marc Marquez won a third race on the trot after claiming victory in the French MotoGP at Le Mans.

The 25-year-old Catalan rider extended his lead to 36 points at the top of the championship table as he chases a fifth world title.

"The race was tough because the pace of everyone was close. This victory is important," said the Honda rider, after Italians Danilo Petrucci and Valentino Rossi finished second and third.

Home favourite Johann Zarco slid out on lap seven after starting on pole, while Britain's Carl Crutchlow finished eighth after a crash in qualifying saw him hospitalised.

DEFENDING CHAMP: The Honda star claimed his third straight victory.

MERCEDES expect to trail behind Red Bull and Ferrari in this weekend's Monaco Grand Prix.

Defending Formula 1 champion Lewis Hamilton - who is currently 17 points ahead of his rivals - last season finished seventh at the iconic street circuit.

And the British driver stormed to victory in the Spanish Grand Prix at Barcelona in the last round.

But Mercedes team boss Toto Wolff said: "We don't head into the weekend as favourites."

"Red Bull are strong in the slow-speed corners and where straight-line speed is less important, while Ferrari dominated last year."

THE 2017-2018 Econ Winter Pool League presentation evening was held last Thursday with the winning team hosting the event at their home venue, the Alba Bar in Fuengirola. There were 10 teams in the league this year.

Team Alba got off to a strong start this season and pretty much held on to the top spot throughout, finally winning the league with 132 points. Dixies Bar managed a respectable second place, with 115 points and in third place came Seven Bar on 109 points.

Richie Hart from the Coast Bar won the league's individual tournament when he beat Darren Baker from Alba 4 frames to 2. The doubles tournament trophies went by default to Paul Dady and Alan Craine from team Cleopatra when team Alba's Tom Ferdinales' partner failed to show.

The top ranking player's knockout also went to Paul Dady from Cleopatra's Bar, beating Darren Baker 3 frames to 1. The overall top ranked player trophies went to three players this year, each on 15 points; Darren Baker from team Alba, Jose Serrato from Majesty and Paul Dady from Cleopatra's, each received a Peradon 3 sectional cue and case for their efforts.

The 8 Ball trophies went to Neil Fryer from team Alba in week two and Pat Collins from Mariners in week five. The Econ league's most elderly player trophy was won by Clayton Thomas from Mariners Old Codgers Team.

The 2017-2018 round up is Alba Bar owner, Don Crowley by winning both the league and the cup and has a bit of silverware to polish, as does individual Paul Dady from Cleopatra's.

Darren Baker from team Alba played well, winning trophies and coming a close second to quite a few others but he's really chuffed as he gets to take home the main prize, new wife Yoanna, who he married the following day.

Mike Brackenridge from Econ pool and snooker thanks everyone for their efforts.
